YW Will Honor Nine Women, Select Officers

Nine outstanding senior women will be honored by the YWCA at an all-membership meeting tomorrow evening at 7 in Ellen Smith Hall.

Coeds who are recognized by the group were selected from members who have never been officers nor members of the YW cabinet, according to president Shirley Schnittker.

Election of secretary and district representative will also be held at the meeting. Candidates for the position of secretary are Camilla Plamer and Verniel Lundquist. Mary Beth Davis and Janice Chappel are district representative candidates.

Eligibility to vote on the slate is limited to coeds who were eligible to vote in the January election or who have attended four meetings of YW groups since that time.

Concluding the meeting will be a summary discussion of summer projects and a skit by senior member.

Shirley Sabin is chairman for the meeting and Sue Leininger is in charge of the music.

Ivy, Daisy Chain Applicant Filings Due Wednesday

Names of unaffiliated junior and senior coeds who wish to participate in the Ivy and Daisy chains on Ivy Day, May 3, may be turned in to the Mortar Board box in the Union basement before Wednesday at 5 p. m.

The traditional chains will precede presentation of the May Queen and her Court. Senior coeds make up the Ivy Chain, and juniors are represented in the Daisy Chain.

Practices will be scheduled and the time and place announced in the Daily Nebraskan. All coeds who participate are required to attend the practices, according to Shirley Jenkins, member of Mortar Board in charge of the chains.

YW-YM to Sponsor Poll

Members of the university YWCA and YMCA will circulate a questionnaire concerning minority groups at the Honors Convocation to be held in the coliseum this morning.

Miss Mildred Taylor, executive secretary of the YW, will supervise the poll.

Coeds Hold Annual Style Show Tonite

Coed Counselors will present their annual style show tonite at 7:30 p. m. at Hovland-Swanson's with 20 coeds represent the organized campus houses modeling, according to Betsy Bahensky, director.

Open to all university coeds, the revue will highlight late spring and summer fashions. The models, who were selected in an elimination showing, must be at Hovland's tonite at 7 p. m.

Thirteen girls will appear in dress and daytime cottons have been selected. They are Katie Pfeiffer, Pat Boyd, Joanne Patton, Ginny Pestor, Beth Norenberg, Barbara Bush, Faye Simpson, Catherine Ham, Marie Malicky, Marilyn Eidam, Alice Mason, Virginia Trant and Myrna Samuelson.

Suit Preview.
Chosen to preview new suits are Louella Fisher, Elva Cobb, Helen Kirk, Pat Boyd, Katie Pfeiffer, Joanne Patton, Myrna Samuelson and Marilyn Eidam. Marie Malicky and Alice Mason will show afternoon date dresses.

Bridal Display.
The traditional display of a bride and her three attendants will be the feature of the evening. The identities of these four girls will not be revealed until tonight.

Mrs. Elva Farnsworth, accessory buyer for Hovland-Swanson's, will demonstrate the method of changing the mood of a dress from that of a casual ensemble to one suitable for a date costume by the use of accessories.

Paleontology Applications Due May 17

Applications for the $125 William E. Green Memorial Paleontology scholarship must be made on or before May 17, Dr. C. B. Schultz announced Monday.

The scholarship is for any university student interested in becoming a member of the summer vertebrate paleontology expedition of the university museum. In addition to the $125, meals, lodging and transportation will be furnished by the museum.

Annual Award.

The annual award is made possible through a fund established with the University Foundation in 1945 by Dean and Mrs. Roy M. Green and their children, Nancy, Elizabeth and Thomas, in memory of their son and brother, William Green, who lost his life in World War II. Prior to his entering the army he had been actively interested in vertebrate paleontology and had been a member of several museum expeditions.

To qualify the applicant must: (1) be a student registered in any school or college of the university; (2) have completed at least one satisfactory academic year at said university; (3) show active interest in the field of vertebrate paleontology; (4) be available for a full collecting season (not to exceed 3 months).

Application blanks may be secured at 101 Morrill Hall.

Gustavson to Talk At Honors Convo

Journalists Organize New Society

Formation of the University of Nebraska chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, national scholastic honorary association for juniors and seniors in journalism, will be announced at Honors Convocation today simultaneously with formal notification to the newly-elected members. The Nebraska chapter will be known as the Will Owen Jones chapter, in honor of the late editor of the Nebraska State Journal who helped initiate the first courses in journalism at the university in 1894.

Upper Ten Per Cent
Membership in Kappa Tau Alpha is confined to the upper ten per cent of the junior and senior class in journalism, to certain qualified alumni and to all faculty members of professional rank in the school of journalism. National headquarters are situated at the University of Missouri, and chapters are at present limited to accredited schools of journalism. Granting of the local charter was announced recently by the association's national president, Dean Ralph Crosman of the University of Colorado school of journalism.

