Scott a Pseudonym.

Scott, who was born Harry Warnow, chose the Scott pseudonym from a Manhattan telephone directory to avoid confusing his name with that of his brother, Mark Warnow.

Getting his professional start in 1933 as a staff pianist for CBS, Scott played the piano for Andre Kostelanetz, Freddie Rich and Mark Warnow in the ensuing four years. Invited by CBS to build a small band, he organized the Raymond Scott Quintette. By 1937, Scott and his Quintette were under contract to Darryl F. Zanuck and David O. Sleznick.

Plays on Hit Parade.

In New York in 1938, he became musical director at CBS and appeared with his Quintette on the Hit Parade for nearly a year. He had organized his first "set" band by 1940 and began a nationwide tour. By 1942, he was back at CBS as musical director, and

NSO Schedules Regional Meet At Duchesne

On Dec. 28 to 30, 1946, 727 students, representing 303 colleges and universities and 28 national student organizations, met in Chicago for the Chicago Student conference for the purpose of establishing a National Student organization in the United States that would concern itself with the problems of all students.

Because it was discovered during the conference that there was an insufficient amount of time to carry this creation to completion, the National Continuations committee was established to act as a student organization and to draft a constitution for presentation to a constitutional convention that is to be held this summer. The country was divided into 30 districts. Regional chairmen representing each district are members of the NCC.

Conference Called.

A regional conference for the North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska region was called for March 8-9 at Duchesne college in Omaha.

At this regional conference, complete reports of the Chicago Student conference and the executive committee meeting of the NCC held March 1-3 in Chicago will be made, and the assembled delegates will have an opportunity to discuss what was accomplished at Chicago.

Discussions of all questions will be held, with panel meetings devoted to particular topics. A complete copy of the draft constitution will be presented to the group for discussion; all recommended changes will be put into resolution forms and will be presented to the next meeting of the NCC so that if the changes are found to be acceptable, they can be made before the document is presented to the nation-wide constitutional convention that is planned for this summer.

Permanent Chairman.

Another important reason for the calling of this conference is See NSO SCHEDULES, page 2.

Oldest UN Ag Employee Dies Friday

William W. Marshall, 83, the oldest employe at the college of agriculture, died at his home Friday morning. He had been ill only a few days and would have been 84 years old next month.

Marshall joined the staff of the ag college 52 years ago in 1895 and was executive clerk of the extension station when he retired in 1941. He continued on at his desk keeping regular office hours until a week ago.

the oldest employe of the college and his service to the institution was faithful and excellent. The campus was home to him and he was unselfish in his interests. Careful and meticulous in his work, he was an authority on the English language and had a reading knowledge of several others gained thru self education. All the faculty liked him personally and will miss him."

He was born in Cambridge, N. Y., in 1863, and with his family came to Pawnee City in 1874, and moved to Lincoln shortly after. He was a member of the First Church of The Nazarene.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Hodgman-Splains, Rev. W. E. Thompson officiating.

Home Ec Dep't Inspected By AHEA Group

Dr. Gertrude Chittenden of Iowa State college and Miss Edna Hill of the University of Kansas, representatives of an American Home Economics association committee which is studying criteria for evaluation of Home Economics programs, inspected the ag college Home Economics department March 6 and 7.

Dr. Chittenden and Miss Hill held a series of conferences with members of the Home Ec staff from which they collected data to be used with the hope of establishing some basis for accrediting Home Economics departments. No effort was made to judge or classify but rather to study the work that is being done.

Sixty institutions which have been selected as representative departments in land grant, liberal arts, teachers colleges and church schools will be visited by members of the committee.

Dr. Chittenden and Miss Hill were guests of the department at a luncheon held Friday.

AUF Makes Final Appeal For Funds

Contributions to the 1947 Red Cross fund totaled approximately $500 Saturday as members of the All University Fund made final requests for students to contribute donations so that the goal $1,800 may be reached before the drive ends Monday night.

The university's $1,800 fund will be its contribution to the $60,000,000 national goal to be used to carry on national and overseas work for the next fiscal year, 1947-48.

Uses of Donations.

Basil O'Connor, national Red Cross chairman, has pointed out that donations are used to supply clothing and food for children, as well as medicines for the sick in battle-scarred areas. In addition, the Red Cross carries on an extensive highway first aid program to help combat the mounting toll of traffic fatalities in the United States.

Time Booth Open.

The booth in the Union is open in the afternoons and through the dinner hour. Lincoln students and students not living in organized houses may make contributions at the booth, or to the AUF representatives assigned to collect from them. Individual solicitors have been assigned to organized houses.

Mary Claire Phillips is director of the AUF. Other officers are Beth Norenberg, treasurer, and Jean Chilquist, who is in charge of the clerical division.

More than 60 girls, affiliated with pep organizations, attended the conferences. Jackie Tobin was in charge of the skit presented at the luncheon. Those taking part were Joan Farrar, Jackie Wightman, Pat Guhin and Lois Thorfenson.
