

Publication Heads Attend Chi Convo

Representing Nebraska at the 22nd convention of the Associated Collegiate Press in Chicago, Oct. 24-26 will be the business managers and editors of the three campus publications, the Awgwan, Daily Nebraskan and Cornhusker.

Yearbook business manager, Dean Skokan, editor Merrell Shutt Grant, the Daily Nebraskan business manager, Jim VanLandingham, and Phyllis Teagarden, editor, and the Awgwan's business manager, Dina Buckingham, and managing editor Walt Simon, will make the trip.

Top journalists throught the country will be featured as guest speakers during the convention. Pulitzer prize winner, Howard Blakeslee, will be one of the prize lecturers. Mr. Blakeslee, just back from the Bikini atomic tests, is the Associated Press science editor and was also given the George Westinghouse award for scientific writing.

The name of Dr. C. D. MacDougall, also a speaker, should be familiar to every journalism student, as he has authored numerous textbooks. He is a Chicago Sun editorial writer and professor of journalism at Medill School, Northwestern University.

Seaton Tells Construction Expenditures

The four construction projects now underway on the campus involve a total expenditure of $1,485,000 according to L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent, who has reported their progress.

The armory, which will cost $250,000, is about 30 percent complete and will be finished in February or March. The cost of this building is being paid by state funds as are the costs of the classroom building and the chemical engineering annex.

The three story classroom building south of Bessey hall will cost about $550,000. This building, the basement of which is being poured now, will be about the same size as Andrews hall, with the exception of a small L facing 12th street. The building work is being delayed waiting the arrival of steel girders but it may be done in June.

Engineering Annex.

The foundation work is now being done on the Chemical Engineering annex to Avery laboratory of chemistry, and the building.

Juniors May File For Ag College Board Vacancies

Three openings for juniors in the Coll-Agri-Fun Board have been announced, and applications are now being received by Miss Wheeler in room 202 of Ag Hall. The vacancies will be filled by two women and one man.

The main function of the Coll-Agri-Fun Board is to sponsor an "Coll-Agri-Fun," a variety show of skits and curtain acts presented by individual student groups, campus organizations and organized houses of the ag college.

Prizes are awarded the best acts and skits. Groups are urged by the board to start formulating plans now for this year's show.

Present senior members of the board are Dale Landgren, Eleanor Johnson and Ronald Anderson.

Counselors Will Sponsor Style Show, Dinner

Coed Counselors will culminate their fall activities with a dinner and style show for freshman women and counselors at 6 p. m. today in the Union ballroom.

Mrs. Christiansen and Miss Mielenz, Counselor advisors, Miss Johnson, dean of women and Miss Piper, Counselor sponsor, will be guests of the organization for the dinner.

Style Previews.

Fall styles will be modeled by co-eds after the dinner, which is held annually and has become a tradition at the university. All freshman women are invited, according to President Martheila Holcomb.

Girls participating in the style show are: Esther Byron, Marion Bahler, Joan Lewis, Jean Ann McLaughlin, Bernie E. Brown, Ruth Byers, Barbara Waldron, Beverly Lytle, Joan Swan, Joan Butler, Barbara Bush, Helen Rodin, Ann TauVelle, Dorothy Kalbo, Janice Cochran, Carol Higgins, Mershon Smith, Laverna Acker, Juanita Ann Hauger, Twyla Burgess, Shirlee Stanton, Carla Renner, Norma Burda, Louise Zurovski, Joan Landwehrkamp.

Tickets will be sold until noon today at Miss Piper's office in Ellen Smith and are 60 cents each.

VESPER CHOIR.

The all-campus vesper services held every Thursday at 5 p. m. in room 315 of the Union need recruits for the Vesper Choir.

This year the choir will be a mixed choir under the direction of Ray Schaumberg and Jo Fankhauser, who stated that any fellows or girls who like to sing are especially invited to come to room 315 at 4:30 p. m. Thursday.

Military Ball Set For December 6

The Reserve Officer Training Corps Military Ball has been scheduled for Friday, Dec. 6, reviving a tradition on the university campus, according to Cadet Captain W. M. Hammond, chairman of the publicity committee for the ball.

