

U N Crowded? Other Colleges Also Jammed

BY CUB CLEM.

So you think that U. N. is crowded, heh?? Well, you have Brothers in sorrow. All over the country, universities are filled to overflowing, and in some cases, as here in Lincoln, are overflowing.

Out beyond the Rockies on the balmy shores of the Pacific, the University of California reports 20,538 students, about twice the size of Nebraska. A tremendous majority of these are undergraduates, in fact 17,000 of them.

3,000 at Creighton.

Creighton University, 60 miles away, has registered over three thousand, their top enrollment since 1878. Seventy-five percent of the Creighton students are ex-GI's.

At Iowa State, the housing situation is going from bad to worse. Forty new trailers dotted the veteran settlement but brought little relief to the condition. Shipped from distant points, the trailers had been redecorated and repaired and were promptly occupied.

Disadvantages.

At the University of California at Los Angeles, enrollment totaled 13,721, a 98.5% increase over last year. There 67% are men, forcing them to operate at an even greater disadvantage than do the U. N. males.

If nothing else, the war has at least sharpened the young American's thirst for knowledge—or something.

Union, Variety Series to Feature 'Jane Eyre' Today

"Jane Eyre" starring Joan Fontaine and Orson Welles will be shown at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Union ballroom. This is part of the Variety series program and will be the second movie of the series this fall.

In the lounge, from 5 until 6, Peg Shelley will play requests on the piano for the Coffee Hour during which coffee and brownies will be served. Both events are offered free of charge by the Union for all university students.

By Jack Hill.

With at least a portion of the nation forgetting labor problems, meat shortages and international crises in favor of football over the week-end, the country's economic affairs become more and more critical.

Earlier in the week, President Truman stated that it was the cattle producers of the country who were "at least partly responsible" for the present meat shortage. Big time cattlemen jumped on this statement and took violent issue with the President. Said Sam McKelvie, president of the Sand Hills Cattle Association of Nebraska: "I do not anticipate much relief from the extreme shortage for the general public before the first of the year, nor will there be an adequate adjustment of the supply during the life of OPA."

International affairs remained in their own confusing state but Secretary James Byrnes seemed to be confident of his ability to ease the tense situation, according to sources close to him at the Paris conference. Byrnes is supposedly preparing a speech in answer to Marshal Stalin, Anthony Eden and the late secretary of commerce, Henry Wallace. It is said that this speech will clarify America's international position and announce changes in the country's foreign policy necessitated by recent developments.

Labor troubles in this country remained static with maritime leaders keeping silent on announced plans to demand further wage increases. Merchant seamen now appear to be on a teeter-totter with the A.F.L. going up first and the C.I.O. demanding equal status.

The A.F.L. ultimatum issued to authorities in Pittsburgh has not been complied with as yet. Latest reports say that the entire public utilities system in the steel town will eventually be crippled. Unless the government takes a direct hand, it appears obvious that labor will score another victory in its overall battle for a general increase in wages.

According to H. Allen Smith, the Algonquin Indian tribe invented succotash.

Union Director Reveals Food Service Plans

Plans for a new Sunday evening food service scheduled to open on October 6 are being formulated by the Union it was announced by Patricia A. Lahr, director.

Because none of the organized houses serve meals at this time, buffet suppers are tentatively arranged and will be served in the main dining room in the west wing from 5:30 until 7:00. Dinner music will be provided by a pianist.

A charge of 85 cents has been set for a menu which includes salads, hot vegetables, cold meats, rolls, relishes, a beverage and pie. The dining room will be open to all students, and no advance reservations are necessary. Continuing during the month of October, the plan, if successful, will be carried on throughout the year, according to Miss Lahr.

Bacteriologists Use Miniature Rabbits To Test Injections

The testing of solutions intended for injection into the veins of human patients has been greatly facilitated through the use of miniature rabbits, it was reported Friday by Dr. Carl E. Georgi, university bacteriologist.

The solutions, which contain penicillin and distilled water, must be tested to learn whether harmful impurities are present.

Miniature Rabbits Best.

Large rabbits use considerable amounts of solution, which complicates the testing process, said Dr. Georgi.

The miniature animals, which are bred from white New Zealand rabbits, occupy half the space usually required for such tests and acquire less of the solution for successful results.

The use of the smaller animals for testing was developed by the university's department of bacteriology in co-operation with a Lincoln pharmaceutical manufacturing firm.

The Delian Literary society is one of the oldest recognized organizations on the university campus.

Look!
Prof. Linus Smith, chairman of the architecture department, requests all university students living in organized houses, dormitories, and campus rooming houses to examine their rooms in the possibility of finding architectural equipment which has been loaned out in previous years. Professor Smith reports a capacity enrollment in the department which has created a serious shortage of drawing boards, equipment and materials.
The professor pointed out that the recovery of a single drawing board will enable a veteran to continue the course which he will otherwise be forced to drop.

Men interested in varsity tennis should report to Coach Rundle in the N club room of the Coliseum tomorrow at 5 p. m.

New Radio Shows Include Veterans' Views, Air Forum

Radio programs now originating from the university's speech department feature the Vet organization's "Veterans Views" over KFAB at 10:30 p. m. Saturday with an all veteran cast, and a Vet problem discussion by the Lancaster County Vet Center, directed by Hark Lee, vet publicity chairman.

Journalism and radio students will combine talents to present "The University Speaks" on KFOR at 4:15, Thursday. Additional radio shows are the "University Radio Workshop," Wednesday, WFOR at 4:15, "Better Business Bureau," Saturday, KFOR, at 11:30 a. m., and the "University Forum of the Air" on KFAB, 4 p. m. Thursday.
