

Men Will Nominate "Bachelor" Entries

Manhood, virility and the wavy masculine look have finally come into their own on the Nebraska campus! Male beauty, as such, is for the first time this year to be recognized as competitive material.

Eight of the campus' most representative BMOC's will be chosen by the coeds to be crowned Dec. 13 at the Mortar Board ball as this year's Most Eligible Bachelors, according to Virginia Demel, ball chairman.

Letters already have been sent to all men's organized houses, asking that names of one candidate from each house be submitted for the election. Any organized men's group not contacted may submit a candidate if they wish, Miss Demel emphasized. All names and a snapshot or portrait of each candidate must be placed in the Mortar Board box in the Union basement by 5 p. m. Friday, Nov. 22. Any single male student registered for 12 hours is eligible.

A public election, in which only women will be permitted to vote, has been scheduled after the Thanksgiving holiday. Coeds will choose eight men from the slate, to be crowned at the ball.

Identity of the winners will not be revealed until their presentation at the ball Dec. 13, when Sonny Dunham will play appropriate music for their coronation.

Mystery Coeds Look Magazine Vie for Kosmet Klub Election Hits Invading Quiz 'Quacks'

Mystery continues to surround the candidates for Nebraska Sweetheart to be elected at the Kosmet Klub Revue of 1946 which will be presented in the coliseum this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Seven coeds representative of different groups on the campus have been selected as candidates by Kosmet Klub, according to Klub President John Dale. Each ticket to the revue has a space for writing in votes for a Prince Kosmet and a Sweetheart candidate. Posters announcing the names of the seven coed nominees will be posted at the entrance to the coliseum Friday evening and those attending the show will cast their ballots for Nebraska Sweetheart at the same time as they vote for the finalists for Prince Kosmet which were announced in Sunday's Daily Nebraskan.

Dress Rehearsal.

Dress rehearsal for the revue will be held in the coliseum Wednesday evening. The eight fraternalists. See MYSTERY COEDS, page 2.

"Ubiquitous quacks have even invaded the field of aptitude testing, according to studies made by Columbia University and presented in Look magazine.

In an article appearing in its current issue, entitled "Are You On The Right Road to Success?" Look magazine reveals that these vocational guidance clinics are reaping large profits from the general boom enjoyed by psychological guidance clinics.

"The importance that the armed forces placed on vocational guidance tests," says Look, "emphasized to the American public the value of these tests. Recognized and authenticated clinics have been serving greatly increased numbers of persons.

"Quack Clinics."

"At the same time," cautions Look, hundreds of quack clinics have sprung up, hoping to cash in on the great new public interest in aptitude measurement. These fly-by-nights usually offer to tell, See LOOK, page 2.

YW Celebrates Birthday At Membership Meeting

Celebrating its 62nd anniversary on the campus the University Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring its semi-annual all-membership meeting next Wednesday night in the drawing room of Ellen Smith Hall.

Shirley Hinds, president, will be in charge of the business meeting, which will be preceded by a short period of singing led by Shirley Sabin. First on the agenda will be proposed revisions to the Y. W. C. A. constitution, including a discussion of the requirements for voting, which may be changed. This will be an opportunity for members to express an opinion on one of the important actions determining the future policies of the university Y. W. C. A.

Following this business meeting will be the Y. W. birthday celebration, complete with birthday cakes. Members will contribute a number of pennies equal to their own age to a common fund, which will be used to send eight delegates from Nebraska to the National Student assembly at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois, December 22 to January 2. There, Mary Ann Mattoon, last year's president of our Y. W. C. A. will preside, in her capacity as president of the National Student Council of the Y. W. C. A.

Committee in charge of the all-membership meeting consists of Shirley Schnittker, general chairman, Harriet Quinn, Shirley Sabin, and Ruth Ann Finkle.

Hambro Speaks At Convo Today

BY DICK TOOF

At 11:00 this morning in the Union ballroom, Carl J. Hambro, Norwegian diplomat and statesman, will address an all student convocation on the subject, "World Government in Our Time."

