Looking more sedate than usual in the following photograph is Harriet Quinn, president of Tassels for the coming year. Being head of an active group of "rah-rah" girls like the Tassels leaves little time for Harriet to assume any sophisticated poses, although she can, we've observed from a distance, look appropriately bored while rhumbaing. Other than that, Harriet is and always has been busy, running about from one meeting to another. A junior in the college of Arts and Science, Harriet has served on the Cornhusker staff, the YW cabinet, and in AUF. As a sophomore, she was head of sorority solicitations, and during the past year she has been the head solicitor for AUF. Elected to the AWS board this semester, Harriet had to give up the position to take the Tassel presidency. Having held the office status. Since the time that Marianne was appointed editor in March, the Countryman has reached a circulation of one thousand copies monthly. A home ec major, Marianne is vice president of the Home Ec club having served as secretary during the past year, a member of the Ag Exec board for three years, Student Faculty council for two years, and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and Omicron Nu, home ec honoraries, the latter requiring an 85% average which Marianne has, of course. She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

The Cornhusker Countryman, edited entirely by Ag college students, contains features on Alum news, student activities on Ag campus, and class work. Its purpose is to give an over-all coverage of Ag activities for the interest of alums and city campus students as well as for the students on Ag. Copies of the Countryman sell for fifty cents each, and for a nominal fee you can get the editor to autograph your copy. In fact, you can probably get the autograph free if you point out to Marianne that your purchase means an increase in circulation.

Handling what may be one of the biggest jobs on campus—the promotion of all unaffiliated women students in campus activities—is Mary Ann Campbell, new president of the Barb Activities Board for Women. A member of Towne Club, Mary Ann is a junior in teachers college and has been a board member for the past two years. Treasurer of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority, she has served on the U. S. A. council. (No flag waving, the letters stand for Unaffiliated Students Association.)

As the new president, Mary

Ann wants to continue next year all the good work that was accomplished during the past two semesters. To keep on organizing town girls and out-of-town girls who live in residences thruout the city is one of BABW's objectives.

Groups that exist for just such a purpose are Kernels and Adelphi. A pamphlet edited by BABW will be sent to all prospective freshmen women students this summer which will inform them as to what is in store for the freshmen women who will want to participate in Barb women's activities and other activities as well during their years at Nebraska.

Engine College Students Plan Annual Week

BY SKIP STAHL.

Have you seen these masculine engineers running around with their slide rules casually tucked under their arms and that look of determination on their faces as they mutter about displays' posters, labs and the demonstrations that make up Engineer's week?

After a six years' absence, the engineers again are going to show the rest of the world just what the student and professional engineer does. Engineer's week is the culmination of a year's preparation of work and study. The displays cover all the fields of engineering and demonstrate, not only the commonplace engineering, but also some of the newest and most unusual applications of engineering to our modern, complex world.

Thursday night the entire engineering college will be open to the public for its inspection and approval. Every phase of engineering is covered. You can watch a miniature steam engine in operation, or see the latest electronic advancements. Engineer's week is of interest not only to the allied engineering field but also to you. Come and see what modern engineering is doing.

Aye, lassie, from the moors of California . . . a suit with highland airs and that good casual tailoring by Mr. Rosenblum. Purely right, we'd say, for spring on the Nebraska campus. Wool, of course, with a thread of Yellow or Red running through the Blue and Grey of the plaid.
