

Cornhuskers Lose To Cyclones, 56-54 Contest in Last Minute Iowa State Wins Big Six

BY GEORGE MILLER

Iowa State's Ray Wehde and Nebraska's Rodney Cox hooked up in a personal scoring duel Monday night at the coliseum, but the Cyclone ace had a more potent supporting cast and Iowa State handed the Huskers a heart-breaking 56-54 defeat before 5,500 fans.

A bucket by John Sheperd from the right of the free throw circle with 20 seconds left broke a 54-54 deadlock and gave Coach Louie Menze's outfit the necessary points for a Big Six victory.

It was a pair of Cyclone substitutes, the only two that got into the game, that sparked a late rally to bring the Iowans back into the lead. A determined Husker spurt early in the second half had wiped out the Iowa State 26-23 halftime lead.

John Sheperd, reserve guard, supplied the points that dumped the Scarleters from a shot at a conference first division berth. He preceded his game-winning basket with another two-pointer which pushed the red-clad visitors into a 53-52 advantage.

The other Cyclone sub, Forward Jim Myers, found the range in the last six minutes of play and poured five consecutive points through the hoop to offset the Nebraska scoring.

Ray Wehde, who teamed with brother Roy at the forward spots for the minners, netted a total of 23 points during the tilt, while slender Rodney Cox came to life on the coliseum court for the first time this season as he rattled the bucket with 20 counters.

Husker Swing.

In the first five minutes of the second half Coach Harry Good's charges had erased a four point Iowa State lead and had built up a 38 to 30 margin. Claude Retherford, Bob Cerv and Joe Brown did their bit in the early surge after Cox hed kept the Huskers in contention with 13 points during the first half.

However, the Cyclones kept hammering away at the Husker lead and knotted the count at 45-all with seven and one-half minutes to go. A free throw and a field goal by Ray Wehde pulled the Ames aggregation even with Nebraska and set the stage for See (CYCLONES WIN) Page 3.

AWS Clinic On Vocations Opens Today

Miss Irma Kyle, director of the university school of nursing, will speak to university women on the nursing profession at the first of a series of vocational guidance lectures sponsored by the AWS at 5 p. m. today in Ellen Smith hall. Miss Josephine Zastera will assist Miss Kyle.

General requirements, advantages and opportunities in the nursing field will be discussed by Miss Kyle, in an effort to make clear what is expected of girls in the profession. Miss Zastera, a senior student nurse, will talk on the training and social life of nurses.

Intended to give guidance to girls who are undecided as to which field of work to enter, the lecture series will consider requirements and opportunities in various professions.

Emphasis will be placed upon the transition period from college training to actual work in the field.

The lectures will be open to all university women, and those attending will be given an opportunity to ask questions of the speakers.

Beauty Queens To Rule Friday At Tea Dance

Finalists To Be Revealed In Valentine Day Setting

The eight 1947 Beauty Queens will be presented to the student body on Friday afternoon at the Valentine Tea Dance in the Union ballroom.

Set in a Valentine's day theme, the color scheme will be red and white with added adornment in the form of photographs of the sixteen Beauty Queen candidates displayed on the walls. From these photographs eight girls were selected as the cream of Nebraska's beauty crop by artist Jon Whitcomb. The finalists will be escorted by the eight Eligible Bachelors who were chosen at the Mortar Board dance.

Presentation.

The beauties will make their appearances when they step thru a large heart-shaped entrance to highlight the three to six p. m. tea dance. This all-university function, sponsored annually by the Cornhusker and the Student Foundation, will feature Dave Haun's orchestra for dancing and background music. Students may "come as they are" direct from classes. To allow for a maximum amount of pleasure for students attending, only 1,000 tickets will be sold. No ticket will be sold at the door and when all tickets are sold, no more will be printed. Tickets are selling at 50 cents per person, which includes refreshments of brownies and cokes.

Interfraternity Queen Position Now Abolished

There will be no interfraternity queen this year for the first time in the history of the fraternity dances. Because sororities opposed an open-door election, the council has decided to eliminate this honorary position.

No band has yet been signed to play for the interfraternity ball scheduled for Feb. 28 in the Turnpike, however, Ray Spurek, chairman of the band committee, will announce the orchestra as soon as one can be contracted.

The dance, which is formal, is open to all fraternity men and their dates. Ticket prices will be set when the band has been selected. Mark Hargrave is serving as publicity chairman for the affair.

Jerry Gill Elected Church Club Head

Jerry Gill was installed president of the Newman club at the meeting held Sunday afternoon.

Other officers installed were Pat Bussey, vice president; Paul Grosserode, treasurer and Elaine Budler, secretary. Elected to serve on the executive board were Joe Bednarski, Gerry Colgan, Margaretta O'Connell and Pat Meehan.

