

Phyl Harris Goes To KU Festival

UN Homecoming Pep Queen Invited To Participate in Swing Celebration

Phyllis Harris, the homecoming Pep Queen, has been selected to represent the university at the Kansas University Sweetheart Swing Festivity day on Saturday, Feb. 15.

The Kansas Memorial Union board has also extended an invitation to eight other Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska universities to send one woman delegate, preferably a homecoming queen, to this annual celebration.

Activities.

Since Miss Harris is Nebraska's Pep Queen, she was automatically chosen to represent the university. Active in Tassels, Phyllis is AWS treasurer, a member of Coed Counselors, YWCA and Alpha Chi Omega, social sorority.

Festivity day will include the Kansas-Nebraska basketball game, a parade, luncheon and reception, all of which the delegates will attend.

Miss Patricia Lahr, Union director, received the invitation and Marjorie Johnson, dean of women, has approved the delegation.

T.K.E. Actives To Organize Frat At UN

Active members of Tau Kappa Epsilon, men's social fraternity met Tuesday night to make plans to reactivate on the university campus.

Pledging, which is scheduled to begin next week, will be in charge of Bill Poe and Bill Leonard. The chapter will be established first as a colony and will become an active chapter in May.

Tau Kappa Epsilon was active on this campus from 1923 until 1937. Founded in 1899 at Illinois, there are 43 active chapters and four colonies.

At the Tuesday smoker, Gene Mitchell was mistress of ceremonies. Other entertainment was provided by Nancy Pierson, Rosemary McMann, Jeanne Hickey and Betty Stanton.

Chinese Student Registers Here

Yuen Chiu, one of nine Chinese students receiving a fellowship from the United States Department of State as part of its program of cultural relations with China, has registered as a student in the university.

The students were selected by the U. S. Embassy in China. Mr. Chiu graduated from the University of Nanking in 1932 and has since been associated with the Chinese National Agricultural Research Bureau.

For the past three years he has been head of the Division of Food Crops.

Mr. Chiu is majoring in plant pathology.

Vets' Panel Discussions Aired Today

'Russia' Selected As Forum Topic

"Is Russo-American Cooperation Possible" will be discussed on "Veterans' Views" forum in the Union lounge this afternoon, according to Bud Levinson, director of radio for Univets.

The first 15 minutes of the radio forum will be taken up by four qualified speakers giving their opinion on the question.

Professor Hill.

Professor Norman Hill, specialist on international relations of the university political science department, will be the first panel speaker.

Russian born Dr. M. K. Elias, paleontologist in the university division of conservation and survey, will follow Hill at the microphone.

Greenberg and Schupbach.

Two veteran students, Walter Greenberg, senior in business administration, and Paul Schupbach, junior in arts and sciences, are other speakers on the panel.

Greenberg served in the ETO and attended two weeks of the conference of foreign ministers in Paris before returning to the United States.

Worked with Russians.

Schupbach worked on the staff of the allied command and for a considerable time worked directly with the Russians.

Levinson feels that these men are particularly well qualified to speak on the subject as well as answer questions that are asked them by members of the audience.

This program is a regular Thursday afternoon feature, Levinson said. "Can Juvenile Delinquency be abolished?" will be discussed next week.

Welfare Group Plans Forums

Religious welfare council representative or all religious groups on the campus, has approved the organization of three all-campus discussion groups which will start on Wednesday, Feb. 19 and will be held for six successive weeks.

Co-chairmen appointed to the planning committees and the groups they will organize are Joe Ishikawa and Dorothy Weiland, Christian Faith and Action; Elmer Sprague and Myrlee Holler, Bible study; Nels Wodder and Gergette Houri, marriage.

Also named were a student pastor and faculty member for each committee. Those selected for their respective positions were: Mildred Taylor and Dr. Elliott, Christian Faith and Action; and Rev. Mr. Hawkins and Dr. C. H. Patterson, Bible study; Rev. Mr. Howells and Professor Hall, marriage.

The discussion group leaders have not yet been definitely decided upon, but will be announced next week.

Engineering Grads of UN Read Papers

Two electrical engineering graduates of the university, Jay W. Forrester, and George R. Kilgore, will read papers at the National Institute of Radio Engineers to be held March 6-8 in New York City.

Graduating "with distinction" in 1939, Mr. Forrester is formerly of Anselmo. He will discuss "The Electronic Digital Computers."

