Contribute Now

With a $4,000 goal in view, university students have been asked to contribute to the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal drive which began on the campus December 2 and will close December 21.

Purpose of the drive is to purchase a mobile X-ray unit for Lancaster county. The unit used on the campus this year was borrowed from the Nebraska state health department. With the purchase of a unit for Lancaster county alone, a greater number of university and public school students can be aided yearly. The total cost of the unit will be $25,000, the remainder to come from the Lancaster coun-

This drive is the first of its kind held on the university campus and is in co-operation with the annual nationwide Christmas seal drive. It is hoped that such a drive will establish a precedent here and will become an annual campaign staged by university students.

Booths are open daily in the Union, Sosh and Andrews. and on Ag campus, and contact will be made through organized houses on campus. With each student contributing 50 cents, the goal could be easily reached.

Students have been subjected to various and sundry drives under the auspices of university organizations and aren't entirely to blame for becoming discouraged at the thought of contributing endlessly to this drive or that. But when a campaign sets down in black and white its purpose, and when that purpose is beneficial to everyone, students dessert supper at 6:45. can plainly see that their contributions, small or large, are going toward a worthwhile investment.

The tuberculosis cross represents direct aid to the health of university students. Make your contribution some

Mona Paulee Solos at City Symphony Concert Tonight

Orchestra performs its first con- berger's variations and fugue on cert of the season tonight at the Spreading Chestnut Tree." Stuart Theater as the symphony association's third presentation of coln Symphony Orchestra history the year, mezzo-soprano Mona Paulee will appear as soloist. Leo will be complete orchestral accompaniment for the soloist's numbers. Miss Paulee will be Kopp, conductor from Iowa's heard in operatic arias by Rossini

Altho the Metropolitan Opera has claimed most of Miss Paulee's seasons since she won the Metropolitan auditions three years ago, she has found time to appear as guest artist with other opera companies and with major symphony orchestras over the nation. Last season she toured the country singing the title role in Columbia Concerts' production of "Carmen."

Critics Opinion.

The Los Angeles Times critic said of this new Carmen, "Her rich, low voice will carry her far, and she has imagination, vitality, and sex appeal. In movement, posture, and facial expression she succeeded in presenting a vivid and intelligent cigarette girl."

The orchestra, now in its 21st season, will present four selections ranging from an arrangement of a Bach chorale to a recent Igor Strawinsky composition, "Four Norwegian Moods." The other two numbers are Rimsky-Korsakoff's scene.

World," the first college level world geography textbook ever published in the United States, is the result of nearly ten years of work by Dr. Earl E. Lackey and Dr. Esther S. Anderson of the university faculty.

One of the few modern books of scribe and interpret the land-scapes of the world, first touching on physiographic regions and graduating to a more complete examination of each nation. Divided into two nearly equal parts, one dealing with the western and one with the eastern hemisphere, a brief historical sketch precedes, and a look toward the future concludes, each region or nation.

Written by a British author and published in England, the geography text most widely used for college work in this country devotes only a small portion of its space to North and South America, and the remainder to Europe and

Also included, for the first time in any text, is the symmetrical world "star" map which shows clearly, in the form of fourpointed stars, that the shortest routes between many important places in the world pass over or near the poles.
