

Happy Thanksgiving! John L. or Not!

Turkey Day Tremors Seize All Students As H-Hour Approches

BY DICK TOOF.

Pardon, reprieve, leave of absence, acquittal, 96-hour pass, and parole all mean that the Turkey Day "break" is H-houred for members of Universitas Nebrascensis at noon today.

Typical comments heard as students prepare for a four day Turkey vacation include some of the following:

"Four straight days when I don't get out of the sack until ten o'clock," yawned Sedley Sock, ex-GI from Pheasant Creek. "I can hardly wait 'til Thursday."

"We plan to have a big time at the barn-house, over Thanksgiving," said Mortan Stanley Zolter, president of the Delta Beta Handa Poker fraternity. "Three frat chapters from Kansas will be here for the vacation. My hangover can barely wait to get started."

Wheree!

"How simply wonderful to know that for two days I won't have to attend those horrid ten o'clock classes. How I dislike ten o'clocks!" exclaimed Sherryn Elizabeth Klotch, Gamma Gimme Plenty.

"Why do you hate ten o'clock classes so intensely?" Miss Klotch was asked.

"Because all my classes are ten o'clocks. How I wish vacation had started today!" she replied.

Amid these reports of genuine gaiety and anticipation of the holiday, there was one student whose viewpoints stood out against the background of congenial and intelligent opinion as print stands out upon a page.

Parasites.

This student was Maxwellton Marski, sophomore parasitology student and a member of the Exalted Slobbovians Teamster's Union.

"Celebrate Thanksgiving? Why I guess so. I'll stay in Lincoln (it's so far to Slobbovia) and I'll eat a big dinner (I always do anyway). Then I'll go to the library and memorize more parasitological terms. Interesting course, parasitology!"

All Women Vote.

As is traditional with the bachelors crowned at the Mortar Board balls, all women students will vote for eight men from the list of candidates at an open election to be held soon after Thanksgiving holidays.

Last year's theme was carried through with presentation of Mary Clark as Nebraska Christmas Carol, and Bill Swanson, Nog Chapin, Lowell Anderson, John Bell, Jim Pettis, and Don Barry as eligible bachelors.

In 1945, "A Snow Ball," the theme that year, found Douglas Nelson as Snow Man. In a departure from tradition, six Snow Flakes were named for their participation in war work. They included: Margaret Beede, Marie

Law Students Open Second Moot Court

Law students will present arguments in the opening round of the second annual Allen Moot Court Competition Monday when the first of 38 arguments scheduled for December will be heard.

The Allen competition was inaugurated last spring following a bequest by the late Thomas Stinson Allen, a member of the first graduating class of the law college. Elimination rounds of competition for freshmen and junior law students lead to the final senior competition.

Names of the final winning senior team are engraved on a bronze plaque and an individual award is given to each of the winners.

Juniors Compete.

Juniors will open the competition Monday when their arguments will be judged by practicing attorneys, faculty members and senior law students. A freshman practice round is scheduled to begin Wednesday, December 4, with junior and senior law students presiding as judges.

All moot court cases in the competition will be heard in the courtroom on the second floor of the Law building. Trials are scheduled every afternoon, Monday through Friday, at 1:30, 3 and 7:30 p. m. from December 2 to December 20. A complete schedule will appear in The Daily Nebraskan.

Army Clarifies Uniform Policy For ROTC Ball

Decorations and insignia of grade held at the time of separation may be worn by those attending the Military Ball in uniform, according to an announcement by the military department.

Clarification of the uniform policy was announced when some confusion was expressed as to whether veterans should wear ribbons and decorations at the formal affair.

Army Regulations.

The military department quoted Army Regulation 600-40 as the basis for its decision. The uniform with all decorations and the grade held at time of separation will be worn, according to this interpretation. Insignia of arm or service will not be worn. Members of all service reserve groups should follow this policy, according to the military department.

Tickets for the ball, December 6, will be on sale in the Union booth this afternoon and all next week. According to sponsors of the affair, attendance will not necessarily be limited to students of the university. Others wishing to attend may do so.

Tuberculosis Seal Drive Announced

A drive to raise $4,000 in funds to combat tuberculosis is scheduled on the campus from December 2 to 21, co-chairman Bill Wiseman and Pat Heynen announced today.

"This is the first year a drive has been organized on the campus," Wiseman said, "we would like to make it an annual affair. After all, the goal we have set should be easily reached, as it is only about 50c per student."

Funds raised in the campus drive are slated to help purchase a $25,000 mobile x-ray unit for Lancaster county. This year the University borrowed the x-ray unit of the Nebraska state health department, but the proposed county unit would be available every year for student x-rays.

To stimulate contributions a plaque will be presented to the organized house which buys the largest number of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

University Singers Plan Traditional Carol Concert

The Christmas story, as it has been told in song by different nations thru the ages, will be presented by the University Singers when they offer their annual Christmas Carol Concert on Sunday, December 8, in the Union ballroom.

Directed by Dr. Arthur Westbrook, the 150-voice mixed chorus will sing traditional yuletide carols that have been sung in many lands over the world. Ranging from old Latin numbers to carols of the Tennessee hill country, the selections also include such familiar pieces as "Deck the Halls," "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," and "O, Holy Night."

Separate Groups.

For the first time in carol concert tradition, the men and women of University Singers will offer separate groups in addition to their combined numbers. Directed by Prof. David Foltz, the women will sing four numbers from the folk lore of the Sioux Indian tribe, the Appalachian Mountain region and from Spain and England. Two of the men's selections are the French carol of the hearth, "I Hear Along Our Street," and Bach's "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light."

As is customary, an instrumental group will lend variety to the program. This year it is an eight-piece brass ensemble, under the direction of Robert Stepp. Among their numbers are "Old English Carol," "Angels We Have Heard on High," and a carol rhapsody.

Novelty.

Unusual in this year's concert is an original choral number, "Mystic Cherubim," written by a member of Singers. Harry H. Harter, the composer, is a graduate student and attended San Jose Conservatory in California. Mr. Harter, who first came to Lincoln when he was stationed at the Lincoln Army Air Field, has a special interest in composition and arranging.

The concert will be presented both at 2 and 4:30 p. m. to accommodate the large audience that attends each year. Admission is by ticket only. Tickets may be obtained free of charge at the Union office, the limit being four tickets per person.
