

Oldest Organization, Palladian Society, Observes Anniversary

EUGENE BERMAN.
The oldest organization on the University campus, the Palladian Literary Society, is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. Organized in 1871, it was the first social group on the campus.
The society began as a women's organization, but today it is co-educational. Palladian Hall, the meeting place of the group, located on the third floor of the Temple, was obtained as a result of a gift by the society towards the construction of the Temple. Palladians have remembered their college group after graduation and have started numerous alumni organizations throughout the state. Alumni in Lincoln call themselves the Links.
26 Members.
Palladian members are selected from unaffiliated students and are asked to join by secret ballot of the active members. At present the membership numbers 26, with this year's pledges still to be named. Being both a literary and a social club, the society prides itself on their scholastic requirement of 80.
There are two meetings a week. The first is a business meeting held on Monday evening. The second, the social meeting, is held every Friday night. The activities of the organization are varied. Occasional debates are held, discussions on current questions are encouraged, and dances and parties are sponsored. A debate is scheduled for October 25, while a "secret desire" Hallowe'en party is to be held on the 18th of October.

Contest Held.
One of the big events in the year is the contest held for Palladian members dealing with oration, poems, essays, and short stories. Prizes are given for the best entry in each field, but competition is limited to members.
The anniversary is going to be celebrated this year on November 1 and 2. The first day will be devoted to an alumni banquet, with many former members expected to return for the occasion. On the second day the Palladian Hall will be open for public inspection. The highlight of the banquet will be the formal announcement of the $10,000 Samuel Avery Lectureship which will provide for the bringing of at least one nationally known authority to the campus as a convocation speaker each year. It should be noted that Chancellor Avery, after whom this lectureship is named, was a Palladian member.
President Mildred Brewer and Vice-president Don Kroger, as well as the rest of the officers, are looking forward to making this one of the most impressive years for this historical society.

Jones, Johnsons Confuse School Records, Officials

University officials are having trouble keeping up with the Joneses and Johnsons this fall. In this year of record breaking enrollments, there are six men named Robert Jones at the University, and to make matters worse there are eight Robert Johnsons, four Ralph Johnsons, one Maurice Johnson and one Miss Maureen Johnson.
The Robert Johnsons are: Robert A., Robert D., Robert H., Robert L., Robert T., Robert W., and Robert W. The Ralph Johnsons are Ralph C., Ralph D., Ralph K., and Ralph M.
The "Jones boys" are Robert D., Robert K., Robert K., Robert L., Robert L., and Robert V.
It all certainly goes to make a confusing situation in University affairs and in social contacts.

Pat Jensen Named New Society Editor

Patty Jensen has been named Daily Nebraskan society editor, according to Prof. F. E. Blood, Publications Board chairman.
Miss Jensen, a reporter for two semesters on The Nebraskan, fills the vacancy left by Jan Soulek, former society editor, who did not return to school this fall.

Newmans Sponsor Masquerade Party

The Newman Club, organization of Catholic students on the campus, will sponsor a masquerade party Friday evening at 8 p. m. in the CYO hall, 18th and J streets, for members and their friends.
Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Freshman Newman Club members are in charge of the party. Admission price will be 25 cents.

Allen Addresses Meeting of Crete Woman's Club

"Art in Our Schools" was the topic Mrs. Clara Marie Allen, art instructor in the School of Fine Arts, spoke on before the Crete Nebraska Womans Club last Friday afternoon, October 11. The program, given in the Crete City Hall, was illustrated with examples of drawings by children.
Paintings by Mrs. Allen and Mr. Murray Turnbull, members of the art faculty, were recently accepted for an exhibition of the Forty-fourth Annual Exhibition of the Philadelphia Water Color Society. The exhibition, of national scope, will open October 19 and continue to November 24, in Philadelphia.

No Game Tickets

No more tickets for the Kansas-Nebraska game Saturday are available at the coliseum, according to Dodie Easterbrook, chairman of the Student Council Migration Committee. Train tickets, however, are being sold at the ticket window in the coliseum until Friday noon.
Those who have not yet purchased game tickets may be reasonably sure of getting tickets when the migration train reaches Lawrence, Kansas, as they will be on sale before game time, Miss Easterbrook stated.

Union Bridge Class Divides Into Two Sections Thursday

The weekly Union bridge class will be divided into two sessions to be held at 4 and 5 Thursday afternoon in Room 315.
Two classes are necessary, according to Instructor Dale Ball, because of the large number attending last week's first class. Students interested in learning contract bridge are invited to attend one of the two classes Thursday.
Friday's Union dance will feature the orchestra of Johnny Cox, Union director Pat Lahr announced.

Ag Club Elects Diedrickson New President

George Deidrickson was elected president of the Ag Men's Social Club at the organization's meeting last Monday evening.
Ivan Libegren was chosen vice president; Bob Perry became the new secretary-treasurer and Don Jensen and John Davis were named sports chairmen. Stan Bachman took over the social chairman's position, and Ed Klanecky is the new publicity chairman.
All Ag college students are eligible to join the club. The next meeting, will be held Monday the 21st at 7:30 p. m. in room 305, Agriculture Hall.

WAA Swimming Tryouts Scheduled

All girls who are interested in swimming are eligible to try out for W. A. A. swimming club, according to Jeanne Branch, president of the club. Tryouts will be Thursday, October 17, or Thursday, October 24.
Work will begin immediately on the swimming pageant which will be given in the spring. Other special events which the Aquettes sponsor are the telegraphic meet with other schools and W. A. A. swimming intramurals.
Don't forget to have a swimming permit, a swimming cap, goggles, ten cents for rental of a suit and be ready to enter the pool at 7:30 p. m., cautioned Miss Branch.

AUF Director Reveals Total Of Collections

The AUF drive reached mid-week with donations totaling $150 according to Mary Claire Phillips.
The All University Fund consolidates other campus drives into one a semester and asks a contribution of $2 from each student. However, any amount will be appreciated, Miss Phillips added. Contributions are being taken in sorority fraternity and other organized houses, and unaffiliated students may donate at the AUF Union booth.
AUF staff members are: head solicitor, Harriet Quinn; clerical, Jean Chilquist; publicity chairman, Phee Mortlock; and treasurer, Beth Norenberg. Board members are Shirley Jenkins, Evelyn Lashinsky, Margaret Hall and Martin Pesek. The drive will continue through the week.
