

Plans Announced For Homecoming

Homecoming activities this weekend all point toward a homecoming unparalleled in the 77 year history of the university. Every organized house on the campus has entered the Innocent-sponsored house decoration competition. Co-chairmen Joy Hill and Don Klitne report general campus enthusiasm to be at a peak, and Coach Bernie Masterson and his Cornhuskers are said to be facing Saturday's game with confidence.

Placing events in their chronological order, the first official act will be voting for Pep Queen on Friday morning in the Union form 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Friday night at 7:00 the Homecoming rally will start, under the direction of Yell King Art Beindorff and the cheerleading squad. Beindorff says a featured attraction will be the burning of the Missouri Tiger after a torchlight parade and bon-fire.

Parade at 10:30

At 10:30 a. m., Saturday, the many entries in the Homecoming parade will meet at the Quadrangle behind the Tassel float which is slated to lead the procession. The Tassel-Corn Cob committee in charge of the parade, has announced the official starting time as 11:00 a. m., a change from the previously announced time of 10:30. Marching down R street, the university band will take the procession to 10th street, turning east on O street to 16th and then back to the Union, along 16th.

Following the parade, the traditional tug of war to decide whether freshmen must wear their beanies, will be held between freshmen and upperclassmen at the Quadrangle. Miss Hill and Klein again emphasized the change in time, moving the tug of war back one half hour to 10:00 a. m.

Colorful Game.

Then, in all the colorful pageantry of a Big Six Homecoming, the university will meet the University of Missouri at 2:00 p. m. in what has been billed as the outstanding football game scheduled in the conference this week.

Between halves of the game, and highlighted by Nebraska's nationally famous marching band, Jackie Tobin, 1945-46 pep queen

See HOME COMING, page 2.

Dr. Lindstrom Will Address Ag Convocation

Dr. David E. Lindstrom, professor of rural sociology at the University of Illinois, will be guest speaker at a convocation November 12 in the College Activities Building, highlighting Religion in Life Week on the ag campus.

Beginning at 4 p. m. and lasting until 8 p. m., the convocation will include, besides the address by Dr. Lindstrom, recreation, supper, and an evening program sponsored by YM-YW. According to Francis Wagner, chairman of the Ag Religious Council publicity committee, everyone is invited to attend the convocation, and a special invitation is extended to veterans and their wives.

Ag Graduate

Dr. Lindstrom will speak on "Opportunities for Christian Service in Rural Areas," and "The Rural Church in a Christian Nation."

A native Nebraskan, Dr. Lindstrom received his Bachelors degree from the university college of agriculture. He received his Masters degree from the University of Wisconsin, and his Doctors from the University of Illinois. He has written several books and has served as president of the Illinois Church Council; chairman of the conference between theologians of agriculture; chairman of Illinois Community Relations committee, and secretary of Illinois Rural Life Conference.

Prospective UN Queens Announced

Names of candidates entering the Cornhusker beauty queen contest for preliminary judging trials in the Union lounge at 12:45 today have been announced by Joan Frankhauser, managing editor of the yearbook.

Girls selected to enter the contest and the organization each represents are: Alpha Chi Omega, Joyce Stuve, Marilyn Denison, Betty Chipman, Eleanor Stahl; Alpha Omicron Pi, Tottie Fiddock, Roberta Faes; Alpha Phi, Pat Thompson, Shirley Eskilsen, Pat Warren; Alpha Xi Delta, Mary Armour, Marjorie Wade; Chi Omega, Donna Wagner, Pat Felger; Delta Gamma, Mimi Loomis, Joanne Patton, Gloria Stephens; Delta Delta Delta, Louise Rowley, Ruth Byers; Kappa Alpha Theta, Ann Phillips, Meredith Bowhay, Virginia Kellison; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Shirley Lierk, Barbara Busch, Sheila Curran; Pi Beta Phi, Betty Lou Mauch, Sue Cochran; Sigma Delta Tau, Mildred Zuber; Sigma Kappa, Elva Cobb, Rosemary Deffenbaugh; Residence Halls for Women, Louise Meisbach, Shirley Mason, Beth Wilson; Carl Hall, Elaine Hensel; International House, Eloise Jones; Conkling Hall, Shirley Pohl, Dorean Guettler; Gamma Phi Beta, Kay Ham, Jean Metzger, Barbara Row-

See QUEENS, page 2.

YW Council

The Y. W. C. A. Membership Council will meet in the southwest room of Ellen Smith today at 5 p. m., according to Mimi Ann Johnson, chairman.

Theatre Presents 'My Sister Eileen'

The University Theatre is opening its 1946-47 season this evening at 8 p. m. with "My Sister Eileen," a three act comedy by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov. Subsequent performances are scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings and Saturday morning at 10 a. m.

Bragg Slated For Second Convocation

Dr. Raymond Bragg, editor world-traveller and lecturer, will make the second convocation address of the year in the Union ballroom Wednesday, November 6, at 3 p. m.

Subject of Dr. Bragg's address will be "Europe's Rehabilitation—How Far to Go?" announced Prof. Carl Arndt, chairman of the convocation committee.

European Traveler.