Chancellor Talks At Convo Today

'Science, Religion' Subject of Speech

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson will address the student body on "Science and Religion" at the first All-University convocation of the semester today at 11 a. m., in the Union ballroom.

The convocation will give students an opportunity to hear the Chancellor speak for the first time to the complete student body. Instructors are permitted to dismiss their classes with the approval of department heads, Dr. Rosenlof announced.

Great Forces.

In a statement to the Daily Nebraskan, the Chancellor said, "Science and religion are the two greatest forces in the world. The kind of world we will have will be determined by the allegiance and guidance we give to them."

The Chancellor will define the terms "science" and "religion," and will discuss the differences between science and art, some of the implications of science, and the need for world control of science.

Athletic System.

Defining religion as "living a good life in a world made good," Chancellor Gustavson will discuss the problem presented by the present athletic system. "The problem is whether we are to have amateur athletics where the emphasis is placed on the enjoyment gained by the players or subsidized athletics which will give us the best possible teams. This can be answered by first determining what kind of a world we are trying to get," he stated.

He expressed the hope that students would air their opinions concerning the issues discussed by writing letters to the Daily Nebraskan. In view of the probable consequences of having a non-subsidized athletic program, Dr. Gustavson raised the question, "Would university students allow the top athletes in Nebraska to go elsewhere?"

Hall Will Address Teachers' Group

Dr. William Hall, associate professor of education, psychology and measurements will address the monthly meeting of Pi Lambda Theta, Teachers College honorary professional sorority, tonight at 7 p. m. in Union Parlor Y.

Miss Mary Mielong, sponsor, urged all members to attend.

Encyclopedia Scholarship Given to UN

Teachers to Study Visual Education

The university has been chosen to receive 1947 scholarship grants for the Encyclopedia Britannica Film's third annual summer school scholarships, Dr. Stephen M. Corey, of the University of Chicago, has announced.

Scholarship recipients will enroll in a summer course on the utilization of audio-visual instructional movies, of which Dr. Corey is director.

Dr. Corey is chairman of the committee which selected ten colleges and universities, in addition to the University of Chicago, to represent every section of the country in awarding these scholarships. Qualified teachers and educators will be picked by administrators of each college or university for the scholarships, Corey said.

Those especially interested in this scholarship grant will be teachers who have the responsibility for an audio-visual instruction program in their regular teaching program.

Nebraskans interested in obtaining an application for scholarships should write to Frank E. Sorenson, Teacher's College, University of Nebraska. Last summer, 34 educators were awarded scholarships and studied at the Universities of Chicago and Wisconsin and Indiana University.

This year's selections were picked by a committee headed by Corey and including: W. A. Wittich, University of Wisconsin; L. C. Larson, Indiana University; Charles F. Hoban, jr., Philadelphia Board of Education; and Francis W. Noel, California State Department of Education, Sacramento.

Annual Grants.

Grants will be given annually on a rotating basis to the following schools: University of California, Berkeley; University of Texas, Austin; Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York; Central Michigan College of Education, Mount Pleasant, Michigan; University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota; University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge; University of Southern California, Los Angeles; Stanford University, Stanford, California; University of Kansas, Lawrence; and the University of Chicago.

Ag Grange Will Hear Miyamoto

Cornhusker grange will meet in Animal Husbandry hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p. m., Dale E. Weese announced today.

James K. Miyamoto, ag college senior, will be the featured speaker. His topic will be "Japan as Seen by a Nisei." He will also present some of the problems of the Nisei in the United States.

Mr. Miyamoto served in the intelligence corps during the war and spent some time in Japan with the army of occupation.

US Students To Organize Action Group

The first national convention of the newly-formed Students for Democratic Action, an outgrowth of the United States Student Assembly, will be held in Washington, D. C., March 28-30, in an endeavor to set up an organization for college students all over the nation.

The SDA will unite the students of the United States and will try to expand the nation's program of social legislation, protect civil liberties, and extend the four freedoms to all peoples.

The SDA was founded at a conference of the Americans for Democratic Action on Jan. 4 of this year. Some of the well-known leaders of the country who helped to found the organization are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Walter Reuther, James Carey, Frank Graham and Walter White.

Skokan Names Assistant Staff

Dean Skokan, Cornhusker business manager, has announced that Priscilla Flagg and Delphine Ayers have been selected to be second semester assistant business managers.

The business assistants will be Raymond Biemond, Lois Henderson, Bob Hildebrand, Karl Linke, jr., Frank Skokan, Art Tirro, Cherie Viele, Richard Wahlstrom and Tad Ward.

A general organization meeting of the business staff will be held this afternoon at 2:00 in the Cornhusker office.

All-University Convo

"Instructors may dismiss their classes for the All-University convocation at the discretion of the instructor with the approval of the head of the department," according to Dr. Rosenlof, Registrar.
