

New Registration Procedures Start

Rosenlof Formulates Plan In City Campus Enrollment

To eliminate the bottleneck that has stymied past registrations, Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, registrar, has formulated a new procedure which will go into effect Monday morning.

Undergraduate city campus students, who wish to register for the fall or summer term must obtain appointment-to-register cards from the registrar's control office located off the ground floor lobby of Love Memorial library on a specified day this week. Each student will present his identification card before receiving his appointment.

Appointment Cards

Appointment-to-register cards are to be issued in the following order: March 24, those whose surnames begin with U, V, W, X, Y, or Z; March 25, F, G, H, I or J; March 26, P, Q, R, S or T; March 27, K, L, M, N or O; and March 28, A, B, C, D or E. Dr. Rosenlof has announced that the surname of students will be rotated each semester to give equal opportunities for early appointments.

As the plan has been set up, seniors will be given salmon colored appointment cards; juniors, yellow; and other students will receive white.

Students, who will receive degrees in 1947 or 1948 have been classified as seniors, and individuals, who plan to graduate in 1949, have been classified as juniors. Registration forms for this semester were used to de-

Registration Rules for Ag Campus Told

Registration procedures for the 1947 summer session and the fall semester will follow a somewhat different pattern on ag campus from those announced for the city campus, according to Dr. C. C. Wiggins, chairman of the ag registration committee.

Students registering for the summer and fall terms will confer with advisors on the following dates: Junior on April 14, 15 and 16; sophomores, April 17, 18 and 19 and freshmen on April 21 to 26.

The students schedule will be taken by the student to the Plant Industry building, room 104, for final checking for conflicts, closed sections, etc. This will complete registration so far as the student is concerned until the announced date for payment of fees.

A smaller number of students, fewer complications in the schedule, and a more adequate number of advisors eliminates the necessity of issuing "permit to register" cards. Consequently the student will need to arrange only for the registration conference with his or her advisor.

termine the classification of each person.

First Steps

The first step of the procedure is for the student to get his card and then make an appointment to meet his adviser. This appointment should be made just prior to the time he keeps his appointment with the assignment office. After the adviser has signed the form, it is to be taken to the office of Dean C. H. Oldfather for his signature. Final arrangements are completed in the assignment office. The drop and ad device that has been maintained in the past, will be retained.

Dr. Rosenlof reminded students that only appointment cards are to be issued this week. This preliminary step will be followed by the foregoing announcements when registration begins the week of April 14.

Because faculty staff members are able to handle a limited number of students per day, this procedure will enable the registrant to retain his appointment period without standing in line.

These regulations do not apply to students on the ag campus, and graduate students will not be required to make appointments.

University's Oldest Living Grad Dies

Chas L. Brainard, 77, Was First Ag Student

Charles L. Brainard, class of 1877, died in Denver Thursday. Mr. Brainard, who observed his 90th birthday in February, was the first student at the University's college of agriculture, and was the oldest living graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Working on a Nebraska farm in 1874, he read a circular telling of the university's purchase of a farm to be operated as an agricultural school and when operations began the next fall, he was the only registrant.

Mr. Brainard financed his education by working partime on the farm, and teaching three-month sessions in country schools, and graduated in 1877 when the university conferred four degrees.

In 1942 he attended the alumni association's Round Up to observe the 65th anniversary of his class. He was the honor guest Feb. 15 of the Denver Alumni club's annual Charter Day dinner observing the birthday of the university.

He had been making plans to attend the 1947 Round Up and commencement exercises at the university and observe the 70th anniversary of his graduation.

Mr. Brainard, who had been a Denver resident since 1918, was a contractor before his retirement.

He was the oldest living member of the Palladian Literary society.

Home Economics Club Holds Tea

Home Economics club will hold a silver tea Sunday, March 23, from 3 to 5 p. m. at Love Memorial Hall, Priscilla Flagg, Home Ec club president, announced Saturday.

The annual tea is held to raise funds for a scholarship which will enable a foreign student to attend the university. The Foreign Fellowship Committee of the Home Ec club hopes to raise $300 which will be matched by the American Home Economics association to establish the scholarship.

