Rev. Miller Will Speak At Baccalaureate

Discussing the topic, "Creating Joy in a Jumbled World," Rev. Arthur L. Miller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will address baccalaureate services scheduled for Sunday, May 26, at 4:30 p. m. in the coliseum. The services opens university commencement activities.

Rev. Miller.

Past President of the Lincoln Ministerial association, Rev. Miller will address all candidates for degrees from the university. Six of the candidates will be for doctorates.

Rev. L. C. Bryant, pastor of the First Christian church, will be chaplain. Music for the services, over which Chancellor Boucher will preside, will be provided by the University Singers, directed by Prof. Arthur Westbrook. They will sing two Russian anthems "Agnus Dei" and "Salvation is Created." Professor Myron Roberts will preside at the organ.

Orchestra Ends Season With Concert

BY SAM WARREN.

Climaxing a year of musical activity, the University Orchestra presents its final concert Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Union ballroom. The orchestra will appear under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow and will be assisted by the University Singers.

Mr. Wishnow, who returned to the helm of the orchestra this semester after three army years, yesterday commended the orchestra members for giving him their "whole hearted response," since his return. He added that the orchestra was rapidly re-establishing its pre-war excellence. "Next year we are undertaking an ambitious program designed to revitalize the orchestra, making it a really well known organization." He indicated that more American music and a guest artist would be featured next season.

"New World."

Dvorak's Symphony in E minor, sub-titled "From the New World," will be the large work of the afternoon's concert. The symphony is the result of the Czech master's visit to the United States at the turn of the century. Much of it was written in Iowa, and the entire work was given its premiere by the New York Philharmonic under the composer's baton. The "Largo" movement has become one of the most familiar selections in musical literature.

The appearance of the University Singers promises to be a well-received portion of the concert. Ending a year of six musical presentations, the Singers will perform in men and women's sections for the first time, rather than together. Arthur Westbrook and David Foltz will direct.

Dr. Cherrington.

Degrees, Awards Address Highlight '46 Graduation

Awarding of two honorary degrees and the conferring of four distinguished service awards by Chancellor C. S. Boucher will highlight presentation of undergraduate and graduate degrees at commencement exercises, to be held Monday, May 27, at 10:00 a. m. in the coliseum.

A new honor known as the "Nebraska Builder," will be conferred upon the Nebraskan, who has contributed the most service to the state, according to Dr. R. J. Pool, master of ceremonies for the Commencement program.

Dr. Ben M. Cherrington, director of the social science foundation at the University of Denver, will speak at commencement exercises. A member of Nebraska's 1911 graduating class, Dr. Cherrington's topic will be "1911 Suggests Priorities to 1946." Dr. Cherrington and Dr. Ernst A. Bessey, 1896 graduate, will be awarded honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws.

Chaplain for the commencement exercises will be Rev. Paul Barnds, pastor of St. Matthews Episcopal church. The University band, under the direction of Don Lentz, will furnish the music.

Tassels will usher and distribute programs for each service.

'Nebraskan' Rates As First Class Paper in Contest

The Associated Collegiate Press rating for the first semester issues of The Daily Nebraskan was first class. The paper missed All-American by 45 points in the national judging contest for university papers.

Special commendations were given front page makeup, features and heads. Mention of the Christmas issue with the front page Petty girl also received praise.

Lutheran Picnic

All Lutheran students are invited to a picnic Friday afternoon at 5:30 p. m. After meeting at the Temple, picnickers will go to Pioneer park, according to Dorothy Wieland, LSA president, and Charles Goesch, Gamma Delta president, in charge of arrangements. Extra cars are needed.

Naval Reserve Air Station Forms Unit At Nebraska

Captain Mitchell D. Matthews, commanding officer of the university Navy ROTC unit, announced Friday that starting about July 1, the U. S. Naval Air Station at Olathe, Kas., will offer a comprehensive Naval Air Reserve Training program for the state of Nebraska.

The various phases of the program will include:

READY RESERVE—A program to maintain the proficiency and technical skill of personnel will be offered in the Ready Reserve. Units of the Ready Reserve will train on a regular schedule arranged to meet the convenience of most Ready Reserve personnel participating. The program is open to former pilots, combat aircrewmen and ground personnel. Pay for the Ready Reserve will amount to approximately two months pay each year. The Naval Air Station, Olathe, is receiving combat aircraft which will be used in the program and interested persons should contact the Reserve Training Officer there to place application.

STANDBY RESERVE—For those persons not readily qualified for the Ready Reserve, or who live at such remote distances as to make regular drill attendance impractical, the Standby Reserve is offered. Training will be performed on a voluntary basis and members of the Standby Reserve will not receive pay for their attendance. However, these members may be eligible for an active duty period each year, and they do enjoy complete benefits of the Naval Service when attending drills or participating in any activity of the Standby Reserve. The Standby is open to pilots, aircrewmen and to ground personnel.

