New League Begins IM Pigskin Play

A new independent league will be inaugurated into intra-mural touch football play Monday. The league is composed of 7 teams which were not fully organized at the start of regular league play. To accommodate the new league, the schedule has had to be extended about two weeks. Part of the new schedule is printed in today's paper. The new teams include: YMCA, Presbyterian House, Ag Freshmen, Veteran's Organization, Delta Sigma Pi, Lilies and the V-9's. All teams are unknown quantities as yet. The Veteran's Organization, for one, has had a hard time collecting a team, but should be ready to go Monday afternoon when they open play against the Lilies.

Golf Tryouts Slated Today By Williamson

A trial golf tournament will be held today at the Pioneer course beginning at 9 a. m. Matches today are open to all Cornhusker golf aspirants according to coach Bud Williamson. From the trials today, coach Williamson will select a ten-man team on a basis of medal play. Team To Play This team will be matched against teams from the Lincoln country club, Hillcrest and Pioneer clubs this fall. It will be a good chance to warm up for the intramural golf tourney which is scheduled for Sunday, October 20. Golfers who cannot participate in the Sunday trials should get in touch with coach Williamson at the Lincoln country club. Last year's intramural golf championship went to Don Spomer with a low score of 75. The team championship was won by Phi Gamma Delta with Phi Delta Theta coming in second.

"Most of the veterans sort of apologize in asking for this help," says Stanley R. Barnett, in charge of the refresher class, "but we take a different attitude. It's perfectly natural that many of these men should have forgotten details of math while in the service. What pleases us most is that all of them are interested and anxious to learn. Most of the students come from the colleges of Engineering and Business Administration which require math courses.
