

International Panel Given High Rating NCC to Establish Info Committees

One of the more important panels at the Chicago Student Conference was Panel III, which was concerned with Student Needs and Responsibilities in International Affairs.

Realizing the existence of a universal student community, it was decided that it should be the aim of the NSO to make the greatest possible contribution to that community. In order to do this, it was decided that:

The NCC should establish a temporary committee to act as a clearing house of information for student exchange, travel, relief, and rehabilitation.

All of this activity should be leading to the establishment of a permanent agency that would concern itself with foreign student exchange and travel, but until that is established, it is necessary that the NCC co-operate with the existing organizations doing similar work; particularly such groups as the American Youth Hostels, who are at present trying to obtain liberty ships to facilitate cheap student travel.

It was suggested that the NCC establish a group composed of students and faculty to develop closer ties of friendship and understanding with foreign students in this country. It was also suggested, for the purpose of establishing closer cultural relations between students and faculty of the various countries, that the NSO could, for example, call a meeting of all music students in this country for the purpose of exchanging ideas and discussing topics of general interest, and also possibly adopting foreign music conservatories in foreign countries.

It was suggested that the NCC should study the possibility of sending delegates to the World Youth Festival in Prague and should publicize this festival. One of the future articles in this series will be devoted to a detailed description of the festival.

Included in the preparations for increased student exchange, the NCC is carrying out a complete investigation of the Fulbright law and the Bloom bill, which may be used to facilitate this end. The NCC is also providing a bureau that will disseminate and publicize information about courses, opportunities for specialization in foreign universities and colleges for American students and perform the same service for foreign students. Another committee for the distribution of foreign student publications and information on foreign students is also being established.

Relief for foreign countries was discussed, with the recommendation emerging that the NSO should favor the principles of need alone as the basis of distribution of relief. It was further recommended that the NCC should investigate into the problem of co-operation with World Student Relief and should investigate the means of co-operation with the World Student Service Fund for collection of relief funds in this country.

Regarding affiliation with the recently formed International Union of Students, Panel III passed this resolution: "Whereas there is general agreement on the principle of participation in the IUS, and whereas there is disagreement on the specific basis of such participation, therefore be it resolved that the NCC consider reports of this conference with a view to ascertain under what specific conditions the NSO should affiliate with the IUS."

In the interim period it was decided that the NCC should pay for the sending of the ISU vice-president, who is an American, to Prague, and that the NCC should take proper steps to insure that American students are well represented in the IUS and should send the American council members to the council meeting this summer.

Nebraskan To Establish Ag Fellowship

Dr. Arthur William Sampson, University of California professor and former Nebraskan, has established a fund with the University of Nebraska Foundation, income from which will eventually produce a $500 annual fellowship.

Dr. Sampson, head of the Forestry Department of the University of California College of Agriculture, received his B. S. degree in 1907 and M. S. degree in 1909 from the University of Nebraska. He is a former resident of Oakland, Nebraska.

To be known as the "Arthur

William Sampson Fellowship in Nebraska Pasture Management," the award this year will total $300. The remaining $200 of the initial gift will be invested as principal by the Foundation. Dr. Sampson plans subsequent gifts to permit an eventual $500 annual income.

Recipients of the fellowships will be graduate students seeking advanced degrees in botany or agronomy, who have a special interest in pasture management in Nebraska. Heads of the departments of agronomy and botany, and three faculty members appointed by the Dean of the college of Agriculture will select the recipients.