Inactive since 1942 because of the liquidation of the ROTC unit during the war, the Military Ball is scheduled to return in full trappings. The only change is in a decision on the part of the staff to classify the Ball as semi-formal and not require men to come in formal dress.

Committees.

Committees have been formed under the guidance of Maj. R. P. Brust, commanding officer of the unit, and Cadet Lt. Col. Henry See MILITARY, page 2.

Vet's Forum Will Discuss Closed Shop

The Closed Shop Amendment will be the subject for discussion at the Veterans' View broadcast tonight at 7:15 in room 316 of the Union.

Four panel members will talk on this question of non-union members being barred from working in industry. They are Richard Sinsel, a student of Engineers college; Don Morrow, chairman of the Demo-Vets Organization; Joseph Ginsberg, a Lincoln attorney; and Robert K. Garrity, representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of the A.F. of L.

Audience participation and discussion on the subject will be handled through portable microphones after the forum.

Who's Yer Hoosier?

Before Nebraska can play the Indiana Hoosiers Saturday, somebody must answer the question, "Who's Yer Hoosier?"

All campus geniuses can prove their worth by answering this question at the Indiana game rally, being held on the lot east of the Union, Thursday at 7 p. m. "Every organized house will bring their ideas on 'Who's Yer Hoosier?' to this rally for judging," said Art Biendorf yell king.

A trophy will be awarded to the house with the most original answer. Since nobody wants to decide what a Hoosier is, a final judging committee will be announced later.

Graduate Students Schedule Meeting

Graduate students of Ag college will have a get-acquainted meeting in room 106 of the plant industry building Thursday at 7 p. m.

Husband and wives of married students have been invited to attend, according to Dave Sander and Mary Rose Gram, co-chairman of the get-together.

Activity Board Plans Renewal Of Old System

BY JACK HILL.

The Men's Activity Point Board held a reorganization meeting in the Union in an attempt to place the point system for men's activities on a working basis. Formed in 1937, it has been the Board's purpose to regulate activities in a manner making possible the highest number of activity men and preventing any individual from overburdening himself.

The meeting was called by Bill Thornberg, president of Innocents who is traditional chairman of the group. According to the constitution, the board consists of the president of Innocents, Thornberg; the president of the Student Council, Bob Cooney; the president of Corn Cobs, Don Kline; the president of interfraternity council, Dick Folda; the president of Kosmet Klub, John Dale; the senior member of Ag Executive Board, Bob Osler; the business manager of the Daily Nebraskan, Jim Van Landingham; a representative of the Barb union or a similar unaffiliated group and two faculty advisors.

Dean Harper Present.

Kline was the only member of the board not present yesterday, while a Barb representative has not been named. Dean Harper, assistant dean of student affairs was present.

Booming Boogie Woogie Beats Are Balm to Busy Students

BY DON AMSDEN.

Today I found the source of that booming "boggie-woogie" that's disturbed my noon-hour nap in the Union lounge lately.

It comes from the center of that cluster of students that I thought was only a die-hard crowd of disgruntled Boston fans left over from the world series broadcasts.

At the hub of this admiring throng, I found a pleasant dark-haired girl answering requests for everything from Gershwin to Slim Gaillard's Cement Mixer on the keyboard of the Union's newest addition—a Hammond electric organ.

No Organ!

A new electric organ, I thought—this is even enough to create a stir in the bottom of a cup of Corn Crib coffee! So I forced my way into the domain of Union Director Patricia Lahr to get the story. Trapped in her one-way office, Miss Lahr revealed that the organ had been ordered by the Union last May and still arrived three months before she expected it. Money for the purchase was provided from the Union administrative budget for 1946-47, she Temporarily, a request program has been established on Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:15-12:45 noon. During this half-hour, Bonnie Compton will play popular requests in the main lounge. Later, programs of more serious music will be offered once a month. During the second semester, the organ will provide a tear-jerking accompaniment for the Flicker Shows, a monthly program of old-time movies.

The Hammond will stay in the lounge temporarily, Miss Lahr explained, until a platform can be completed to facilitate its movement to various rooms in the Union.
