

Ragged Edges

BY SARAH MURRAY.

The main topic of discussion seems to center around the Inter-Fraternity Ball Friday night... fluttering around in formals will be such people as Jan Wilson with Bob Easter, Kay Bogan with Bob Keller, Paula Jones and Roy Ferris, Ginny Turner with Phi Psi prexy Al Busch, Marilyn Duffack with Sid Wells, and Hac Lilly with Phi Delt prexy, Tom McCarville. Justin Berger's wife is coming from Sioux Falls, S. D., and Dorothy Bennison's old steady, Gene Deeter, will get in on a navy leave in time to go. This night will see Jo Ann Guenzel and Chick Story back together again after a week-end of Jo dating Dave Speck.

Progressing.

Really making progress is the affair between Lila Latham and Hugh Atkinson... anyway, they had a blind date Friday and starting going steady Sunday... Even to make things more complicated, her ATO pin is on its way back to Jack Higgins.

Today marks the one week anniversary of Betty Halmes and Don Keiber's engagement... We hear Bud Robinson is making big plans for his date Saturday night with Phyllis Sorenson.

Candy.

Monday night candy passings had two for the Phi Gams when Tom Cornish led the brothers over Pi Phi way and Ellie Swanson; and Don Kleinschmidt followed by celebrating his pinning with Eloise Searight and Alpha Chi... Phi Psi's went over to the Pi Phi house again this time to help celebrate the candy passing of Coleman Furr and Jean Morse... not to forget the candy passings of Dot Gallaway and Bud Thompson, and Floy Eberle and John Walberg over Tri Delt way. Jean Jirton passed the candy Monday night to announce the addition of Don Steen's SAE pin beside her own DG anchor.

Betty King is now an engaged woman and is sporting a beautiful diamond from Jack Grainger... "Rings go on, and rings come off" and off comes Jean Wolcott's back to Nu Med prexy George Dingman.

Roger Stewart has gone back to navy duties with memories of dates with Mary Stuhl... and then there are Norm Locke and Georgie Wythers making big plans for his leave starting next week.

Students interested in photography are invited to attend the annual traveling salon of Popular Photography magazine in Miller & Paine auditorium March 4 to 15, according to Miller's advertising department.

The exhibit includes about 100 photographs, representing some of the finest examples of contemporary photography by professional cameramen and amateurs from all over the world.

A wide subject matter is included in the display, varying from quiet snow landscapes to roller-coaster motion and fast sports shots. Technical data describing the type of equipment and camera adjustment involved, is attached to each print.

Contrary to public opinion, Lou Houston is not the editor of the Nebraskan, it is an obscure shoe clerk named Ginsberg.

Chem School To Expand Study Course

Chemical engineering courses of study will be expanded considerably in the near future, according to Dr. C. S. Hamilton, chairman of the chemistry and chemical engineering departments.

He also announced the appointment of Dr. Harry T. Bates as assistant professor of chemical engineering. Formerly on the faculty of the Case School of Applied Sciences, Dr. Bates has served as consultant for eight commercial concerns as a chemical engineer.

Dr. Hamilton stated that students may now obtain a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from the university. This will be expanded to a point where students can take post-graduate courses leading to a doctor's degree.

New Building.

The chemical engineering department is to be housed in the new $200,000 wing to Avery Laboratory, which is now in the blue print stage. Completion of plans for the new addition and installation of equipment will be directed by Dr. Bates.

City YM, YW Join Tonight In Discussion

For the first time this year, the city campus YMCA and YWCA will have a joint meeting in the Temple building at 7:15 tonite.

Phil Frandson will direct a skit which will dramatize the Estes Park "Y" conference. Following the skit will be a report on Estes by Betty Lou Horton.

Plans for the Wayne conference are to be announced by District Representatives Mary Dye and Bob Kickenman. President Bill Miller will lead a discussion on joint YM and YW possibilities. This discussion will revolve mainly about projects which can be sponsored jointly by the two organizations.

All YWCA cabinet members are especially urged to attend this meeting which is hoped to be only the first in a number of such affairs, according to Lippitt.

In 1935, Dr. Bates took a master's degree at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and returned to Iowa State for his doctor's degree in 1941. Since then, he has taught at the Case school. He has written several articles on chemical engineering subjects.
