

Pheasants Lure Men from Gals As Hunt Begins

There is not a person on this whole campus who doesn't know what happened last Friday, but there are a lot who wish it hadn't. Right here is where the fellows can stop—they aren't among us, the forgotten element, the deserted dozens, the women of the university—they needn't waste anymore of their time reading our lamentations. They had better go pheasant hunting again.

For the first time since school opened in September, the ratio has changed from three men to every woman, to three men to every pheasant. Far be it from us to complain, all we will say on the subject is, "We certainly hope the pheasants enjoyed their week end."

Besides, the hunting at the University of Kansas wasn't too bad.

kick after Dick Thompson had fumbled the pass from center. In the third quarter the Jayhawks scored when French popped up between two Nebraska secondaries to grab Evans' 12 yard pass in the end zone with seven minutes gone.

Fambrough added the extra point to send the Red and Blue team out in front.

Pattee recovered Tom Novak's fumble on the Nebraska 29 to set up the pins for the touchdown.

The Huskers roared right back to march down the field to score five minutes later, Bill Moomey crossing the goal from 43 yards out.

It was one of Nebraska's pet plays, naked reverse, which produced the score, for Moomey was all by himself as he managed to outlast Ray Evans in a race for coffin-corner. This time Vacanti's kick was perfect.

Another fumble brought about the score Bob Schleiger picked off a loose ball after Bud French had fumbled Jack Pesek's punt on the 31 yard line.

Just two minutes later Nebraska added the margin that clinched the victory and again it was a Jayhawk fumble that gave the white clad Huskers their chance.

Eddie Schwartzkopf recovered French's fumble on the Kansas 23 after Novak and Vacanti had moved the pigskin to the 17 and three more running plays succeeded in moving the ball to the five. Vacanti dropped back on the fourth down and split the up-rights for the three pointer which kept Nebraska in the ranks of the unbeaten in Big Six competition.

The final Kansas tally came with six minutes gone in the last quarter when end Otto Schnellbacher got behind the Nebraska defenders to haul in Evans' pass all by himself in the end zone Riflin' Ray fired the ball from the 27 yard line. Once more Fambrough, who has not missed a conversion all season, was good for the extra point.

Nebraska threatened again late in the game after the Jayhawks elected to run on a fourth down play. Jack Pesek smothered Frank Pattee for an 11 yard loss and the Huskers took over on the Jayhawk 30 but could not cash in on the opportunity.

Evans was top for the Kansans with his passing and running plus some fine work at the safety position on defense as he stopped several UN runners who appeared to be on the touchdown trail.

For the Huskers the line smashing of Fullback Tom Novak, the great defense work of the line, and heads-up play by the rest of the backfield gave several thousand Nebraska fans who were present for the game plenty to cheer about.

The Huskers gained 326 yards by rushing as compared to 134 for Kansas and piled up nine first downs to six for the Jayhawks.

Nebraska's pass defense allowed the Kansans to complete five of 13 tosses while Sam Vacanti and Dick Thompson were connecting on seven of 16 efforts.

Each club fumbled four times but Nebraska recovered three of the Kansas bobbles and converted them into scores.
