

Veterans Sponsor Union Dance Friday

Tickets for the Vet-sponsored Eddy Haddad dance in the Union ballroom Friday evening are going rapidly, according to Tom Smiley, social chairman of the Veteran's Organization.

Any veteran who has not purchased his ticket may do so in the Union lobby today or at the door Friday night. The tickets are $1.50 per couple and $1.76 stag, tax included. The dance is open to families of veterans also.

Door prizes, which are dependent on ticket numbers, are to be given to men and women. The winners of the prizes will be announced at intermission.

The contract of Haddad's eleven piece band was signed in June to insure the availability of the orchestra. As a result the band comes to the Union from a record-breaking engagement at a summer resort, Lake Okoboji, Patricia A. Lahr, Union director, stated.

The music will begin at 9 p. m. Friday evening, and dancing will continue until midnight, with cokes for sale on the Union's third floor balcony.

Victory!

The victory bell will ring out tomorrow night at 7:15 when Huskers rally to cheer their team to victory over the Kansas State Wildcats.

The Nebraska pep band will lead the rally from the 16th and R assembly point in a victory parade to the Mall, where banners, speakers, songs, cheerleaders, yells and the pep band will revive Cornhusker tradition.

"There will be plenty of fireworks at Friday's rally," Cheerleader Doddie Easterbrook promised. "Everyone should be there."

Morrill Hall Offers Two Art Exhibitions

Morrill Hall is springing to life this fall with two art shows, both of great importance to the students of this campus. One is the faculty art show portraying Silk Screen Prints and the other is a group of paintings by Francis de Erdely, an artist of international repute.

With tremendous realism Mr. de Erdely has tried to capture the horror of Nazi cruelty by his superb paintings of refugees. In black and white colors, the figures depicted seem to cry out their suffering in resounding overtones that bounce off the surrounding walls like a series of distant echoes.

Background.

Most of these paintings have as their backgrounds, concentration camps. The distorted facial expressions with realistic eyes have a silent appeal that is especially noticeably in one picture titled

Joint YW, YM Drive Launched Today

The joint YMCA-YWCA membership drive begins today and will close on Oct. 11, according to Chairmen Ed Jordan and Mimi Ann Johnson.

These chairmen will explain the various aims, and objectives of the Y to their houses. Men students will be contacted thru the YM group working as a membership committee.

Opinions on the housing problem were given by panel members who were: Norman Thorp, assistant Extension Division Director, Marion Mitchell, ex-president of the Veteran's Organization, Lee Chatfield, Lincoln Businessmen's representative and Carl Booton, Vete Housing Chairman.

The program will be repeated, this time for transcription, at 3 p. m. Friday at KFAB, fourth floor, Stuart building. The program will then be broadcast over KFAB at 10:30 Saturday evening.

Prejudices which influence our religious beliefs, the increasing possibilities of unknown factors entering such problems were pointed out as pitfalls in the attempt to determine a preconception of religion.

Decision Needed.

However Gustavson stressed that the need of our time is for men and women who do have a definite idea of what they want people to be like. College students, he explained, will not regret accepting this challenge.

Chancellor Gustavson was introduced by Phil Fransson, president of the YMCA. Shirley Schnittker led the devotionals, and Helen Laird was in charge of the singing.

Duncan Increases Journalism Staff To Five Members

Charles T. Duncan has been appointed assistant professor of journalism, increasing the staff of that department to five.

A native of Minnesota, Duncan received both his B. A. and his M. A. degrees from the University of Minnesota in 1936 and 1946 respectively. He worked for the "Northfield News," "Alexandria Echo," "Redwood Sun" and "Minneapolis Tribune" newspapers in Minnesota. From 1940 until 1942 he was instructor at the University of Nevada, and for the past three years he has served as a photographic officer in the Navy.

"Devastation." In this scene the eyes of one old man seems to stare at the skies in quiet prayer. In a symbolic creation called "Acropolis" an attempt to contrast an ancient broken statue with decimated body of a Greek patriot is particularly effective.

Ingenious

Mr. De Erdely is not only ingenious in sadistic realms, but convinces us of his all around skill by creating a series of portraits illustrating various life vocations and positions of the human body. Such works as "Shipyard Worker" and "The Fisherman" are examples of this. A must in this group of paintings is one called "Autumn" which has a symbolic medium. A few fallen leaves next to a pair of worn out farm shoes are in the foreground, while a farming scene
