Ragged Edges

BY TOTTIE FIDDOCK.

Looks as if the weekend will be a nice one—nice and quiet, that is. But we all need a rest after the hard Christmas vacation, and the shock of sitting in class again has proved too much for many of the less hardy individuals around here.

Continuing with the list of pins and rings which recently changed hands, there are Grace Heins who received a ring from Philadelphia Tom Wright, and Phyl Johnston who acquired another kind of ring when she became Mrs. Kenny Lahs during vacation.

Sewing Test.

Darlene Pothast and Rick Ayote have been seen together lately. Rick recently gave his Navy pea coat to Patsy so that she could demonstrate her domestic ability by replacing a button. But evidently she hasn't accomplished this little feat for she is happily wearing said coat. Poor Rick will probably never get it back now.

The DU formal Friday promises a fine time. More dates for this event are Marilyn Miller and Bob Green and Barbara Sullivan and Bud Johnson.

Only Foolin'.

Marj Benson, who was previously reported to be going steady with Jake Dahlgren, evidently was only foolin'. They haven't been seen together since, and Marj will be taking in the Beta formal Saturday night with Bill Levine.

More dates for the Alpha Phi formal Friday (the list seems to have no end) are Mimi Smith and Bill Brown, Nancy Pierson and Tom Brownlee, Phyl Kokjer and Bob Diers and Lucille Stryson and pinmate Chuck Anderson. Also there will be Mary Jo Overton and Leo Ramer, who are getting to be quite a steady couple, Ginny Purdham and pinmate Louis Hanisch, who will come from Omaha and Bev Ramer and fiancée Bob Gundry, who also will make the trek from Omaha.

$64 Question.

The question of the week—at least everyone seems to be asking it, is "What's going on between Sue Burgess and Howie Esser?"

Saturday night dates will include Mary Lois Gibbs and Tom Wright, Peg O'Donnell and Bill Haun, and Ruth DeBaufre and Tom Morgan.

Hurry, Hurry! Resolve to Buy Directory Now

Now that the New Year has begun, we should all resolve to keep in contact with our friends who live in other houses, and make an effort to get the assignment missed in yesterday's class.

There is no better way to make these resolutions come true than by knowing the address or telephone number of your neighbor. The Student Directory has the name of each student and faculty member in the university as well as his place of residence and phone number. It is an indispensable little booklet which is just as much a requirement for the student as the text book (and sometimes, even more).

The directories went on sale yesterday, and will be sold in the Union booth all day and in Law College from 11 to 1. They may be purchased on Ag campus in the Union booth and in the finance office of the Administration building. The price is 50c, and the sale ends Friday of this week. It would be a social error to be without one.

Pre-Meds Will Take Professional Tests Saturday

Professional Aptitude Tests for pre-medical students will be given on January 11 in room 101 of Andrews. The test, prepared by the American Medical Colleges, will begin at 8:45 a. m. and consist of a morning and an afternoon session.

Eighty students have registered for the tests and others who may wish to take the examination must register in room 308, Bessey Hall or in Room 3 (basement) of the Administration building before January 10.

Cercle Francais Will Meet Today To Plan Activities

A special business meeting of Cercle Francais has been called for 4 p. m. Thursday in room 313 of the Union to discuss a project of relief packages for France, a dinner to be held early in the second semester and the constitution of the organization.

Because of the importance of these matters to all members, everyone is urged to be present. Refreshments will be served.