Hambro is a man who has made his influence felt not only in Norway but throughout Europe. He is at the present time head of the Norwegian parliament, a position second in importance only to that of King Haakon. He is also chief Norwegian representative to the United Nations Organization.

Few men have more experience than Mr. Hambro in administering world government. Head of the Assembly of the League of Nations since 1939, he guided that world peace organization through its most trying days. He has drawn enough experience from observing the failure of the League of Nations to give invaluable advice in the establishment of a new world peace organization.

Hambro is a champion of the rights of small nations, like his Australian contemporary, Herbert Evatt, and a fearless critic of the great power policy. In 1940, he aided the Finns against the Russians with every means at his disposal. He published a criticism See HAMBRO, page 4.

Foster Band Stands High Nationally

Playing a return engagement in Nebraska as far as Omahans are concerned, nation-wide favorite Chuck Foster and his band will offer their own smooth style of music at the Military Ball on Dec. 6.

The Ball, one of the university's outstanding winter social events, has been predicted to be the dance of the year, by Cadet Lieut. Col. Bill Hammond, head of the ROTC publicity committee.

Anticipate Record Crowd.

Anticipating a record crowd for the December affair, the military department placed tickets on sale several days ago and reports an increasingly high demand for them. Admission charge will be $4.00 per couple for men wearing See FOSTER, page 2.

State Music Clinic Opens On Thursday

A joint band, orchestra and chorus concert next Saturday at 8 p. m. in the coliseum will climax activities of a three-day state music educators association annual clinic, to be held on campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Robert Shaw, former director of Fred Waring's glee club and present conductor of the CBS record-

Housing for many of the 600 high school students who will be in Lincoln Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the Nebraska music educators annual clinic, is urgently needed, according to David Foltz, housing chairman.

Specially chosen by music teachers in their schools, the students will be unable to attend the sessions if housing is not found, but will be sent back home instead.

Foltz asked anyone with available rooms to call the school of music today or tomorrow.

ing orchestra, will direct the group chorus. Harold Bachman, former director of the University of Chicago bands, and member of the special services branch of the Fifth army, will conduct the clinic band. Dr. H. DeRubertis, composer, conductor and Kansas City See STATE MUSIC, page 2.

Vesper Choir

There will be a meeting of all previous members and anyone who would like to sing in the Vesper Choir today in room 315 of the Union at 4:00. Joan Fankhauser and Ray Schauberg will be in charge.

Anyone who cannot attend today but would like to sing is invited to come to Thursday rehearsal at 4:30 in room 315.

Maryla Jonas, Polish Piano Virtuoso, Plays Wednesday

Maryla Jonas, the Polish pianist, who performs here Wednesday on the Lincoln Symphony series, made a Carnegie Hall New York debut just nine months ago which was so sensational that New York critics and national news magazines have thrown superlatives at her feet (or rather, at her fingers!)

If there is anything that the American public takes to its heart, it is the Cinderella story of a young girl whose ability gets her to the top despite all odds. Such is the story of Maryla Jonas. Bucking her father's prejudice against a piano career, nine-year-old Maryla was heard by Paderewski when she made her debut with the Warsaw Philharmonic. The Polish premier and pianist gave her lessons, promising her that in five or six years she might at least "turn out to be mediocre." Instead, in 1932 and 1933, she won the International Chopin Prize and the Beethoven Prize of Vienna, and was receiving widespread attention in Europe.

Playing in bombed-out Warsaw when it fell, Miss Jonas refused all persuasion to go to Berlin to play for the nazis. She was consequently imprisoned. After seven long months, a nazi officer who had heard her play let her out, and told her she might get out of Europe if she could reach the Brazilian embassy in Berlin.

on the roadside, scarcely ate, and doesn't know how many weeks it took her. Finally she reached Rio de Janeiro, exhausted and sick. But the worst was yet to come. She received word that her husband, her parents and a brother had been killed in Poland. She did not touch a piano for months. Only a trick by her friend, pianist Artur Rubinstein, who was visiting Rio, got her to play once more.

No less a critic than Olin Downes has said of her, "She has few equals as an interpreter among the leading pianists of today."