Dr. Bragg is the associate editor of the "Humanist" magazine and has traveled widely in Europe and Asia. He attended Brown university and the University of Chicago as well as the universities of Frankfurt and Hamburg in Germany. Drawing on his experiences and education, he has become a prominent lecturer on foreign relations and social and religious topics.

In addition to his editorial duties and lectures, Dr. Bragg has been the minister of the First Unitarian Church in Minneapolis since 1935.

"My Sister Eileen," is a hilarious comedy which has been adapted from Ruth McKenny's best-selling novel. It concerns two career-minded girls who brave New York City in search of jobs and adventure. In the latter they are certainly not disappointed, for they rent a tiny apartment in Greenwich Village, through which flows a never-ending stream of gamblers, drunks, Brazilian future admirals, and sand hogs.

Double Duty.

The rolls of the two sisters, Ruth and Eileen, have been double cast. Dorothea Duxbury and Helen Plasters will take these parts on the Wednesday and Friday night and Saturday morning performances, while June Gast and Arlis Swanson will play these two leads on Thursday and Saturday nights.

A revision of the ushering system used by the University Theatre for the first time will be put in effect tonight, according to Dallas S. Williams, Director of the University theatre.

In past years the ushering system used by the University Theatre to take patrons to their reserved seats has been unsatisfactory and has been one of the causes of the delay in taking

See 'EILEEN', page 2.

Deadline Set For Colonel Candidates

Five o'clock this afternoon has been set as the deadline for senior women to file in the Student Activities office as candidates for Honorary Colonel of the Military Ball.

To be eligible, the candidate must be a qualified senior with scholastic average of at least 80%. One girl will be permitted to file from each organized house, and the number of filings of independent women has not been restricted.

Preliminary.

A committee of Mortar Boards and Innocents will judge the candidates at a preliminary contest to be held in the Union ballroom at 4 p. m. Thursday. Five finalists will be selected, and an all student election will be held Nov. 5 to elect the Honorary Colonel.

All students will be eligible to vote, but they must present their identification cards at election officials when they report for voting in the Union basement next Tuesday between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Sentimental Gentleman, Band Provide Musical Spectacle

BY MARTHELLA HOLCOMB

There we were, backstage at the Fabulous Dorsey concert, flat on an instrument case. Tommy was out in the middle of the floor, a gentleman's gentleman perfectly dressed in double-breasted grey, replete with printed silk tie and tan shoes. And when that trombone came into play, TD was a musician's musician, everything perfectly done.

The smooth flow of that famous theme song, gliding from behind the velvet curtain into the darkened coliseum sent the audience into a trance which held them through 'Opus Number One' and Dorsey's best known 'Song of India.'

After more than eleven years of recording, Dorsey can't recall how many pieces his outfit has recorded. As he put it, "Kids are always bringing up platters I don't remember recording. I don't even have a complete set myself."

Still Records.

With two more years to run in his current recording contract with Victor, Dorsey is already dreaming of years filled with fishing tackle. Following a decade on the road, he's longing for the time when he can say "This looks like a nice place, let's stay here for a couple of days."

Asked if he ever got sick of looking at people in night clubs, Dorsey made the retort perfect, "We never get tired of them. It's when they're not there you have to worry."

The soon to be released movie of Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey's lives, "The Fabulous Dorseys," sticks pretty close to reality, TD said Monday. Seems they changed the scenario a bit here and there to make it a bit more interesting, but that's no real detriment according to Dorsey.

"People aren't interested in what you have done," he says, "They're interested in what you're doing now."

Ziggy Elman, man Friday for the crew, kept popping up with appropriate comments throughout the show, a privilege open only to people whose songs rank with his "Two O'clock Jump" and "Six Flats Unfurnished," or who have played with Dorsey ten years.

Elman Gathers Ban.

Elman will terminate the long-standing partnership, interrupted during the war, at the end of this tour when he starts his own band. For the first few months he hopes to book into small night clubs with no radio time, then after the polishing up is finished, they'll make a public debut. As yet Biggy will release no personnel names.

Stuart Foster, latest successor to the Sinatra-Haymes tradition, turned in a performance which fairly melted the beams. After Elman's appreciative "Oh, Frankie," the feminine auditors settled down to a stillness which would make the Gobi desert seem noisy. His advance billing as the "hottest" thing since Sinatra may be deemed appropriate, at least that was the opinion of the two little high schoolers who fought over his one handkerchief.

Band Adds Girls.

Dorsey's twenty-girl symphonic section, which he co-ordinated with the band in Los Angeles before their month-long stand at the Texas State Fair in Dallas, added body and depth to his swing classics. 'Sleepy Lagoon' and 'Rhapsody in Blue,' the closing number, plus 'Hawaiian War

See DORSEY, page 2.

University Theater Presents

Opening Tonight

Four Days Only

MY SISTER EILEEN

EVENINGS 8 P. M. OCT. 30, 31
NOV. 1 and 2
MATINEE 10 A. M., NOV. 2

General Admission60c
Reserve Seats75c

BOX OFFICE HOURS
12:30 to 6:00 P. M. DAILY
OCT. 28 THRU NOV. 2