

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

The Omaha World Herald jolted Nebraska sports followers Saturday with a story by Gregg McBride which indicated that Husker athletic prestige was zooming sharply downward, that long-time rivals were ignoring the efforts by Nebraska officials when it came time to renew football contracts.

Throughout the article was the intimation that by lack of diplomacy and blunders in sports world etiquette the Husker athletic officials have brought the athletic situation at Nebraska to a point where the only path is that which leads away from the palmy days when Nebraska was a football

Playoffs Set For Bowlers As Play Ends

The final playoffs in the IM bowling program will take place Dec. 13 at 4 o'clock on the Lincoln Bowling Alleys. The top two teams in each of the three fraternity leagues will participate in play to determine the overall champion.

Alpha Tau Omega, winner of League I; Sigma Nu, champion of League II; and Beta Sigma Psi, atop League III, will play off for the first, second, and third positions. Because of a tie in League II for second place between Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon there will actually be four teams competing for fourth, fifth, and sixth places.

The team turning in the highest team score, either Delta Tau Delta or Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will have automatic possession of second place in League II and their score will be entered against those of Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Psi, runner-up teams in Leagues I and III, respectively. Total team scores for the five-man teams will determine the places and awarding of Jack Best Points.

Alleys Assigned.

Alleys one, two and five will be assigned to Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu, and Beta Sigma Psi. Team members will be divided over the three alleys so that not more than two men from the same fraternity bowl on the same alley. Alleys six, seven, eight and nine will be reserved for the second place team of the three leagues.

Competition in all three of the fraternity leagues was keen right down to the last line, as the organized houses fought hard for their own league championship. Many fine bowlers were uncovered as the high scores were turned in week after week. League play was marked by the fine way in which the program was planned and carried out and by the fine brand of sportsmanship exhibited by the various players.

The Lillies and YMCA, tied for first in the Independent League, will not compete in the coming tourney. Final league standing before playoffs:

power, a force to be reckoned with on the national sports front.

We are aware that thru some unfortunate statements and actions during the season this year's Cornhusker football team was not an overwhelmingly successful enterprise either on or off the gridiron.

However the signs at the end of the season pointed toward an improvement on the field and with such an improvement we believe that the off-field relationships will also improve. Nebraska teams prior to the war were not in the habit of losing more than two or three games per season, and during the war years all usual standards of criticism were laid aside. Now that normal times in the athletic world seem to be on the way back, it is probably an inability to become accustomed to seasons such as the one just concluded that has produced lack of harmony between Nebraska and its non-conference opponents.

True, it is hard to reconcile one's self to a losing ball team after being associated wholly with winners and that is something of the situation which prevails in connection with Coach Bernie Mastersorf.

Bernie's years at Lincoln high were successful, his seasons on the Cornhusker squad were filled with victories, Chicago Bears were a notable successful gridiron machine during his years as a player and coach, as were the seasons during which he was connected with navy football.

Naturally he is anxious to produce a winner for the home folks, and with all signs pointing toward a steady improvement in UN football fortunes, such troubles should vanish altho the process will require several seasons.

There are a few examples, however, of rather unsound policy, such as the selection of assistant coach Glenn Presnell to represent Nebraska at the Big Ten meetings when it is the Huskers' Western conference opponents, who are cited by the World Herald story as the teams most likely to desert their football relations with Nebraska, were represented by athletic directors and head coaches.

We hope the athletic department has confidence in its ability to continue athletic relations with schools so popular with Husker fans, schools such as Minnesota and Indiana. Such confidence must be present for athletic department actions certainly do not indicate any awareness of a crisis.

Who's gonna win the big battle? Who will be the victor? For all the answers, be at the Union tomorrow, at 11:00 a. m.
