

Sigma Xi To Initiate 48 At Anniversary Banquet

Eleven new members and 37 associate members will be initiated at the annual banquet of Sigma Xi in the Union ballroom Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

In addition to the initiation ceremonies, the Nebraska chapter will celebrate its semi-centennial. It was organized June 5, 1897.

Dr. H. G. O. Holck, university pharmacologist, will be the principal speaker.

Arrangement Committee

A committee composed of Dr. Emma N. Anderson, assistant professor of botany, chairman; Dr. N. A. Bengtson, junior division dean; Dr. D. D. Whitney, professor of zoology, and Ferris W. Norris, professor of electrical engineering, is making arrangements to commemorate the anniversary. Dr. R. J. Pool, chairman of the botany department, and Dr. C. B. Schultz, director of the museum, are in charge of a special exhibit to be placed on the stage.

Chancellor and Mrs. Gustavson will be honored guests.

Introduction

Dr. W. E. Miltzer, associate professor of chemistry, will introduce the newly elected members, and I. L. Hathaway, associate professor of dairy husbandry, will introduce the society to the initiates. The presidential address to be given by Dr. H. G. O. Holck is entitled "Selected Aspects of a Quarter Century of Research in

Physiology and Pharmacology. New Members

This year's eleven new members and 37 associate members are in addition to the 21 associate members from the senior class which were announced at the Sigma Xi-Phi Beta Kappa joint banquet this spring. There are now approximately 145 members of Sigma Xi on the staff of the university.

Dress for the meeting will be formal for past presidents and their wives. Members of the society, their families and friends may attend.

Cobs to Elect New Pledges At Smoker

Prospective workers for Corn Cobs will be entertained by the actives at the annual pledge smoker tonight at 7 p. m., in room 313 of the Union, according to Duane Munter, president.

Workers for the next year will be selected from those attending the smoker. Candidates will represent organized houses, fraternities, co-ops and students at large.

Students at Large

Any man not living in an organized house who is interested in being considered for the pledge should place his name in a letter and leave it in the Corn Cobs' mail box in the Union basement, according to Sam Warren, secretary. Since the organization is typical of the university, it is necessary that the membership consist of representative students.

Qualifications

Qualifications make it necessary that any pledge have a minimum of 24 hours credit by the end of the current semester and must be carrying at least 12 hours. Initiation requirements for the 16 workers chosen to be actives at the end of the year are that the candidate must have a weighted average of 75.

The requirements also state that it is preferable that a pledge have Saturday mornings free from classes next fall so that he may devote time to Saturday work projects during the football season.

Federalists Elect Officers

Election of officers for the university chapter of United World Federalists was held recently, with Kermit Rohde replacing Herman Turk.

Other newly elected officers include Chuck Bergoffen, vice-president; Dorothy Lasher, treasurer; Eileen McClay, recording secretary, and Eugene Berman, corresponding secretary.

Psychiatrist Tells Parley Of Problems

Prof. James Reinhardt, social psychiatrist, told pressmen at the regional conference of UNESCO that the organization has been trying to educate the wrong type of people.

"We have been trying to educate the common people to want peace," Reinhardt said, "when it is the upper crust, the vested interests, that we should aim much of our literature at. They are the war-makers."

Art Proposals

The Creative Arts sections made the proposal that an international "lending library" of art works be created. Art works would be contributed by great artists from various countries and for reciprocal circulation of recordings.

Conference sections also discussed the expansion of the pre-war international exchange of students to include international exchange of civic leaders, workers, artists and professional men. The need of parental education as a means of influencing coming generations was stressed by librarians attending the three-day conference.

Twelve Attend

Twelve members of the university staff attended the regional conference which was called by Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Pres. Milton Eisenhower of Kansas State college and Dr. Ben M. Cherrington of Denver university, members of the national commission of UNESCO.

Martin Pesek Sets Final Date For Try-outs

Yell squad try-outs will be held for the last time Wednesday in the Daily Nebraskan office at 7:30 p. m., it has been announced by Martin Pesek, advisor.

