

Student Council Lists Revisions Judicial Body, Officers, Election Dates Affected

Presented to the student body for approval Tuesday in addition to revisions regarding election publicity, will be revisions in the Student Council constitution, affecting the standing Judiciary Committee, the date of spring and fall elections, and Council officers. Several deletions in another article are requested by the Council.

In revising Article VIII, the Council seeks to enlarge its highest-ranking committee, the Judiciary Committee, to more effective proportions, and to enable juniors to serve on the committee so that it is possible to have holdover members, who would have valuable Judiciary Committee experience. As far as juniors are concerned, it serves a double purpose: to give them a voice on the committee, and to provide them with experience for their senior year. Totalling eight, the members include a holdover chairman, two other holdover members, three juniors, and one senior-at-large.

The revision adds a senior-at-large to the committee, again to increase the committee's authority. Moreover, the senior-at-large would become chairman of the committee "should a holdover member other than an officer of the Council not be available."

Date Changes.

The article in the By-Laws dealing with the dates of elections would be revised as a matter of convenience and efficiency. Present rulings allow the spring elections to be held as late as May 1. The Council feels, from experience, that such a late election not only is inconvenient, but delays the organization of each newly-elected council, and thereby its efficiency.

Fall election of senior and junior class officers is required to be held during the third week following registration. The Council feels that it is impossible for political parties to organize and for students to be acquainted with candidates in that length of time.

The revision would require the fall election "to be held the ninth Tuesday of the first semester, excluding registration week," and the spring election "not earlier than April 1st and not later than April 20th, the exact date between these limits to be determined by the Student Council."

Hoover Clarifies Process For Pre-Registrations

BY SAM WARREN.

Floyd W. Hoover, assistant to the Director of Admissions, in clarifying pre-registration procedure now in process declared yesterday, "Anything new is apt to bring confusion until people get used to it. This procedure will all begin to click as the date approaches for the Assignment Committee to meet."

"What complainers don't realize is that this university is too big to handle registration in a horse-and-buggy manner. We can't register 10,000 students in a day!" Despite the fun made over the new system, Mr. Hoover recalled, "One student said to me, 'Why it's simple when you read the instructions.'"

Cards.

Colored cards obtained at the library are not appointment cards with one's advisor, he reminded students, but rather an appointment card with the assignment committee to save the student's the Constitution does not clearly provide for it. A revision of Article V adds this sentence to the officer provisions, "The president and vice-president shall be elected from the hold-over membership." The Council decided not to specify that the secretary and treasurer must be holdover members, since all eight holdovers do not always remain on the Council throughout their senior year, because of second semester class schedules, dropping school, and the like.

The only change in Article VI is thru deletion of unnecessary words and phrases. "In the case See CONSTITUTION, page 4.

Ag Students Vote Tuesday On Revisions

Ag Exec Board yesterday released proposed revisions in its constitution which ag students will vote on next Tuesday. Governing body for ag college, the Board requires a student body vote in order to alter its constitution.

Article II, section 2, which enumerates the board's membership, now includes "The two Student Council representatives from the College of Agriculture elected in the spring of their sophomore year." Because ag college's enrollment entitles it to three representatives in this year's election, Board president Ned Raun stated "The Board members felt it was only fair for all three Council representatives to assume membership on the Ag Exec Board.

Therefore, the Board proposes two revisions. First, that the word "two" be stricken from the above quotation so that all ag Council representatives, regardless of number, may in the future automatically become Board members; and second, that the entire section 1 be removed from Article II, since that section limits the membership to 12, when actually the membership cannot be constant because the number of ag Student Council representatives is not constant.

Separate ballots will be given to ag voters on ag campus next Tuesday, to approve this change.

78 Candidates File For Elective Posts Balloting Begins Tuesday in Union

University students will go to the polls Tuesday to elect Ivy Day orator and members of the Student Council and publications board from a slate of 78 candidates, the largest in the history of the school.

Considering the number of students who filed for positions, there were very few disqualified, according to Helen Laird, president of the Student Council. Miss Laird said that those dropped from the state were declared ineligible either because of deficiencies in their college requirements or because of scholastic averages.

Tryout Dates Named For 'Pygmalion'

Tryouts for George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," the last University Theatre production of the season, will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 p. m. in room 306 of the Temple, according to Clarence Flick, who will direct the play.

There are 12 characters in "Pygmalion," six men and six women. The play is a romantic comedy which takes place in London in the year of 1908. The story revolves around Henry Higgins, an English phonetician, and his efforts to win a wager that he can pass off as a duchess Eliza Doolittle, whose Drury Lane dialect is unintelligible outside London.

