

UN Team Readys Defense Tactics

Nebraska footballers ran thru a defensive drill Tuesday afternoon, as Coach Bernie Masterson gets in some last minute polishing before the Huskers en-train Thursday night for Minneapolis and their battle with Minnesota.

The first string was on the defensive while a white-shirted eleven ran through Minnesota plays, working from a single wing formation.

First String

Masterson had the regular first string working together. This outfit included Jack Hazen and Jack Pesek at the ends, Carl Samuelson and Vern Stiner at tackles, Fred Lorenz and Eddie Schwartzkopf at the guards, Joe Partington at center, Sam Vacanti at quarterback, Dick Hutton and Cletus Fischer at halfbacks and Tom Novak at fullback.

Injuries to a pair of the Cornhusker speed backs, Hutton and Bill Moomey, have cleared up so that both mailcarriers will be in trim for the battle with the Gophers.

A clipping from a Minneapolis paper is posted on the bulletin board in the varsity dressing room. The column contained thereon intimates that the Gophers would have done well to find a team better equipped to give them a stern opening game test than the Huskers will be able to do.

This clipping alone should take care of the matter of whipping the Nebraskans into a fighting mood for the game Saturday.

The Huskers line up this way, with 43 men listed as varsity performers:

- Left Ends—Hazen, Bunker, Mandula, Kirlin.
- Left Tackles—Samuelson, DiBianc, Tegt, Johnson.
- Left Guards—Lorenz, Deviney, Jacupke, Manning.
- Centers—Partington, Thomson, Taylor, Evans.
- Right Guards—Schwartzkopf, Wilkins, Lippe, Leik.
- Right Tackles—Stiner, Hall, Becker, Sed-lacek.
- Right Ends—Pesek, Nyden, Cochrane, Schleiger.
- Quarterbacks—Vacanti, Thompson, Me-theny.
- Left Halfbacks—Hutton, Long, Myers, Adams.
- Right Halfbacks—Fischer, Moomey, Rooney, Story.
- Fullbacks—Novak, Moore, France, Col-lopy.

117 Basketball Men Report For Workouts

Harry Good, U.N. cage coach, is grateful for the largest basketball turnout here in recent years, but the 117 candidates present a problem.

Getting the fellows in condition is his first job and the immediate shortage of basketball shoes is no help.

Two Teams.

Coach Good will have two teams a varsity and a junior varsity, each team carrying from 15 to 18 men. A freshman team will also be formed, but it's size is undetermined as yet.

At the end of three weeks conditioning program, a series of tests will be given to the candidates in order to give each individual a chance to show his best.

William Dayton "Tony" Sharpe, assistant coach, is expected to arrive in two weeks.

Attention N Men

All members of the N club who are registered in school age are asked to see Secretary Al Brown in the training room at the field house as soon as possible. The N club wishes to obtain a block of seats for football games and Brown desires a complete list of registered members.

Bobby Ginn showed the way on Tuesday afternoon as Coach Ed Weir gave his Nebraska two-mile squad a trial spin over a mile and a half route in preparation for the meet Saturday morning with Minnesota.

The little Madison ace toured the Memorial stadium cinder track six times in 7 minutes 31 seconds. This time is considered average for a two mile pace.

Coach Weir will announce the squad for the trip to Minneapolis later this week.

The intramural department issues an urgent plea for student referees to serve as officials for intramural touch football games which are scheduled to get under way later this week.

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

The Nebraska traveling party will not waste any time on the Minnesota trip. For the schedules call for the Huskers to leave Lincoln at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. They will arrive in Minneapolis at 8:45 Friday morning.

Friday afternoon will be spent at the Minnesota stadium for a limbering up drill is on tap at 2:30, with an early curfew Friday night.

After the game Saturday afternoon, the Nebraska aggregation will board a train at 8:45 and will arrive in Lincoln at 9:59 a. m. Sunday morning.

Ted O'Sullivan, Missouri referee, will be the most familiar striped shirt whistle-tooter on the gridiron this fall as far as Nebraska's footballers are concerned.

O'Sullivan will serve as referee for three Husker games, opening with the Minnesota tilt at Minneapolis Saturday. His other appearances will be in the Iowa-Nebraska clash at Iowa City on Oct. 12, and at the Kansas-Nebraska tilt at Lawrence a week later.

Four different refs will handle the Husker home games, with Bat Shunatona of Oklahoma leading off in the K-State game Oct. 5.

The Kansas State athletic fund received a boost last week when the Manhattan chamber of commerce handled admissions to a practice scrimmage between two squads of Wildcats gridders.

Gate receipts totaled $1,500, indicating that the Kansas fans are taking Coach Hobbs Adams' eleven seriously this year.

Incidentally, the Wildcats are the only Big Six team which has not been tabbed as a probable Big Six champion, in preseason forecasts.

A recent poll conducted by the University of Kansas showed that 28 out of 33 of the Missouri Valley's leading newspaper and radio sports experts picked Missouri as the favorite to cop the Big Six championship.

Oklahoma received four votes for first place and the remaining ballot for the preseason championship went to Nebraska. Gene Sullivan, sports editor of the St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press, cast his vote for Nebraska. "I pick Nebraska because they will carry a psychological edge. The whole state is behind the new coaching regime."

In the overall compilation of the results Missouri ranked first with 42 points, Oklahoma had 66, Kansas 114, Nebraska 120, Iowa State 158 and Kansas State 194.

Will Bo McMillin

SAVE THE DAY?

Though the victim of a stunning upset in its first game last Saturday, will Indiana still be the top team in the "conference?"

Win or lose, Bo won't have to worry about his job. For, at Indiana, he's something more than a football coach—he's an institution. Don't miss the fascinating story of this most colorful coach in today's Saturday Evening Post.