Twelve finalists were selected Saturday by the committee in charge which was composed of Stan Johnson, president of the Innocents society; Joan Ackerman, vice president of Mortar Board; Harriet Quinn, president of Tassels, and Duane Munter, president of Corn Cobs.

Eligibility

Because only seven men tried out for positions on the squad, the committee announced that a final date would be set for other interested candidates. To be eligible for participation a student should be of sophomore standing by next fall and should be taking at least

Alum Round-up Reservations Now Available

Tickets are available and reservations for the alumni association roundup luncheon, to be held Saturday, June 7, in the Union, may be made now at the alumni office.

Reservations may be made by mail or phone, according to Chairman Max Meyer. Tickets are $1.50 per person, including registration. Chancellor R. G. Gustavson will report at the luncheon on future plans and hopes of the university.

Honor classes of 1897 and 1907 are planning special reunion gatherings. The classes of 1898, 1899 and 1910 and the Palladian society and Teachers college alumni association will also have special reunions.

Innocents alumni will hold their annual roundup banquet Saturday evening. This will be preceded by initiation of the first postwar members to be tapped last Ivy day.

AER To Hold Second Annual Radio Banquet

The second annual radio banquet, sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio honorary, will be held Saturday, in Union parlors XYZ, at 6 p. m.

Romulo Soldevilla, instructor in the radio section of the speech department, will serve as toastmaster. Entertainment includes Magician John Carson and student skills.

Radio Men

Representatives of commercial radio stations in Lincoln and departmental heads have been invited to attend.

Tickets are priced at $1.25 and may be purchased from any member of AER or at the radio studio office. Tickets are to be bought by 5 p. m., Thursday.

Over 75 people attended the first radio banquet last spring at which Paul L. Bogen, director of radio, was featured speaker. Mr. Bogen is faculty adviser and sponsor of AER.

Alpha Epsilon Rho, Mu chapter, was established on the Nebraska campus in September, 1946. Membership includes 21 actives, seven pledges and two associate members.

Laird, Anderson to Present Joint Recital Today

In the first concert of its kind this year, contralto Helen Laird and baritone Robert Anderson will present a joint song recital at 4 p. m. in Temple Theater today. Longer than the relatively short senior recitals required of graduating music majors in Teachers college, today's program will give the two singers an opportunity to display a wider range of vocal performance.

Miss Laird, who will graduate in June, will enter Columbia University next fall for an advanced degree, studying at the university's Julliard school of Music. Elected recently to Pi Kappa Lambda, music scholastic honorary, she was presented last week with the sword of honor of Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority.

Awarded Sword

The award, presented by the national sorority, is not given to any one chapter more than once in three years, and is awarded to the woman nominated by her chapter who has attained high scholarship and prominence in campus activities. President this year of Student Council, Miss Laird is past-secretary of YWCA, a member of Pi Lambda Theta teachers honorary, and of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

ed last year as Mama Lucia in the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

She was one of five seniors elected by the school of music seniors to appear with the university orchestra earlier this semester. She has soloed twice in SAI spring concerts, and was an alternate winner in the Lincoln Symphony auditions this year.

Today she will sing German art songs by Schumann, Brahms and Grieg; an aria from Tchaikovsky's opera "Joan of Arc"; and a group of American songs.

Audition Winner

Robert Anderson, winner this year of the symphony audition, was a soloist in the "Messiah" and in "The Creation" while at the university before the war. He sang the role of Will Scarlet in the university's production of DeKoven's opera, "Robin Hood." Now a junior, he is a member of Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, music fraternity, and of Kappa Sigma.

He is a member of the Sinfonia quartet which broadcasts on the "Your University Speaks" show over the Nebraska Network each Sunday at 12:30. Serving in the navy three years, Mr. Anderson was one of the "Eight Men of Note," a double quartet coached by Robert Mitchell. The ensemble sang together nine months, broadcasting for nine weeks over