Miss Georgette Khouri of Beirut, Lebanon, is the present holder of the scholarship. Miss Khouri, who received a B. S. degree from the American University of Beirut, Lebanon is doing graduate work in Child Development.

Ag Fountain Named 'Dell'

"The Dell" will be the name of the new fountain room, it was announced at the ag union open house Saturday night. Lewis Kramer, chemical engineering student, submitted the winning entry.

An overflow crowd of 1500 people attended the open house which featured a free dance with music by Dave Haun and his orchestra.

Joan Fankhauser Named Prom Girl

Chapin Presents Queen At Junior-Senior Dance

Joan Fankhauser, junior, senior board member of Coed Counselors, managing editor of the Cornhusker and YWCA worker, was presented Saturday night at the coliseum as the 1947 Prom Queen.

After Don Chapin, president of the senior class, had welcomed upperclassmen attending the annual Junior-Senior Prom, he announced that Miss Fankhauser had won the election held Thursday afternoon. Chapin then presented Miss Fankhauser with an arm bouquet of red roses as she stepped from behind the stage curtains.

Priced at $1.80 per couple the tickets can be obtained from Ag Exec Board members, the ag or downtown Union, Ag Finance office and booths in Ag Hall and the Ag Union Tuesday and Thursday.

Johnny Cox and his orchestra will furnish music for the party which will be climaxed by the presentation of the Goddess of Agriculture and her six attendants.

Ag Exec Board, sponsoring organization, has voted that there will be no corsages for the party.

Grade Cards

Students, who did not call for first semester grade cards last week, may call for them immediately in the office of admissions in the administration building between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

The senior class president led her down the stairs and danced the first dance with her as a spotlight beamed on the couple.

Climax of Formal Season

Second inter-class prom since before the war, Saturday night's affair climaxed the university sponsored formal functions for the current year.

Four hours of Raymond Scott's music provided students with their fourth opportunity this year to dance on campus to a name band.

Miss Fankhauser was selected from a group of 21 candidates at a special election held in the Temple Thursday. Chapin and Dake Novotny, president of the junior class, presided at the meeting.

The 21 candidates nominated for the title were: Helen Bengston, Marian Campen, Helen Busacker, Mary Alice Caywood, Virginia Demel, Mary Esther Dunkin, Joan Fankhauser, Doris Frahm, Jackie Gordon, Mary Agnes Grosserode, Shirley Jenkins, Patricia Jensen, Patricia Johnson, Arlene Kostal, Getty Gustafson, Doris Martens, Connie Parsons, Helen Plasters, Jackie Scott, Shirley Schnittker and Arlis Swanson.

Laird Releases Population Data for Council Election

Population figures of colleges and specialized schools within the university on which representation to the Student Council will be based at the April elections were released by Council President Helen Laird at last Wednesday's Council meeting.

Varying from year to year according to general enrollment total and according to numbers of major and minor sex within each represented group, the elected Council membership plus hold-over members next year will be 33 members, whereas this year's Council totaled 27. By comparison, the student governing body elected in 1944 numbered 16, while that chosen in 1945 was 45.

The Council approved the request that the School of Journalism be allowed representation, since its enrollment figure now exceeds the population figure which entitles any college or school to representation, according to the Council constitution. The school will elect one man to the Council for the first time this year.

The only colleges whose representation total or sex ratio will remain the same are Pharmacy, Fine Arts, Dentistry, Law and Graduate college whose representation is fixed by Council constitution at one man and one woman representative. All other colleges will be affected, as the following table indicate:

College	47 46
	M	W	M	W
Ag	2	1	1	1
A & S	3	2	1	1
Bizad	3	0	1	1
Eng.	3	0	2	0

Teach.	1	2	0	2
F. A.	1	1	1	1
Dent.	1	0	1	0
Law	1	0	1	0
Grad.	1	1	1	1

Those wishing to file for any council position, for Publications Board, or for Ivy Day Orator may do so at the Student Activities office at the coliseum, or at Miss Wheeler's office in Ag Hall. Fillings close on both campuses at 5 p. m. Wednesday, March 26.
