

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

It's time for another inspection of the tea leaves so here are a few opinions on the nation's football games this weekend:

Army vs. Notre Dame—Injuries to Johnny Lujack may hamper the Irish cause, Army players have played together for a long time, Davis and Blanchard will be hard to stop. Despite all of these factors this vote goes to Notre Dame. Coach Frank Leahy has too much reserve strength.

Besides, my middle name is Patrick.

Oklahoma vs. Kansas—After last week's surprising performance the Jayhawks will not be taken lightly by the Sooners. Ready, and forewarned the Oklahoma gridders should push aside the Kansas menace and join Missouri at the top of the Big Six with an undefeated standing.

Iowa State vs. Drake—The Cyclones won a game last week and liked the joy of victory. Coach Mike Michalske's boys should experience the same joy this week when they subdue the Bulldogs. Both teams have had disappointing seasons, but this intra-state rivalry will bring out the best in both clubs.

Missouri vs. Colorado—After watching Lloyd Brinkman, Bob Hopkins and Howie Bonnett make the Huskers look foolish on occasion last week we cannot see how the Rocky mountain crew can stop them. Altho the Buffs will put up a stern battle, the Bengals should breeze through with a win.

Kansas State vs. San Francisco: It's a nice trip for the Wildcats since the game will be played in San Francisco, but the Dons will add another loss to the K-Staters' string of defeats.

Iowa vs. Wisconsin—The Hawkeyes failed to come through against the Illinois team but they ought to get back in winning column when the Badgers provide the opposition.

Northwestern vs. Indiana—Pete Pihos, Ben Raimondi and the rest of the Hoosiers will be a formidable barrier to the Purple title hopes. Northwestern lost a wild-scoring affair a week ago and will be determined to win

Rugged Drills For Iowa State Gridiron Squad

AMES, Ia.—You'd think Iowa State had lost to Kansas State the way the players drill for Drake.

Scrimmage Sessions.

But more than likely it is simply that victory tasted so good they have no intention of being caught napping by Drake when the two teams meet here Saturday. Just the same practice session spectators have been known to wince a bit themselves on seeing and hearing the contact work being dished out by Coach Mike Michalske this week.

While backs and ends have been drilling on smooth-functioning offensive performances the linemen have been shooting the works at each other. When properly aroused the whole squad is thrown together in a regular scrimmage session. The results of those scrimmage sessions have made Cyclone fans hopeful of stopping Drake for the thirty-first time in the series.

Part of the reason for the rugged sessions is the conviction the Drake is better than its .333 season indicates. Scouts and officials echo that thought—Drake is far tougher than its showing this year would indicate. With a lay-off last week, the Bulldogs are expected to enter Saturday's contest in the best physical shape of the year.

Classified

LOST—Eversharp fountain pen, initials F.M.S. Call Frances Smith 2-7371.
1940 PLYMOUTH convertible coupe. Fine condition. East door of Court House, Saturday, Nov. 9, 2 p. m. Inquire Tel. 2-1146.

this one. Looks from here like they'll succeed.

Minnesota vs. Purdue—At last Bernie Bierman's charges get a chance to hang up a conference victory. The only games the Gophers have won this year have been against Nebraska and Wyoming, and Saturday's contest should be No. 3.

Michigan vs. Michigan State—Michigan has too much of everything for the Spartans who have lost key performers due to injuries.

Ohio State vs. Pittsburgh—It's the Buckeyes' turn to tame the once-proud Panthers. The Big Nine aggregation should become the fourth member of the conference to accomplish the feat.

Penn vs. Columbia—Both teams were upset last week, the Quakers losing to Princeton and the Lions bowing to Cornell, so this game should be a fiercely contested duel. Lou Little's team has slowed down from its early season pace, hence the Pennsylvanians figure to win.

Georgia Tech vs. Navy—Too bad for the Middies. They've got a terrific schedule this season but not the team to match. The Engineers whipped Duke last week while Navy was battling Notre Dame and should have an easy time with the Annapolis eleven.

Rice vs. Arkansas—Here's a possible upset but we stick with Rice even though the Razorbacks will be out to spill the Southwestern conference leaders.

UCLA vs. Oregon—The Uclans are rolling toward that Rose Bowl bid and will tolerate no interference from the Webfeet. Jake Leight is a fine back but Oregon will need more than he can provide against the unbeaten Bruins.

Alabama vs. Louisiana State—The Crimson Tide has been backed up by Georgia and Tennessee but should win this one.

Kansas State Edges Scarlet Two Mile Team

The Husker two mile squad lost its second straight race Thursday afternoon as Kansas State eked out a 26-29 decision at Memorial Stadium.

At first the race was awarded to Nebraska, but Don Morrison, who came in on winner Bobby Ginn's heels, was disqualified because of an incident on the far turn of the second lap. At that time, Morrison was in third place, but in attempting to pass a Kansas State runner, he caused the man to stumble. This won the race for K-State, otherwise UN would have won 24-31.

Slow Time.

Ginn won the race in the comparatively slow time of 10:26, as a blustering wind slowed down everyone's time. Don Borthwick of Kansas State was second with a time of 10:34. Following Borthwick in this order were: George Leasure (KS), Jim Martin (UN), Phil Myers (UN), Ray Ade (KS), Van Haverbeke (KS), Jim Cunningham (KS), Hal Kopf (UN), Blaine Young (UN).

Ginn took the lead from Borthwick in the sixth lap and was joined by Don Morrison soon after. They crossed the finish line without further challenge.

Corn Cob Requirement!

Each Corn Cob worker is required to usher Sunday evening at the opening convocation of "Religion in Life Week." Cobs will report at the coliseum at 7 p. m. to receive programs and instructions. Credit will be deducted from the record of any worker who fails to appear without having first been excused by Sam Warren, who can be reached at 3-4349.

Nubbins Will Tangle With Frosh Eleven

To replace the cancelled game with the University of Kansas, Coach Ray Prochaska will send his Nubbins team into action this afternoon against Pop Klein's freshmen gridders.

The game will begin at 4 o'clock in Memorial stadium and is open to the public.

Several of the first year men have been pressing hard for berths on the B team and today's game will give them a good opportunity to prove to Coaches Prochaska and Kahler that they have the ability to warrant a promotion.

With the feeling that they are equally as good, if not better than the Nubbins, the Freshmen are going all out to hand the Jayvees their first loss of the year. If they succeed, there will probably be one or two freshmen in the lineup when the Nubbins conclude their season against Midland on Nov. 22.

Small Size 49c Large Size 79c

GOLD & CO

Contract Bridge Tournament

2 Divisions—For Duffers and Regulars
2:00 P. M., SATURDAY, NOV. 9
Union 315 and 316

Register at Union Office By Noon, Nov. 9

Contract Bridge Classes

4:00 P. M. and 5:00 P. M. Thurs., Nov. 7
Union 313

BEN SIMON & SONS Our Forty-First Year!

strong rubber BOOTS

$3.49

Here's wet weather insurance and good looks combined! Smart brown rubber boots... designed like a flight officers to keep your feet warm and dry in rain, snow and slush.

Women's Shoes... Now on Fifth Floor