Junior Ak-Sar-Ben Show Planned for March 14-15

Plans to hold the 13th Junior Ak-Sar-Ben in mid-March on Ag campus were announced today by show manager Willard Visek. Main attractions of the two day event will be a ball, tentatively set for Friday, March 14, and a show Saturday, March 15.

Junior Ak-Sar-Ben gives Ag students an opportunity to demonstrate showmanship ability in competition for the title of grand champion student showman of the University. Sheep, beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs and horses will constitute the divisions this year.

Fitting and care given the animal before the date of the show will be scored and considered along with the contestant's ability in the ring, Visek explained. Premiums will be given to division winners who will compete for the grand championship.

Regular Classes.
Special events will be interspersed with the regular classes to fill out the evening program, which will be climaxed by presentation of the cup to the grand champion showman.

Junior Ak-Sar-Ben is sponsored by the Nebraska chapter of the National Block and Bridle Club. This club, composed of students interested in animal husbandry, has a membership of 45 men this year. In addition to Junior Ak-Sar-Ben, its sponsorships include: Honors banquet, Feeders day barbecue, Student Livestock judging contest and Senior Livestock judging team.

Chairman.

Committee chairmen this year are: Merle Brinegar, ball manager; Frank Loeffel, tickets; Ned Raun, ringmaster; Charles Brim and Dale Landgren, publicity; Wilbur Bluhm and Dick Johnson, special events; Bob Hamilton, custodian; Clyde Maddocks, uniforms.

Men interested in showing will register from Thursday, Feb. 6 through Wednesday, Feb. 12, at the animal husbandry office. Numbers of animals will be posted Thursday, Feb. 13.

Home Ec Style Show Planned For February

Home Ec Club's annual style show will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 13, in the Student activities building, according to Priscilla Flagg, club president.

General chairman of the show are Roberta Faes and Phyllis Ross representing the Home Economics Club and Jane Little, Virginia Hall and Elsie Barnesberger, of the clothing department.

Cloths from the clothing classes will model the clothes they have made. The show will be open to the public.

Officers Elected For Gamma Delta

YM-YW Install New Officers For Semester

Ag YM-YW officers for 1947-48 were installed this week at an impressive candlelight service held at the First Evangelical church. The new officers were previously chosen at a student election.

Lighted candles, symbolizing their respective duties and responsibilities, were presented to the new officers by their predecessors. Gordon Lippitt, executive secretary of the University YMCA, gave a talk on the necessity of enlarging the scope of the organizations.

New YW officers include: Bernice Young, president; Florence Arnold, vice president; Lillian Lock, secretary; Lois Thorsinnson, treasurer; and Marilyn Lyness, district representative.

YM officers are: Don Meaders, president; Keith Frederickson, vice president; Virgil Ganzel, secretary; Dale Stauffer, treasurer; and Ralph Johnson, district representative.

The new officers will be supplemented by appointees to form YM-YW cabinets which will direct the activities of the associations for the coming year.

National Guard Announces Air Training Plans

Veterans and non-veterans alike are eligible for enlistment and pay under the National Guard air training program initiated at the Lincoln Air Base, according to Edward Mueller, campus representative of the 173rd fighter squadron.

A special program has been established to train enlistees in the specialty of their choosing. Those who qualify will be required to attend a minimum of one drill period a week.

Free transportation from the Lincoln postoffice and pay for each drill period is authorized. University students with experience in radio, radar, engineering, armament, ordnance, weather or administrative specialties are needed for the 222nd Air Service group, Mueller said.

Further information may be obtained from Captain Davis at the Lincoln Air Base. Those interested may inquire at one of the regular Monday night drill periods.

1940 he was baritone soloist in the oratorio "The Creation" and in a concert version of "Carmen."

Margaret Shelley, who has the lone feminine role in the opera, is best known on campus for the incidental piano music she plays during the coffee hour in the Union lounge each Sunday. She served as accompanist for the chorus directed by Robert Shaw at the Nebraska Music Educator's Clinic this fall. A senior, she directs a girls' choir at Grace Methodist church.

Mr. Rouch, also a "Messiah" soloist, was a member of the army medical corps for two and a half years, serving in New Guinea's Port Jungle hospital. He is vice president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia musical fraternity.

Organized Agriculture Meetings End Today

The accent was on the probable trends of livestock prices and new textiles for the homemaker, as the Organized Agriculture meetings opened Tuesday at the Ag college. It was predicted that livestock prices will go down while textile prices will rise.

Prof. Frank Miller, rural economist at the University of Nebraska, told the livestock men that it appears that livestock prices will recede from present levels as 1947 progresses. Pressure, he said, will be heaviest on cattle prices. The drop may be as much as 20 percent but it "is not likely to be precipitous unless we have a sharp business depression and widespread unemployment."

Five Factors.

The economist said at least five factors will influence livestock prices in the future. They were listed as: Number of slaughter grade animals offered for sale; level of employment; government expenditures to supply our armed forces; foreign loans and competition of other products.

Miss Mary Guthrie, member of the University home economic staff, forecast that most cottons will be plentiful in the future, except combed broadcloth for shirts. She forecast a favorable outlook for rayon and said that it will continue to gain in importance at the expense of natural fibers. "Raw silk will remain a luxury item," Miss Guthrie added.

Three foreign students at the University of Nebraska presented greetings to the Home Economics association this morning. They were Miss Mei Yu Chen of China; Miss Margarida Davis of Brazil; and Miss Georgette Thouri of Lebanon.

Roberts Named As Instructor On Ag Faculty

Lyle Roberts has been named instructor of animal husbandry replacing Oscar Tegmeier who left the university to operate a farm. An animal husbandry major, Mr. Roberts, received his Bachelor of Science degree from the university in 1940.

Mr. Roberts was a vocational education instructor at Laurel, Nebraska, before entering the navy. Commissioned as a navigator in 1942 he spent next three years flying N. A. T. S. routes in the South Pacific. After separation he was employed by the Omaha Journal Stockman.

As a member of the senior livestock and meats judging teams, Roberts received national recognition by placing first in all classes at the International livestock exposition. His student activities included president of Block and Bridle, animal husbandry club, and membership in Farm House Fraternity.

Home Ec Officers Installed; Plan Breakfast Sunday

Priscilla Flagg, president; Marianne Srb, vice president; Lillian Lock, secretary; Donna Gorham, treasurer, and Donna Lu Johnson, historian, new officers of the Home Economics Club, were installed this week.

The new and old Home Economics Club council members have been invited to a breakfast Sunday at the home of Miss Margaret Fedde, chairman of the Home Economics Department.
