Big Six League Tie Won by Sooners

BY WALT LOOMIS.

The University of Nebraska Cornhuskers failed in their attempt to gain at least a tie for the Big Six championship by dropping a 27-6 contest to the Oklahoma Sooners Saturday at Norman.

Although they played inspired ball throughout the entire game and looked as good as they have at any time during the entire season, the Huskers simply could not match the class of the Sooner team which earlier in the season had given mighty Army one of their toughest battles.

The Nebraskans held the highly touted Joe Golding, the Sooner's top candidate for all-America honors, in check all afternoon, but it was by using the same Mr. Golding as a decoy that Oklahoma was able to spring Jack Mitchell and Dave Wallace loose for substantial gains. However, it was the Sooners aerial attack rather than their ground assault that paid dividends.

The first touchdown was scored late in the opening quarter when fullback Eddie Davis broke through a hole in the Husker left side and went twenty-one yards into the end zone. The Sooners had maneuvered into scoring position by a series of weak Husker punts which were held back by a strong south wind. When the Huskers finally got themselves out of the hole, they began a drive from the Oklahoma forty-three yard line which resulted in a touchdown.

The biggest chunk of yardage was picked up by speedy Dick Hutton on a screen pass from Fred Metheny. Hutton took the ball on the Sooner forty-five and behind the wall of blockers sped thirty yards to the fifteen.

AGR's Win Coll-Agri-Fun Annual Show

Alpha Gamma Rho won the "Coll-Agri-Fun" night show with their skit, "The Standin's Revenge," and the Lather Boys took first place in the curtain act division of the show with their act entitled "Harmonies."

The general theme of the winning skit was to describe the trials and tribulations of the standin. "Harmonies" featured a barber shop quartet.

Love Hall took second honors among the skits with their presentation of "John's Other Life." The second place curtain act was entitled "Atomic Home Economics" and was presented by the Home Ec club.

Judges were Miss Evelyn Metzger, associate professor of home economics in design; William Morgan, instructor in speech and radio; and Dr. L. B. Snyder, associate professor of rural economics.

World Federation Will Be Topic for Tuesday Convo

BY EUGENE BERMAN.

Colgate Prentice, national president of the Student Federalists, will be the speaker at a convocation to be held in the Union ballroom at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

He will speak on the challenge federal world government offers to university students in connection with the strength and weakness of United Nations today.

Prentice has been actively working for both the Federalists and various veterans' organizations since his discharge from the air force last December. As a gunner in the European theater he received decorations and citations, including several Air Medals "for meritorious service."

Nation Wide Tour

A 22-year old junior at Swarthmore college in Pennsylvania, he has taken a term off from his studies for his nation-wide speaking tour, which has been undertaken for the purpose of explaining to student and civic groups the principles involved in world government. The tour has been highly praised by Clifton Faddiman, Emery Reeves and Clarence Streit.

One of the most outstanding features of his lectures is the opportunity for the audience to ask questions concerning any phase of his subject. His knowledge of the subject of world federal government has been said to be phenomenal, for before starting on the tour he conferred with all of the leading persons in the field of world government and has thus compiled an almost unlimited knowledge of all modern proposals.

Social Institute Workers Hear R. G. Gustavson

Speaking to delegates attending the graduate school of social work's institute Friday night, Chancellor R. G. Gustavson declared that basically juvenile delinquents have good qualities which have to be brought out in the right way.

Praising the social workers on the "very fine piece of work" the Chancellor pointed out that theirs were jobs of the "utmost value." He described them as pioneers in the field with "tremendous opportunity" to further the work.

Hope Expressed.

By considering the developments of medical science, nutrition and the way man has met the hazards in industry, it is possible to hope for a great society, the chancellor said. Concluding his address Gustavson pointed out that man has mastered the physical and biological world but it remains for him to conquer in the field where human values rate high.

Approximately 100 persons attended first day sessions of the graduate school's second institute Friday. The program is under the direction of Dr. Adelaide Johnson of the Institute of Psychoanalysis, Chicago.

Myron Roberts Closes Faculty Recital Series

BY SAM WARREN.

Myron Roberts' organ recital today, which brings the faculty recital series to an end, promises to be a program of interest since it will include two of Mr. Roberts' compositions and a suite by Haydn. Marvin Wadley, new to the faculty this fall, will also appear in the recital at 4 p. m. in First-Plymouth Congregational church.

Robert's compositions, written during the summer and not yet published, are styled in the impressionistic manner. Entitled "Two Impressions," they are the outcome of Professor Roberts' interest in astronomy.

Haydn Suite.

The Haydn suite was composed for a famous musical clock in Vienna and was played automatically on a flute organ operated by the clock mechanism. Included also on the program are "Fanfare" by New York music critic Virgil Thomson and "Prelude and Fugue" by organist Marcel Dupre who performed at the Plymouth console earlier this month.

Bob Martens and Lois Swanson, Prince Kosmet and Nebraska Sweetheart, reign at the annual Kosmet Klub show presented Friday night.

Before a crowd of over 2,000, Kosmet Klub presented its fall revue and announced the election of a Nebraska Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet at the coliseum Friday night.

As a finale to the show Kosmet president, John Dale announced that Bob Martens, Alpha Tau Omega, had won the Prince Kosmet title in the balloting at the door. Martens then walked into the audience and brought Lois Jean Swanson to the stage as the Nebraska Sweetheart of 1946. The names of the six Sweetheart candidates had been kept secret until Friday night.

Winner of the cup for the best skit of the show was Alpha Tau Omega with their presentation of a number titled "Coon Court," presided over by skitmaster Ken Damon. Second and third places were awarded to Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Nu. Judges of the eight acts were Elsworth DuTeau, former university Alumni secretary, William Morgan and Donald Olson, university speech instructors.

Police Court.

Scene of the winning skit was a police court filled with black-face policemen and featuring the dancing of septa "girls." The Phi Gam act called "She Was Only a Prairie Flower But She got Nipped in the Bud" directed by Marvin Cavender depicted a beauty contest and was a satire on campus sororities.

Third place number was titled "Sigma Nu Supper Club" supervised by skitmaster Bill Lucas. This night club act included tap dancing, a swing combo and a German professor of the piano.

The five other candidates for

Nu-Meds Change Banquet-Meeting Reservation Plan

Reservations for the next Nu-Med banquet will not be made by ticket sale, as previously announced, president Stanley Johnson stated today.

Instead, members planning to attend the banquet will place their names and 50c in envelopes which can be obtained in Dr. Otis Wade's office, 308 Bessey Hall, before Thanksgiving vacation.

The dinner is scheduled for Wednesday, December 4 at 6:15 in Union parlors XYZ. Speaker at the meeting will be announced later, Johnson said, and special business is the election of next semester officers.

Coeds Report Molestations On Campus

The latest in a series of molestations against campus women was reported to The Daily Nebraskan late yesterday. A sophomore coed was chased from the coliseum to Grant Memorial Friday night at about 9:15 p. m.

Numerous reports have been made concerning a man in a sedan car, driving in the vicinity of 16th and S. These molestations have occurred several times since September with men on foot and in automobiles, the coeds reported.
