The AUF drive, which begins tomorrow, was introduced to the group's members at a Union meeting Friday.

Margaret Ice, winner of the Danforth Scholarship, represented the World Student Service Fund at the meeting. The WSSF is an American student and professor organization for participation in emergency relief and rehabilitation in Europe and Asia, according to Mary Claire Phillips, AUF director. Created in 1937, with the outbreak of war in China, it is sponsored by the student religious forces in the United States.

Chemists Hear Potter Speak On Cancer Aid

According to Dr. Van R. Potter of the University of Wisconsin Cancer Research Division, chemistry may make a major contribution to the solution of the mystery of cancer. He made the statement to members of the Nebraska Chemical Society Thursday night.

Dr. Potter said pathologists have made it possible to "recognize cancer cells by their microscopic appearance," thus setting the stage for the chemist to explain the difference between can-

Tutoring Aid Is Offered To Ex G-I's

Mathematics, always a bumpy road for students, is turning out to be an especially bad one for some World War II veterans attending the university this fall.

To help the ex-GI's over the bad spots the university Extension Division has established a mass tutoring system which is now being attended by over 300 veterans, and with quarterly exams coming up in a couple of weeks, university officials expect the enrollment to jump to 450.

Two Groups.

Easterner's Club Formulates Plans At First Meeting

The newly formed Easterner's Club held its first meeting Friday night in Parlor X of the Union. Eleven students and faculty members were present for the dinner at 6 p. m., with several others attending the business portion of the meeting.

The members present, who represented various sections of the eastern part of the country, decided on policies for the new organization. First, the term Easterner has been broadened to include all people who live on the land that lies to the east of the Mississippi river. All of the individuals who are now interested and eligible to join the organization may contact Arthur Cohen, the acting chairman.

Contacts will be made with the Nebraska alumni associations located in the east so that the club will be able to work hand in hand with these groups.

Scarlet Goal Bids Chilled by Iowans

BY BRUCE GREENBURG

IOWA CITY, Iowa. (Special to the Daily Nebraska). Bad breaks and a big University of Iowa line spelled defeat for the University of Nebraska as the Hawkeyes punched out a 21-7 victory before 30,500 fans in Iowa stadium, yesterday afternoon.

It was a game of fumbles, intercepted passes and fast moving plays that decided the outcome in favor of the home team. With Nebraska moving to the front with a touchdown in the opening quarter, the Iowans came back with two scores in the second period and clinched the game with another counter in the last period.

Farmers Ball Highlites Ag Activity Plan

Farmer's Formal is back again! This annual dance, highlight of agricultural college activities, will be held in Activities Hall on the Ag college campus from 9 to 12 Friday, under the auspices of the Ag executive board. Because of the manpower shortage during the war, the dance has not been held since 1942.

"All the traditions of the old Farmer's Formals will be revived," says Ned Raun, president of the Ag exec board, "including the one that invites students

Dell Bartells of the Hawkeyes fumbled on the Iowa 27 yard line and Jack Hazen recovered to set up the Nebraska score. Duck Hutton plunged 8 yards to the 19 and was followed by Tom Novak's two yard line smash for a first down on the 17. Hutton and Novak again hit for another first down on Iowa's 8. Cletus Fischer gained a yard and then Novak powerhoused his way to the one-foot-line.

Nebraska's backfield was in motion on the next play and the ball was moved back five yards from where Novak went off right guard to score with one and a half minutes left in the first quarter. Sam Vacanti's try for point was good and the Cornhuskers led 7 to 0.

Vets Administration Works Overtime On Pay Increase

To make every week day a pay day for some of the veterans now enrolled in Nebraska universities and colleges, the finance division of the Veterans Administration in Lincoln is making every week night a work-night.

T. M. Sorensen, VA regional finance officer, reported today that the names of some 4,300 student veterans have already been placed on the subsistence payroll since mid-September.

By keeping the aspirin handy and working 13 hours a day, the finance division is now hitting a stride of certifying almost 700 new student veterans a day. As each new list is completed, it is sent to the Kansas City office of the U. S. Treasury department where the checks are written and mailed.

More Jobs.

But seeing that student veterans get their pay is but one small part of the finance division's job. Not only does the division make up the payrolls for the college veterans—of which there are some 11,500 in Nebraska—but also for some 2,000 special students plus an additional 8,000 on-the-job trainees who get subsistence, plus more than 14,500 veterans of World wars I and II who receive disability pensions or compensation.

All in all, the regional finance office last month cleared 33,935 checks for payment—and that was before the full load of the new school term had been reached.

Veteran Help.

Sorensen says veterans themselves can help speed the issuance of checks. First, by not calling up to ask, "When will I get paid?" Second, by keeping the VA informed of changes in address.

"We certainly don't blame veterans for wanting to get their checks promptly," Sorensen said, "but it surely slows things down when we have to stop and hunt

SUBSISTENCE ALLOWANCE.

There has been some misunderstanding as to how much subsistence allowance will be paid to veterans under the G. I. Bill who are also earning money by reason of employment. Public Law 679 amends the G. I. Bill so that no veteran "on-the-job" training or institutional (University) training can receive more than $110 per month from outside employment without experiencing a proportional cut in subsistence allowance. This means that a student at the university who receives $111 per month from outside employment will have one dollar deducted from his subsistence allowance; a student receiving $112 per month would have two dollars deducted from his subsistence allowance, and so on.

When a student without dependencies receives $175 or more per month from outside employment he will then receive no subsistence allowance from the Veterans Administration. In like manner a student who has dependents and who receives $200 or more per month from outside employment will receive no subsistence allowance from the Veterans Administration. Of course, any student who receives $110 or less per month will receive his full subsistence.

If at any time during the semester a veteran's remuneration from employment changes so that he receives more than $110 per month where he was not receiving that much previously, he is required to report this change to the Veterans Administration. Conversely, if his remuneration from employment drops below $110 per month, he should likewise report to the Veterans Administration.
