Juniors Choose Class President Thursday

The second election for junior class president has been set for Thursday, Helen Laird, election chairman, announced. The polls will be open from 9 until 6 in the Union basement, and all juniors who registered at the Union last week are eligible to vote.

First Election.

The first election was declared invalid, not only because of a discrepancy between the number of votes cast and the number of voters registered, but also because of a large number of students whose voting eligibility had not been determined. During the past week the elections committee has spent long hours checking the number of credit hours earned by numerous students in law, dentistry, and engineering to ascertain which of these are of junior standing; these additional juniors will be eligible to vote at this week's election.

The election on ag campus was declared to be valid, and the votes from ag will be counted with this week's election on city campus. The only ag students who will have to cast their ballots for a second time are those who voted in the city campus election.

The student council election committee will supervise Thursday's election, and the judiciary committee will count the votes. The candidates for junior class presidency are Jackie Tobin, Dale Novotny, and Darrell Devoe.

New Student Parking Lots Announced

L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent of the university, announced late Monday establishment of four new parking areas for students which will accommodate a combined total of 280 cars.

The areas:

On Tenth street (west side) between T and U streets. This area will accommodate about 125 cars and can be entered from the middle of the block.

On T street, between 14 and 15th streets. This area is comprised of two vacant lots and will accommodate 35 cars.

On 14th streets, just north and behind the new armory building being constructed adjacent to the Coliseum. This area will hold about 90 cars.

On Vine street at 15th street, just east and north of the Bancroft school building. These vacant lots will hold about 30 cars.

These parking lots will be available to students at all times, seven days a week except the lot on Tenth street opposite the stadium which is an official parking area on days when Nebraska plays games at home.

All the areas are to be cindered in the near future, Mr. Seaton said. He urged students to park their vehicles as efficiently as possible in order that lots may be used to their maximum accommodation. He added that these additional parking areas should enable many students to park closer to the campus and eliminate the necessity of double parking on the coliseum mall which is considered as a traffic hazard.

Director Raps Dilatory Tactics Of 18 Year Olds

Reports received from a number of counties in the state indicate that many men students who have reached the age of 18 are negligent and dilatory in reporting to the Selective Service System for registration, according to Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, state director for Nebraska.

Failure to register within five days after arriving at the age of 18 years is a violation of the act which provides severe penalties, both fine and imprisonment. General Henninger cautions prospective registrants that carelessness and ignorance of the law are no excuse. Delays in registration have a tendency to disrupt the preparation of records in the local board offices.
