

All University Students May Attend Junior-Senior Prom

All university students may attend this year's Junior-Senior Prom which will feature the music of Raymond Scott and his orchestra on March 22 in the Coliseum.

Tickets for this semi-formal affair went on sale today at $3 per couple and may be purchased from Masquers or at a booth in the Union.

From Girl.

One highlight of the evening's entertainment will be the presentation of the 1947 Prom girl. Announcement of candidates will be made as soon as filings are completed today, according to chairman Joan Ackerman. Other members of the committee are Dake Novotny, Bill Swanson, Jean Compton, Fred Teller, Bill Thornburg, Dina Buckingham, Darrell Devoe, Mary Dye and Pat Raum.

Those who are not acquainted with band-leader Scott's music may wish to deposit five cents in the Crib jukebox and hear one of his two recordings that are now on the machine.

Pseudonym.

The maestro, who was born Harry Warnow, chose the Scott pseudonym from a Manhattan telephone directory to avoid confusing his name with that of his brother, Mark Warnow of Hit Parade fame.

A 1946 Broadway season highlight was the score of the Mary Martin musical comedy hit, "Lute Song," composed by Scott.

A few of Scott's more famous compositions are "The Toy Trumpet," "Twilight in Turkey," "In an Eighteenth Century Drawing Room," "Enchanted Forest," "Siberian Sleigh Ride," and "Birdseed Special."

The Prom, which is the final university function of the year, will close the winter formal season.

Three Atom Entry Wins Announced

Malcolm Torgerson, David Innis and Miss Frances Cathcart were announced as first, second and third place winners, respectively, of the "Beginning or the End" contest, Monday.

Papers submitted were judged by a professor of the university's physics department, and decision was based upon "understanding of the nature of the secret" and a realization that our hope is in international control of some kind.

Only four of the 13 students who entered the contest felt that the United States should not reveal the secret of the atomic bomb to the rest of the world.

Torgerson won $25, Innis $15 and Miss Cathcart $10.