Other parts in the play are Eliza's "middle class morality" father, Alfred Doolittle; Colonel Pickering, elderly phonetician; Mrs. Higgins, Henry's mother, and Freddy, who falls in love with Eliza.

Smaller roles include two by-standers (men), Mrs. Eynsford Hill and her daughter, Mrs. Pearce, and a parlor maid.

All university men students carrying 12 hours or more and in good academic standing are eligible to try out. Women eligibility rules state that women students must be second semester freshmen or above, and also carrying 12 hours in good academic standing. Production dates for "Pygmalion" are May 14, 15, 16, and 17.

Bridenbaugh Revealed As Ag Goddess Party Climaxed By Presentation

BY CHARLES BRIM.

Seated on a throne and surrounded by six attendants, Carol Bridenbaugh was revealed as the 1947 Goddess of Agriculture at the annual ag spring party, Saturday night, in the student activities building.

A resident of Love Memorial Hall, the new Ag Goddess is a member of Mortar Board, Home Economics club and Phi Upsilon Omicron, home ec honorary society.

Miss Bridenbaugh, selected by popular vote of ag students, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd

CAROL BRIDENBAUGH.

Bridenbaugh of Dakota City. Her attendants were six home economics seniors also elected by student vote. The attendants: Marie Abraham, Betty Kovanda, Marilyn Hartsook, Betty French, Helen Wulf and Ruth Anne Medaris. The goddess and her attendants were presented by Calvin Dahlke, master of ceremonies, at 10:30 p. m.

The presentation, sponsored by the Home Ec club, was carried out on a cinderella motif. Ned Raun, member of Ag Exec board, climaxed the presentation by fitting the traditional slipper on Miss Bridenbaugh's foot after attempting unsuccessfully to place it upon the feet of the six attendants.

Selection of the candidates was based on scholarship, qualities of leadership and participation in activities. Wilma Elson and Peggy Castner of the Home Ec club were chairmen of the presentation ceremony. Staging and decorations were under the supervision of Betty Beckner, Ruth Swanson and Eleanor Johnson.

ASCE to Hear Paul L. Harley

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hold its next regular meeting Wednesday, April 2 at 7:15 p. m. in room 316 of the Union.

Mr. Paul L. Harley of the Bureau of Reclamation at Grand Island, will be the guest speaker. His subject will be, "Water Resources Development in the State of Nebraska." The talk will deal mainly with the present work on the Platte and Republican rivers.

Mr. Harley is a graduate of the University of Colorado and an active member of the A.S.C.E.

Committee Outlines Rules For Ivy Day Sing Contest

Returning to the university for the second time since the war's end is the traditional Ivy Day Sing which will precede the May Day ceremonies, May 3.

All sororities, fraternities and organized houses are eligible to compete in the contest, according to Jane McArthur, chairman. Any group desiring to compete should have the name of the director, the names of the singers and the song and a statement of expected help from alumni turned into the office at Ellen Smith hall by Thursday, April 3 at 5 p. m.

Rules.

Rules for competition in the sing have been made as follows: All organized groups of the university may participate in the sing, except honorary groups. Not more than 25 may represent the group from any one house. This is including the director. The groups must be larger than an octet.

No medley of songs may be sung, nor the same song used for two consecutive years. Alumni cannot take part in the singing, but they may assist in the preparation with the provisions that they have not been connected professionally with music. No other assistance may be had.

The director must be active in the group and must be regularly enrolled in the university. All members of the group must be carrying 12 hours this present semester and can have no failures from last semester. All groups must remain after their participation for recall if necessary.

Fee.

Each group is assessed a one dollar fee to cover the cost of the judging. This sum is to be paid to Georgianne Rediger, treasurer of AWS, between April 14-18. No group shall participate without payment.

No special articles of clothing shall be purchased for the sing.

Council Ruling.

Article IV in the Student Council election ruling section states, "No vote shall be solicited at the polls or in the building in which election is being held during election day. No money shall be spent in behalf of any candidate."

The regulation continues, "No printed, mimeographed, typed, or otherwise published material in behalf of any candidate shall be permitted except the impartial announcements of the candidates appearing in the press. Any candidate violating these rules either in person or thru his supporters shall thereby become ineligible."

The election will be conducted by Student Council members in the ping pong room in the Union from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. Students must present their identification cards to obtain a ballot.
