We'll Remember

One of the university's outstanding men of science died Saturday night. High words of praise from Lincoln newspapers have paid a tribute to Dr. Erwin Hickley Barvour, director of Morrill Hall and leading paleontologist, but the students, who knew him first as a teacher, honor his memory with a feeling of deep regret at his death.

We owe the wonders of the collections at the university museum to Dr. Barbour, for he himself gathered most of the exhibits. He taught his students his lore and the secrets of geology and paleontology on the expeditions which he organized and conducted for them.

In addition to his services to the university, he unstintingly gave of his time to the Boy Scouts, the Lincoln board of education and the Nebraska academy of science-His civic services will be as long remembered in this city as his scientific services are recalled by educators.

Although he was the author of many books and treatises, his main interest was in building up a department of geology at the university which could train students to appreciate the natural resources of Nebraska as he did. Thanks to his untiring efforts, that department is now ranked as one of the finest in the nation.

Student Union Bldg., Dr. Barbour's contributions to the university cannot be summed up in words, but our university museum and Dear Sir: geology department pay him lasting honor.

You who were on the campus this last year heard some discussion and talk about campus politics and campus politicians. You were told that the whole student body was being tyrannized by something called the "Young Men's Marching and Clam Chowder Association" commonly called the faction. The ill fated Cornhusker party, formed in the interest of so-called student democracy, discredited itself by malpractice of the very thing it supposedly represented.

The political situation on the Nebraska campus at the present moment is nothing short of utter chaos. Never have the fundamental issues confronting the student body been brought forth. In a booklet published by the student council in 1942, the major accomplishments of the council since 1930 were listed. In that 12 year period the student council accomplished 4 tasks. Namely, the erection of the student union, the formation of the regent's book store, the initiation of the student foundation, and a change in election rules. On the average this means one major accomplishment every three years.

What, fundamentally, is the cause of this apathetic attitude? It is the indifferent attitude of the student body, coupled by an apathetic student council. We just elected a new council and it is time that something was done. The parking situation needs remedy and the bus situation to Ag Campus is deplorable. It is up to the new student council, and particularly to the leaders of this council to make sure that definite action be taken and taken now, not next September. It is your duty, council members; that was why you were elected. It is the duty of the student body to see that these obligations are lived up to.