New Members
Newly elected members include the following junior students: Don B. Amsden, Priscilla Anne Bailey and George Patrick Miller. Senior students include Barbara D. Kiechel, Paul R. Stewart and Richard W. Thornton. Three alumni, elected as charter members of the new chapter, are R. Neale Copple, a graduate of last February, Nancy Mahood, '38, and Marjorie J. Mengshol, '45.

Beta Sigma Psi To Hear Arndt At Convention

Karl Arndt, university professor of economics, has been named to speak at the Beta Sigma Psi national convention in Lincoln April 25 and 26, Bill Jahde, convention chairman, has announced.

A new executive vice president and third and fourth regional presidents will be elected during the convention.

Delegates and national officers from Missouri, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Nebraska will attend. Those from Nebraska will include Herman Seifkus, executive president, Del Leinemann, national secretary and treasurer and Arthur Schrickler, publication editor.

The convention will have its headquarters at the Lincoln hotel.

Block and Bridle Releases Honors Banquet Tickets

Tickets for the Block and Bridle club honors banquet will be on sale through Tuesday, April 22, at 201 Animal Husbandry hall.

The banquet which will honor Col. Arthur W. Thompson, will be held at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, April 25, at the Student Union. Plates are priced at $1.50 each.

Several prominent livestock men will speak at the banquet. Those included on the program are: Samuel R. McKelvie, ex-governor of Nebraska and owner of By-The-Way ranch; Dan Casement, outstanding Kansas cattle feeder and many times winner in the International Livestock Exposition; and John T. Caine, 8rd, manager of the Western Livestock Exposition.

900 Students to Be Cited For Academic Attainment

Over 900 university students will be recognized today for high scholarship at the 19th annual Honors Convocation which will be held at 10:15 a. m. in the coliseum. All classes and labs will be dismissed between 10 a. m. and 12 a. m. to enable students to attend.

Tassels Hold Initiation For 17 Members

At the annual Tassel banquet held Friday night in the Cornhusker hotel, 17 pledges were initiated into the organization. The new active members include: Ann Adams, Sue Alexander, Donna Alfrey, Jean Balance, Betty Beckner, Shirley Burton, Mary Lou Ferguson, Joan Farrar, Joyce Geddis, Catherine Geist, Lois Gillette, Jackie Gordon, Phyllis Greer, Shirley Grosshans, Patty Guhin, Betty R. Hubka, Jo Kellenargber, Pat Lathen, Marjorie Reynolds, Phyllis Ross, Shirley Schnittker and Gracie Smith.

Skit.
Marthella Holcomb, senior member of Tassels, acted as master of ceremonies. After a welcome was extended to the alums who were present, a short skit, written by Mary Esther Dunkin, was presented.

The three speakers of the evening were Jackie Wightman, Harriet Quinn and Joy Hill. Miss Wightman spoke in behalf of the pledges. Miss Quinn addressed the members as the new president of Tassels, and Miss Hill spoke as retiring president.

The initiation ceremony took place immediately after the program.

Engineers Plan to Show New Equipment Today

The engineer's display by pharmacy will be completed by today. It will consist of a "T" square, triangle, and dividers. The "T" square and dividers will be made of wood, and the triangle made of glass. Construction will be under the supervision of Harry Bane, senior civil engineering student.

Missouri Downs Huskers

Columbia, Mo. — Moving into first place in the Big Six, Missouri defeated Nebraska 13 to 8 in the first of two baseball games being played on the U. M. diamond. The two teams will play again today.

Speaking on "Civilization's Challenge to Your Generation," Chancellor Gustavson will deliver the convocation address. Musical numbers for the program will be provided by the university orchestra under the direction of Emanuel Wisnow.

Academic Recognition
Receiving recognition for academic achievement are senior students who during the two preceding semesters have been in the upper 3 per cent of their respective colleges, and those who have maintained upper 10 per cent standing during four years.

Students who are in the upper 10 per cent of each class of each college or school will also be recognized. Names of student organizations which reach a designated level of scholarship are announced in the programs as are the names of students winning prizes and awards.

Convo Committee
Rev. Leland H. Leshner of the Grace English Lutheran church of Lincoln will give the invocation. Prof. Linus Burr Smith, chairman of the convocations committee, has pointed out the convocation is "the only means the university takes to honor students who excel in education which is the major purpose of the university."

The convocations committee includes: Miss Mabel Lee, Prof. C. S. Hamilton, Prof. C. M. Hicks, Prof. Dwight Kirsh, Prof. W. J. Loeffel, Prof. W. H. Morton, Prof. J. M. Feinhardt, and Dean T. J. Thompson. The student members are Ned Raun, Mary Claire Phillips and Harold Mozer.

Water Safety Course to Open

Marvin Hershey, a representative of the American Red Cross, will be in charge of the Life Saving and Water Safety course which will be offered Monday through Friday beginning April 26, and ending May 9. The classes will be held from 4 to 6 in the university pool. All men interested should meet in the N Club room Monday, April 28, at 4:00.

All men wishing to attend the classes should have swimming suits of their own and should check with the Student Health clinic for swimming permits if they do not already have one.