STATION KEEPERS—Air Reserve Stations will be maintained by Station Keepers. Station keepers are volunteers, ordered to duty at their request, and the station complement will be composed almost wholly of this group. The outstanding feature of Station Keeping is that personnel will not be transferred to any other station except at their own request. Interested persons should apply to NAS, Olathe, and complete information will be forwarded. An excellent opportunity for former officer and enlisted personnel in this territory for full-time duty near their homes is available at NAS, Olathe.

INTERIM FLYING—To maintain pilot proficiency pending the start of Air Reserve Training, the Navy has authorized six pilot hours per pilot per month for May and June, 1946. All former pilots are eligible, including AP's and CAP's who have re-enlisted in V-6, Inactive Naval Reserve. Several interesting types of planes are being used, including F4U, F6F, TBM, SNJ and SNB.

'Daily' Reviews UN Activities

BY JEANNE KERRIGAN.

Now that the dazzling whirl of social and eager studying is almost over and the once green freshmen are becoming used to the varied, confusing number of activities on the campus, the Nebraskan presents its annual survey of headline events and news worth talking about.

With the September registration doubling that of 1944, freshmen, dutifully wearing their red and white beanies, attended their first convocation and rally. Two coeds, Leslie Glatfely and Joyce Crosbie, were announced as editors of the Nebraskan and Cornhusker respectively. A large turnout of football prospects greeted "Potsy" Clark as football drills opened.

Navy Thrills.

Quite an eye-fel on the campus were the 186 naval trainees when they invaded the campus for the first time. The old library was a scene of complete transformation as they moved in and made their headquarters there. Girls suddenly took an avid interest in the study of the old and ancient buildings. Yes, the fleet was in!

Following a hectic rush week, 309 girls proudly displayed various colored pledge ribbons which were battered and faded before the end of six weeks. The AUF set its goal at $3,000 and began preparations for soliciting and collecting the goal as the YM and YWCA both made plans for future parties, program and meetings. The winter concert list was given out including such widely known artists as Paul Robeson, Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, Jennie Tourel and William Primrose.

Awgwan Wit.

"Who threw the benzedrine in Mrs. Murphy's ovaltine?" screamed the energetic publicity agent for the Awgwan—only one of the numerous lines of supposedly supreme wit and humor contained in the first issue of that magazine. While Judge Mason was snipe huntin', Ray Badue and his orchestra played for a dance at the coliseum. Among other things, a Cornhusker receipt and five ident cards came wandering into the Rag office looking for their owners during the first month of school. Here's hoping they found them! Amid this commotion, William H. Hice joined the teaching staff of the journalism school.

Best Cornhusker.

Too many hard-driving Oklahoma backs operating from the T spelled a 20 to 0 defeat for Nebraska, as the Cornhuskers opened their '45 football campaign against the Sooners in a Big Six battle on September 29. The Cornhusker staff revealed bigger and better plans for the publication of the first peacetime yearbook in three years. The AUF drive failed as did the Huskers when the powerful Minnesota Gophers swamped them 61 to 7.

Ruth Korb began her official duties as Awgwan editor and after many false alarms threatened that the Awgwan would be distributed soon. Husker fans saw their team defeated again as Indiana's Hoosiers piled up 54 points to Nebraska's 14. Speech majors shouted for joy when Paul Bogen, former University Theater director, returned to the department after two and one-half years in the army.

Corn Cob Reunion.

Fred Hecox and Fred Teller were elected to rule the senior and junior classes as the new presidents. Wearing red sweaters, pep emblem on front and white "N" letters on the back, the two remaining actives of this year's pep organization began the recruit for Corn Cobs pledges. Freshmen coeds were given a chance to sign up for activities at the annual activities mart. Ray Clark, returned war correspondent, spoke at an all-student convocation. The naval trainees saw their commander, Capt. M. D. Matthews, presented with the Croix de Guerre after a Navy day parade.

"Blithe Spirit," the University Theater's first major production of the year, was previewed and pronounced a success by a select audience composed of faculty members and specially invited guests.

Adding greatly to the festivity of the annual Homecoming celebrations, Nebraska presented fans with 27 to 13 triumph over Kansas university. Stepping through a football on the coliseum stage, Jackie Tobin was presented and ruled as Homecoming Queen at the dance that evening. Alpha Xi Delta and Zeta Beta Tau captured first prize Homecoming cups for decorations. The Corn Cobs pledged 26 men.

Who's Who List.

When the list of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was published, 16 Nebraskans were included. Nebraska's football team chalked up another victory over Kansas State making the score 24 to 0. The Mortar Boards started searching desperately for six handsome, charming, talented, intelligent and unattached males to be presented at the Mortar Board ball under the title of Six Most
