Law College Organizes Association

In an effort to organize all pre-law students, the Nebraska Pre-Law Association has been formed under the sponsorship of the Law College.

The purpose of the Association is to get all pre-law students acquainted with each other and the law professors, and to see that they understand the requirements and the procedure of enrollment. They will endeavor to clear up any confusion of misunderstanding on the part of the students.

The first meeting of the Pre-Law Association will be April 23 at 7:30 in the Law College. A constitution has been drawn up and will be put before the members for their vote of approval. There will be nomination of officers, the election of which will take place at the following meeting. Dr. T. A. Cowan, Professor of Jurisprudence, will speak. All pre-law students the urged to attend.

Senior Grad Materials Now On Sale

Formal graduation announcements, name cards, and announcement folders will be on sale for a few more days only at campus book stores.

This year, the folders, which list names of the entire graduating class, will be bound in red leather, available for the first time since before the war. Folders will also be available in heavy white cardboard.

Personal calling cards, which seniors will place inside their announcements, are available in three styles: Engraving, Coftercraft raised printing, and simple printing. The Green company of Kansas City is supplying all orders.

Stressing the fact that sales are for a limited time only, seniors in charge of commencement arrangements urge graduating seniors to place orders at once.

bers and former students who died in the service have been extended a special invitation to attend the service."—The Daily Nebraskan, April 16.

Nubbins Baseball Inaugural Rained Out

The baseball game scheduled for Saturday afternoon between the Nebraska B team and Concordia of Seward at the Husker diamond, was postponed because of adverse weather conditions.

Three games with Concordia and two with Omaha University remain on the Nubbins' baseball schedule. Omaha will invade Lincoln on April 22 in the next Nubbins appearance.
