total gain of 68 yards as compared to 397 for the Hoosiers.

Jack Pesek was a bearcat on defense at his end post, and handled the punting duties efficiently. Gene Wilkins was another Husker lineman who did yeoman duty in slowing down the Pihos power plays and the nimble cutbacks of Bob Cowan and Jim Dewar.

Indiana completed 15 of 26 passes for a gain of 209 yards as they came through with their third victory of the season. Lineup: (Use Journal lineup)

Nubbins Deadlocked By Kansas State B

MANHATTAN, Kas. (Special)

The University of Nebraska's B team hopes for a perfect season received a stiff jolt Friday night when the Kansas State Wildcats held them to a 14-14 tie at Manhattan. The game was a return engagement between the two teams and attracted a crowd of 2,500 fans.

It was the stellar play of Jim Stehley and Del Ehret, who again proved to be the thorns in the side of the Huskers, that brought about the tie.

In an otherwise listless and loosely played game, the two hard-running K State backs continually kept the Huskers in hot water, and it was only on the strength of a second period safety that Nebraska was able to salvage a tie.

Wildcats Score First

Stehley opened the scoring in the second quarter after a long pass had put the Wildcats in Nebraska territory. Ehret, who kicked both extra points in the first game, booted his third extra point try against the Nubbins.

Nebraska roared back in the second quarter when Bob Schneider, Nebraska City end, intercepted a pass and rambled 30 yards to paydirt. The try for the tying point was no good.

Nebraska managed to leave the field at half-time with an 8-7 lead thanks to some alert playing by Keith Manning, Jim McWilliams and Jack Evans. These three smothered Wildcat Bill Stewart in his end zone as he tried to run the ball out of danger.

The Nubbins jumped to a 14-7 lead in the third quarter when Bob Ackerman, outstanding freshman halfback, scored from ten yards out. Again the try for extra point was not good.

Poor Defense

Poor pass defense cost the Nebraskan's a chance for victory. In the final period another long pass put the home team deep in their opponents territory and Stehley again punched over six points. Ehret calmly put the ball between the uprights for the tying point.

Faulty ball handling by the Wildcats contributed greatly to the Nubbins' cause, while Nebraska's T-formation lacked the smooth co-ordination that has been apparent in earlier games. Lineups:

amount of grief which pre-game dope had predicted they possessed. Pistol Pete Pihos, reportedly hobbled with injuries, turned in a great performance as he ripped through the Husker line, halted Scarlet ball carriers and even tossed a few passes.

Time and again the Nebraska speed boys, Dick Hutton, Bill Mooney and Jim Myers, tried to skirt the Indiana ends, reportedly week in earlier tilts. But something had happened. Lou Mihajlovich, Abe Addams, Frank Hoppe and Bill Mitchell, the Hoosier ends, were not to be turned and usually the Husker ball carriers ended their jaunt by being pushed out of bounds.

Nebraska was unable to make much progress through the tough Indiana line and as a result the Husker offense suffered.

The initial period was scoreless, although the visitors threatened several times. Near the close of the quarter Nebraska took the ball on downs on the six yard line after a Raimondi pass was incomplete and a Hoosier threat ended.

A 70-yard scoring drive netted the Big Nine outfit its first touchdown. Beginning on their own 30 after a Husker drive had stalled, Raimondi passed and Groomes and Grossman ran to bring the ball to the Nebraska 22. At this point Raimondi whipped a pass to his favorite target, End Lou Mihajlovich, who took the ball for a tally. Charley Armstrong was successful on his place kick for the extra point and Indiana led 7-0 with six minutes gone in the second quarter.

Three minutes later the Hoosiers brought forth one of McMillin's prize maneuvers. Bob Cowan took a direct pass from center, handed the ball to Dewar who had faded back from a position with his back to the line, and then Dewar flipped a lateral to Raimondi who was running wide. Benny got and hit Fullback Pete Pihos with a perfect pass as the hulking Hoosier stood unnoticed near the east sideline. Pihos ambled across without being bothered to culminate a play which covered 40 yards.

Once again Armstrong was on the beam with his attempt for the extra point and the teams left the field at half-time with Indiana holding a 14 point advantage.

Metheny Alert

Quarterback Fred Metheny set up the lone Scarlet score by recovering Mihajlovich's fumble on the Indiana 17 yard line. Hutton and Novak brought the ball to the 10 and Novak rammed to the 7 for a first down.

Two more Novak plunges netted a yard and Masterson sent Vacanti and Nyden into the lineup. On the first play following their presence on the field, the pair collaborated for the score.

For the rest of the third quarter the Hoosiers seemed content to stay on the ground, but just as soon as the fourth stanza began Raimondi unlimbered his passing arm and the Bloomington bunch began to move.

The Hoosiers moved steadily down the gridiron from their own 35 where Roy Long's punt had gone out of bounds.

A screen pass from Raimondi to Dick Deranek who stood behind a shield of blockers produced the tally as the Hoosier halfback romped over the goal without being touched by a Nebraska man. Four blockers moved ahead of the ball carrier and quickly erased the only Husker who challenged his progress.

This time Armstrong's kick was partially blocked and did not reach the uprights.

Mel Groomes showed why he was the best defensive back in the Big Nine last year as he intercepted a Vacanti pass on the Nebraska 40 and returned the ball to the 17, where Vacanti knocked him out of bounds.

Final Counter

It took just two plays to produce a counter, Raimondi passing to Deranek on the 10 and Dick grinding over the double stripe. Again Armstrong added the extra point.

The Indiana line played magnificent ball, limiting the usually potent Nebraska ground game to a gain of 61 yards. Passes were good for only 7 yards, the Scarlet finishing the afternoon with a
