Coast Guard Plans Annual Academy Tests

The U. S. Coast Guard Academy has announced the 1947 examinations for appointment as cadets.

Men accepted from these examinations will enter officer training in the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., which is considered to be one of the finest engineering schools in the nation. In time of peace the academy produces officers trained for a worthwhile lifetime career of protecting lives and property.

Physical and educational requirements are identical with those at West Point and Annapolis. However, appointment is by competitive examination and not by congressional appointment.

Applications for appointments will be received until April 1. Further information is available at coast guard headquarters, Washington 25, D. C.

Gladys Bliss Will Discuss Appearance

Miss Gladys Bliss of New York City, authority on grooming, will discuss "Your Appearance Counts" before women students at 7 p. m. Tuesday in Ellen Smith hall.

Sponsored by the Coed Counselors, Miss Bliss will illustrate her lecture with charts displaying facial contours and textile fabrics showing this season's fashion colors.

In her discussion, Miss Bliss will stress the care of skin, the art of make-up, hand care, the bath and personal daintiness, hair-styling to facial contours, exercise, posture, fashions and the selection and use of perfume.

Mary Dye, Coed Counselor president, has announced that Miss Bliss will be available for private consultation with students Wednesday and Thursday. Coeds who wish to make appointments, may fill out forms at the Tuesday lecture.

Ag Electives Open Spring Filings Today

Spring election filings open today on Ag campus for positions on four elective organizations, Student Council, Ag Exec Board, Farmers' Fair Board, and College Agriculture Fun Board, to remain open until 5 p. m. on Wednesday, March 26.

Candidates may file in Miss Wheeler's office, 203 Ag Hall, during regular office hours. Ag Student Union will be the scene, April 1, of election polls.

Positions.

Eighteen positions are open to filings. Two men and one woman will be elected from Ag to Student Council, an increase of one representative over last year, due to increased enrollment. One man and one woman from the present junior, sophomore and freshman classes will be elected to Ag Exec Board. The freshman and sophomore representatives will be elected by all students, men voting for men, women for women. Junior representatives, however, will be chosen by all students, regardless of sex.

All students will receive ballots to vote for Farmers' Fair Board candidates, three junior men and three junior women, as well as for Coll Agri Fun Board, to which two sophomore men and one sophomore woman will be elected. Class names listed here mean class standing as of this semester, not as of next year.

In addition to the two Ag college representatives now on Council, Ned Raun and Ruth Peters, present members of Ag Exec Board, will conduct the April election.

SAI Concert Offers Solo, Choral Sing

The first in a series of four spring concerts given each year by fraternal music groups on campus will be presented this Sunday at 4 p. m. in Temple Theater when Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority, offers a program of choral and solo numbers.

Directed by Donnie Wageman, the SAI chorus will sing five numbers including a "Benedictus" written especially for the chapter by graduate student Harry Harter, whose "Mystic Cherubim" was featured at the University Singers' Christmas Coral Concert this year. Arrangements of Debussy and Schumann songs will also be heard.

Six members will appear as soloists. Helen Laird, singing German songs by Schumann and Wagner, and Annette Jacobs, who will sing two songs, are the vocal soloists. Instrumental selections will be performed by pianists Gwendolyn Taylor and Arlene Kostal, trumpeter Margaret Modlin and marimbist Phyllis Fisher. The complete program lists: Sigma Alpha Iota Chorale, Blackburn; Sonata No. 2 in B flat major, Mozart; Arlene Kostal, Gwendolyn Taylor; Im Treibhaus, Wagner; Widmung, Schumann; Helen Laird. Concerts for Marimba, Creston; Adagio, Phyllis Fisher. A Snow Legend, Clokey; The Chime, Debussy; When at Dawn, Schumann; chorus. Since First I Met Thee, Rubinstein; Think on Me, Scott; Annette Jacobs. Introduction and Fantasy, Fitzgerald; Margaret Modlin. Benedictus, Harry Harter; chorus.

Steady Agitation Finally Pays Off

Dance Will Celebrate Final Completion of Ag Rendezvous

BY CHARLES BRIM

Culminating years of agitation by ag students and months of grappling with equipment shortages, the Ag Student Union will celebrate its completion with an open house tonight from 8 to 12 p. m., according to Mrs. Richard E. Hiatt, ag union director.

All university faculty members and students have been

MRS. RICHARD HIATT.

Chancellor Will Head Group to Study Schools

Governor Val Peterson appointed a committee yesterday to study relationships between the university and the four normal schools, and the possibility of equalizing enrolment among the five institutions.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson will serve as chairman of the committee with presidents of the four normal schools as members.

Joining with the governor to make the request the budget and education committees of the legislature directed the committee to study the situation and make recommendations not later than April 7.

In a letter addressed to committee members, the governor pointed out that the university was over-crowded while the normal schools are not, and that as a result "fine physical education plants, including in some instances, excellent dormitory space, are going to waste."

He further stated, "The contrasting situations at these institutions presents many problems to Nebraska and is of vital concern to the legislature currently in session and particularly to its budget committee now engaged in attempting to find funds to support higher educational institutions along with other state activities."

It was brought out at recent hearings before a legislative committee on the question of a constitutional amendment to bring the five institutions under one board that the university has the highest enrolment on record and in the next two or three years it is expected to go even higher. The normal schools, however, are operating at about one-half of their capacity.

invited to attend the open house which will feature a free dance from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Dave Haun and his orchestra will furnish the music. Jack Carson, uni- See AG UNION, Page 4

M. Campbell Installed As BABW Head

Mary Ann Campbell was installed as president and Vergene Kovarik as vice president of BABW at an installation dinner Wednesday night.

Other new board members include Janice Chappel and Lois Bamesberger, seniors; Marian McElhaney, Donna McCauley, Claudia Niederanders and Mildred Quick, juniors; Joan Leaming, Irene Wellensiek, Mary Travis and Elaine Lauer, sophomores. Four Barb Groups.

It was also announced that there are now four independent women's groups on the campus which are open to non-affiliated women students with on semester's work completed.

The four groups are: Adelphi, Hesperia, Kernels on the city campus, and Amikita on Ag campus. These groups will be presented at an informal open house Friday, March 28, from 3:00 to 5:30 at Ellen Smith. All non-affiliated women are invited to attend. The purpose of the open house is to acquaint students with the social opportunities these groups afford.

BABW is organized to promote and supervise groups of independent women and to encourage women to participate in extra-curricular activities. The sponsors of the BABW are Miss Marjorie Kuplic and Mrs. Marion Ellis.

Retiring board members include Alice Rife, Pat Neely, Jean Alloway, Harriet Maline, Lois Rockwell, Glendine Leonard, Mary Ann Graff, and Phyllis Nordin.
