

Open Essay Contest For Art Opinions Prizes Offered At U.N. Exhibit

To stimulate interest in the Nebraska Art association's 57th annual exhibition opening at Morrill hall on March 3 for three weeks, the art department again this year is offering prizes for the best student-written articles on the exhibition of contemporary American art.

The prizes include original etchings, lithographs and silk screen prints made by members of the art department faculty. Articles written for the competition are not to be research papers, but original compositions based on personal reactions and attitudes of the students, and must be suitable for publication.

Submit to Papers.

Prize winning articles will be submitted to the Daily Nebraskan and the Lincoln Newspapers for publication. Mrs. Paul Royal, president of the Lincoln Artists' Guild, will be the final judge.

All university students are admitted free to the exhibition, upon presenting their identification cards, during regular gallery hours which are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, 2 to 6 p. m., Sundays. Tuesdays, galleries will remain open until 9:30 p. m.

Rules.

Rules for the competition, which will be in two classes, those written by students in general and those by art majors, are:

1. All undergraduate students taking at least twelve hours credit are eligible.
2. Articles should be between 500 and 1,000 words in length, and must be clearly written or typed, double-spaced, on one side of the paper only.
3. Articles must be endorsed on the back of the last page with name and address of the entrant, and name of his major subject or college in the university.
4. Entries must be at the Art Department office, Room 207, Morrill Hall, before 5 p. m. Monday, March 17.

Dial Twistings . . .

BY LEE HARRIS.

With the weather outside "frightful" and fire inside so "delightful," many students soon turn to the radio as a form of amusement and quick relaxation. All they have to do is to flip on the switch and tune in on their favorite mystery, love, or news program in order to receive the tops in entertainment.

In order to make your task of selecting the top programs a pleasant one and to give you more time for pure enjoyment, here are a few of the top notch programs of the day.

Early Birds.

For those early birds who faithfully trip on their merry way to catch an 8:00 o'clock class morning after morning, try dialing KFAB, 1110 on your dial, at 7:30 each morn and lend an ear to the Lew Parker Comedy Show which will put you in a gay way for the day. After this five minute outburst of laughter and gaiety, stay tuned to KFAB for at 7:40 the latest weather report will be announced and those who are unlucky enough to have to brave the cold winter mornings will not have to use the trial and error method in selecting their early morning garb.

Probably one of the best morning programs on the air today may be heard over KFOR, 1240 kilocycles, each week day at 8:15.

Referring to the Breakfast Club featuring Don McNeil, one of the most popular M.C.s in radio. The Breakfast Club is a fast 45 minute show and is guaranteed to snap you out of your early morning lethargy. At 10:00 KFOR offers Tom Brenneman on his Breakfast from Hollywood program. Tom holds his show in his own restaurant in the picture city and for genuine good humor he can't be topped.

Dual Appetites.

For those who enjoy dual appetites at lunch time, one food and the other for the latest news. Baukhage speaks at noon over the ABC network. If it is reality you like, don't miss another ABC program heard on KFOR, Bride and Groom, at 1:30 each day. Here an actual marriage ceremony is performed and broadcast from coast to coast.

At 5:30 Jack Wells is heard over KFAB with his songs "both old and new." Following this 15 minutes local feature, Bob Trout reviews the latest news.

Evening radio listeners will find many of the best shows in radio on the air tonight. Station KFAB features Jack Carson's Fun Show at 7:00, Dr. Christian at 7:30, a quick five minute news summary by Bill Henry at 7:55, and Bobby-Sox Thriller . . . Golden toned Frank Sinatra at 8:00.

Budget . . .

Nebraska agriculture and industry in the next two years. This will consume $1,850,000 of the university budget.

Public Relations.

The University also hopes to strengthen its program of public services to the people of the state. It is estimated this will require $1,697,000.

Due to the war, many university buildings, and the grounds which surround them, have deteriorated rapidly because of lack of materials and manpower. To "catch up," and to meet day to day requirements, the university has allocated $1,100,000 for maintenance and repair for the next two years. The remaining five per cent of the budget will go for administrative expenses for the university as a whole.

Correction

The Interfraternity ball scheduled to be held Friday night at the Turnpike will be semi-formal, not formal, as reported in Tuesday's Daily Nebraskan.

Two Women Will Receive Scholarships

Two senior girl scholarships of $75 in recognition of meritorious efforts in school life and scholastic attainments have been offered by the Faculty Women's club.

Any girl attending the university who has sufficient hours to graduate in June, 1948, or at the end of the summer session of 1948, is eligible for one of these scholarships. Requirements are that a candidate must be wholly or partially self-supporting and maintain an average of 85.

Candidates may secure application blanks at the offices of the Registrar, the Dean of Women or Miss Margaret Fedde, chairman of the home economics department. The applications must be mailed to Mrs. Norman Hill, 2924 South 26 street before March 15.

Before sending applications to the scholarship committee, candidates are requested to give the Registrar's office written permission to send their grades to the scholarship committee.

Personal interviews will be held in Ellen Smith hall on March 20 between 2 and 5 p. m. Special appointments may be arranged with Mrs. Hill if an applicant is unable to meet at the scheduled time.
