

Ragged Edges

BY PAT TOOF.

Expressing the sentiments of most of the socialities is the attitude "hated to come back . . . but just needed the rest."

Bill Norton and Bill Schenke took advantage of the vacation to take the jaunt down to Texas for a reunion with the feminine side of their past Army life. The fields could be greener . . .

Pin-returns also rate space for today, for Phi Gam Bill Moorhouse is again wearing that bit of Greek jewelry, and Jane McArthur's Tri Delt pin is all alone on her sweater now. Understand Jane has fallen back with her old high school admirer, the famous Bill Barrett. For a pin returned, one goes out . . . for the second time Dick Loomis gave up his Phi Psi pin to Margy George, this time for keeps, so they say.

Other Tidbits.

Other tidbits gleaned from the vacation brings to light the battered face of Sid Wells . . . the result of an accident in Fremont. Also, fun and frolic ensued at the Gamma Phi gathering at Peony Saturday night . . . Jo Moss journeyed down from Ashland to be with Bob Wells, which resulted in another date for these two, next Saturday for the Gamma Phi house party. Gracie Smith showed her preference over the holiday and turned down the other dates to be with "Jimbo" Lyle.

Lone Oaks was the meeting place for some of the Kappa Sigs and their dates on their return Sunday night. Making up the party were Bobbie Rowland and Houtz Steenburg, Mary Dye and Bill Perkins, and Randy Ewing with Jean Jensen.

Hospitality.

Taking advantage of Johnny Rushton's hospitality, some of the Betas gathered in Omaha last Thursday night. A few of the couples attending were Jack Yeager and Yvonne DuTeau, Paul Hyland with Gretchen Swoboda, and the hard-to-get-used-to coupling of George Miller and Les Glotfelty. Speaking for Betas and Omaha, we hear the Moose, the Bulldog, and Jake had a sandwich date at the old stamping grounds . . . you figure it out. Military Ball dates are coming in, and the usual crop of unusual combinations is evident . . . for example: Bill Lear riding with Elsie Lykke, Tom Kempt and Ginny Trant, and Tad Wadsworth with Eloise Livingston; while Gene Weiler and Chick Neal are importing Shirley Lockner and Doris Andrews respectively.

Lizabeth Scott, who stars with John Hodiak and Burt Lancaster in "Desert Fury," has a set of bookends made of bombed-out stone from the House of Commons which she visited on her trip to London. A fan sent them to her.

elors elected from nominees chosen by each fraternity and men's organized houses. Election for the position will be held Thursday with all women students eligible to vote.

Born in New Haven, Connecticut, Charlie Spivak got his trumpet while still in grad school. After studying with George Hyer of the New Haven Symphony, Spivak began a five-year term with Paul Specht's band. Next came Benny Pollack's, and then the famous Dorsey Brother's outfit, where he sat with Glenn Miller, Skeets Herfut and Bob Crosby. When Ray Noble came to America, he asked Miller to help him organize his band here, and the first musician they signed up was Spivak.

Later Spivak became the highest paid free lance trumpeter in radio, playing for the Ford Symphony Hour, Kate Smith and Fred Allen broadcasts. With Miller's encouragement, he opened at Glen Island. The Casino, traditionally a summer resort, for the first time in history stayed open during the winter season to accommodate requests for an extended Spivak engagement. Then to New York's Cafe Rouge of the Pennsylvania Hotel, and the Hotel Commodore. At both places he broke previous attendance records set by Glenn Miller and Jimmy Dorsey.
