Elections

Campus . . .

UN's traditional Military Ball is back again after a five years interim, and with it the election and presentation of the Honorary Colonel. Her identity, although a secret (chuckle) until the ball, will be decided by an all-campus election today.

The Military Ball, highlight of the university's social season, officially opens that season and therefore ranks as one of the university affairs. Accordingly, the selection of the Honorary Colonel is an important one, carrying with it the responsibility of choosing an outstanding representative of the student body. As student voters, you have the opportunity of selecting that person whom you sincerely believe will represent the coeds of the university and uphold the standards for which she is chosen.

The polls will open at 9 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. today, in the basement of the Union. EVERY STUDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY is not only eligible to vote but carries the responsibility of voting for Honorary Colonel TODAY.

City . . .

Any and all students of voting age have a date at the polls sometime today!

Just a reminder that fall election day is here and you, as a citizen, are vitally concerned with the outcome. The results will depend in large part on how religiously eligible student voters frequent the polls. With the large number of veterans now enrolled, the university holds a more important place at the polls than ever before.

Voters will be deciding for or against such issues as:

1. Governor of Nebraska
  2. Senators from the state
  3. Closed shop
  4. Liquor by the drink
  5. School amendment
  6. City council members by election or appointment
- Use your voter's prerogative as a citizen of a democracy. Go to the polls TODAY.

March of Time To Head Today's Siesta Film Hour

A March of Time release on "Palestine" will be a feature of the Siesta Film Hour in the Union lounge this afternoon at 4.

Another regular Union activity is the dance class under the supervision of Donna McCandless to be held in the ballroom at 7:30 this evening.

Wednesday the second convocation will be held in the Union ballroom at 3 p. m. Dr. Raymond Bragg, world traveler and lecturer, will be the speaker.

The business portion of the meeting will be held following the dinner at 6:45 to make it possible for those who can not attend the dinner to be present for the discussion of future plans.

Priscilla Meyer and Jack Maxwell have gone through the files, in the office, but as a result of the incompleteness of the files, it was impossible to contact everyone who might be interested in attending this meeting. Those who are interested, but who were not contacted, are requested to see Art Cohen personally or call 3-7130 as soon as possible.

Jubilee Held By Palladian Literary Club

Palladian literary society, the oldest organization on the university campus, celebrated its Diamond Jubilee during last weekend.

The celebration began Friday night, with an alumni banquet held in Parlors X, Y, and Z of the Union. Two hundred alumni and active members attended the affair, which was dedicated to the announcement of the establishment of the Avery Memorial Lectureship in honor of the late Chancellor Samuel Avery and turning over to the university a fund of $10,000 for the purpose of bringing each year to the university an eminent speaker under the auspices of the society.

Money Pledged.

Victor Seymour, chairman of the Fund Committee, made the dedication and the announcement. He also stated that over half of the money has already been pledged, with new contributions coming in every day.

Judge E. B. Perry was toastmaster for the occasion. Edna Bullock, Judge C. M. Skiles, and Glen E. Dorsey spoke on "The First Seventy-five Years of Palladian."

Palladian Hall was open all day Saturday to the public. Following the open house, actives and alumni co-operated in presenting a program on Saturday evening. Of special interest in the program was an impromptu debate carried on by active members.

Following the serving of refreshments by the Links, the women's alumni group of Lincoln, the evening and week-end program came to an end.

Vets Sponsor Bonus Forum On Wednesday

"Should There Be a Veteran's Bonus?" is the controversial issue offered for public discussion at an open forum sponsored by the Veteran's Organization in Union, room 316, Wednesday evening at 7.

The discussion will be transcribed and re-broadcast over radio station KFAB Saturday night at 10:30. Audience participation will be recorded with the aid of portable microphones and will be led by prominent members of four representative veteran's groups.

They will include: Irwin A. Jones, Junior Vice-Commander of the Lincoln Veterans of Foreign Wars; Wallace Peterson, member of the American Veterans Committee; Dale Matschulter Jr., member of AmVets; and R. E. Patterson, Department Adjutant of the Nebraska American Legion.

Carl Booton, in charge of the program, emphasized that everyone, veterans or otherwise, are invited to attend and contribute their opinions to the discussion.

John Shell Will Speak at Vespers Hour Thursday

The Rev. John Shell, of the First Presbyterian Church of York, Neb., will be guest speaker at vespers Thursday at 5 p. m. in the Union, according to Maxine Ludwick, who is in charge of the program.

Research Uncovers "Novel" Outside Student Employment

"Pardon me, but do you know any students who have outside employment of a different or novel nature?" we questioned all day long after "Boss" Cawood assigned us the job of writing a feature with said question as its theme.

We suspect that this unique idea took form when someone told us about the Stuart theater's bulb changer employee. Like other light bulbs, those in the marquee burn out too, and a U.N. man earns his bit by climbing up the marquee's frame to replace the old with the new.

Starting our research, we were pleased to find that Bob always-an answer Gillan would not let us down. He related that one of his friends is employed by the Bauer's candy company "not to touch the candy." His are "the human hands that the candy is not touched by." Another works at Bill Meredith's coffee shop, Gillan continued, as a member of the management that is "not responsible for hats and coats." Before we could stop him he told of one who is employed by the Lincoln zoo "not to feed the animals."

Clock Capers.

Pat Jensen, society editor, contributed a bit of hearsay concerning university students who in past years had the arduous task of winding the coliseum clock... an electric clock, that is.

Fig Flagg could be stopped long enough to reminisce about his outside job while a freshman. Spurred by political aspiration (our suspicion, anyway) Fig worked at the Governor's mansion as house boy, second chauffeur and third cook.

Eccentrics?

We were informed by various campus wags of students who hold such doubtful jobs as employees who build upside-down light-houses for submarines, or construct 5-stringed violins for six fingered players, or make combinations knife-fork-spoon-razor blade implements for people who eat shredded wheat.

After learning from Gretchen Burnham that the Lincoln City Lines hires students to ride buses as example-sitters who do not smoke and do not engage the driver in unnecessary conversation, we decided to join in the fun and hurried out the State Hospital to get a job as a nutcracker. We didn't succeed and came back with a mighty sore head—thanks to the man who already has the job.