Mr. Kilgore will speak on "A Frequency - Mulated Magnetron for Super-High Frequencies" and "High Transconductance Design Considerations." Mr. Kilgore is formerly of Fremont and graduated in 1928.

Mr. Forrester is in charge of the Servo-Mechanisms laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Kilgore is a research engineer in the radiotron division of the Radio Corporation of America.

Two Debate Teams Leave For Denver

Four members of the varsity debate squad accompanied by Director of Debate Donald O. Olson left yesterday to represent the university at the Rocky Mountain Speech conference in Denver this weekend.

The two teams are made up of Ted Sorensen and Donald Kline; and Leo Ramer and Gayle Stahl.

States Represented.

Schools from the entire western part of the United States will be represented in Denver. Southern California, Stanford, Utah, Brigham Young, Idaho, Colorado State, Chicago and other universities in Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, Illinois and Colorado have sent teams in past years.

Included in the program, which will last from Thursday noon until Saturday, will be debate, discussion, news commentary, original oratory, and after dinner speaking. The conference will be under the supervision of Wilson B. Paul and Elwood Murray of the University of Denver.

MEN'S ACTIVITIES

There will be a meeting of the Men's Activities Board at 5 p. m. today in the Faculty Lounge, Bill Thornberg, president of Innocents, announced.

Council Refuses Point Recognition

Proposed Activities Control Plan Suffers Temporary Jolt

A move to reactivate the men's activity point board yesterday received a temporary set-back yesterday as the student council voted refusal of recognition on the recommendation of the council's judiciary committee.

Heated debate marked an otherwise usual council meeting as various members voiced their opinions on the subject. Objections were raised to the creation of a special board and during the discussion following, suggestions were made that the Innocents Society, senior men's honorary, be given the responsibility of governing men's activities. Response to this suggestion was mixed.

Lack Information.

Almost unanimous lack of information on the part of the council members succeeded in bogging down discussion, the final motion for adjournment coming almost instantaneously with the motion for rejection. Several council members had left the room before the meeting had adjourned.

The council's refusal will send the constitution back to the group headed by Bill Thornberg, Innocent president. The aim of the board is to prevent over-pointing and in so doing, prevent a small group of men from dominating activities and overloading themselves unnecessarily.

chaplain, will speak at the Sacrificial Breakfast to be held Sunday morning.

The breakfast, which is sponsored by the Religious Welfare Council, will be held in room 313 of the Union at 8:15. Money from the tickets will go to the World Student Christian Federation. This organization promotes the further education of students who have had all books and buildings destroyed.

Coed Queens Will Appear At Tea Dance

Identity of eight coed beauties, a secret since December, becomes public tomorrow afternoon at the annual Cornhusker Beauty Queen presentation tea dance, 3 to 5 p. m. in the ballroom.

Pictures of 16 Nebraska coeds were mailed last December to artist Jon Whitcomb, illustrator of the popular "Back Home for Keeps" pinups. Whitcomb picked 8 photographs, most beautiful in his opinion, to be the 1947 Nebraska beauty queens. Pictures of the eight will appear in the yearbook this spring.

"This is not a formal," Delphine Ayers, publicity chairman, declared, "This is a tea dance. Students may come direct from classes, in street clothes. The important thing is to be there."

Tea dance tickets, selling at 50 cents apiece, are available at the Union booth.

Curtain Rises Tonite on Three One-Act Plays

Tonight at 7:30 the curtain will rise on the Experimental Theater's seventh production of the year. Presented in the Studio Theater of the Temple building, the production consists of three one-act plays.

In James Parrish's "Just Off Piccadilly," the characters present a study in moods in the eerie surroundings of an empty house just off Piccadilly Square in London. Merle Stalder will play The Man; Beverly Cummins, The Woman; and Don Johannes, The Stranger. Clarence Flick is the director of the play.

Tennessee Williams' "27 Loads of Cotton" tells a highly dramatic story of a group of southern cotton gin workers. The play is divided into three scenes with the front porch of a home in southern Mississippi as the scene of action. Included in the cast are Blanche Duckworth as Flora; Henry Lee, Jake; and Dean Graunke, Viccaro. The play is under the direction of Herb Spence.

The scene of William Saroyan's "The Hungerers," is set in a writer's room somewhere in the great metropolis of New York City on a rainy afternoon in late fall. John McDonald will play the part of the young capitalist; Gaylord Marr, the writer; Joan Lewis, the girl; and Dorothy Lasher, the old woman. Avrum Bondarin, director of the play, will be seen as the stagehand.
