Elect Three Group Heads

Curley, Dye, Campbell Named AWS, Counselor, Barb Prexys

Casting the largest number of votes in the history of university women's elections, 900 coeds went to the polls yesterday to elect members to AWS, BABW, and Coed Counselor boards.

Elizabeth Curley was elected president of AWS. A former member of the AWS board, Miss Curley is on the student union board and participates in YWCA. Jean Compton, elected vice president, is also a former board member, and was Coed Follies chairman this year. Miss Compton is also on the Cornhusker staff and Student Council.

Mary Ann Campbell is the new president of BABW. Miss Campbell is vice president of Towne Club and has been a member of the BABW board for three years.

Mary Dye will head Coed Counselors for the coming year. Miss Dye has served on the Coed Counselor board and is a member of varsity debate.

New senior board members of AWS are Jean Chilquist, Jackie Gordon, Harriet Quinn, and Mims Weeth. Junior members include Phyl Harris, who will take the post of secretary, Jane McArthur and Anne Whitham. Sophomores who will serve on the board are Georgianne Rediger, treasurer, Nancy Glynn, Juanita Hanger, and Janet Stratton.

The two new senior board members of BABW are Lois Bamesberger and Janice Chappel.

Junior board members elected are Mary Lou Ferguson, Marian McElhaney, Mildred Quick, and Shirley Sabin. Sophomore board members include Elaine Lauer, Joan Leaming, Mary Travis and Irene Wellensick.

Senior board members for Coed Counselors are Joan Fankhauser and Marcia Mockett. Jeanne Branch, Nancy Gish, Jacqueline Wightman, Lois Gillette, Marian McElhaney, and Shirley Sabin serve as junior members.

Junior and senior women voted for May Queen from a list of seven candidates. The identity of May Queen will not be revealed until Ivy day.

Grad Student Attends Class In Airplane

Miss Mary Barstler, University faculty member, goes to class in an airplane.

The class is an off-campus speech correction clinic held once a week in Ogallala. Twenty Keith county teachers who have pupils with speech deficiencies attend the meetings.

Miss Barstler, a graduate assistant in the department of speech, also teaches at two other clinics, St. Paul and Omaha. During the current semester, the university is operating three similar clinics at Hastings, Grand Island and Fairbury.

Speech Aids.

All are designed primarily to help public school teachers in diagnosing and aiding children with such speech deficiencies as stuttering, according to Dr. L. T. Laase, speech department chairman. The clinics are sponsored by the university's extension division in cooperation with local agencies, the county superintendents office and by the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children.

The university also sponsors a speech correction clinic for adults and children during the regular school year, and a special summer clinic on the campus for children.

Art Department Schedules Series of Gallery Lectures

AUF Report Shows Total $50 Collected

Returns of the first day of the Red Cross drive show that an approximate sum of $50 has been solicited for the 1947 American Red Cross drive, and pledges amounting to $85 have been received from three women's organizations, according to Beth Norenberg, AUF treasurer.

A total of $38 was collected on the Ag campus, with the city campus reporting an amount less than $10. Pledges of $25 each have been made by Mortar Board and Tassels, with an amount of $35 pledged by Coed Counselors.

The booth in the Union is open all afternoon and through the dinner hour. Lincoln students and students not living in organized houses are urged to make their contributions at the booth, or to the AUF representatives assigned to collect from them.

Basil O'Connor, chairman of the A. R. C., announced that more than 161,000 veterans received financial assistance from the American Red Cross chapters during the past year to tide them over difficult periods.

Through the vast program of Home Service conducted by chapters throughout the country, Red Cross workers help veterans file disability claims with the government and help them obtain factual evidence needed to complete claims. If the veteran designates the Red Cross as his claims representative, Home Service provides further aid by enlisting the help of Red Cross field directors in Veterans Administration offices. An average of 30,000 veterans a month give the Red Cross their power of attorney.

Rey Appears With Guitar, Band Friday

America's number one guitarist, Alvino Rey, and his orchestra will play in the Union ballroom for an informal dance Friday night from 8 until midnight.

Tickets for the affair are on sale at both the ag and city campus Union offices at $5.00 per couple. Saes have been limited to 425 couples to assure those attending of ample space to dance. According to Miss Patricia Lahr, director of the Union, the price of the ticket will cover the evening's expenses.

No additional charges are to be made for tipping, cover charges or checking. Arrangements have been made to sell cokes, brownies and popcorn in the main dining room throughout the evening.

Risers to be Constructed.

Special risers will be constructed on the stage of the ballroom so that dancers may see the orchestra to best advantage.

Rey's orchestra features the singing voices of Jo Ann Ryan, Jimmy Joyce and the Blue Reys. Rocky Coluccio, pianist, and Luise King, harpist will also be spotlighted during the evening.

Miss Ryan made her singing debut with Gay Claridge's orchestra at the Hollywood Palladium in 1945. Since that time, she has
