

Four Events Draw Attention As Big Six Carnival Nears

Four features of the Big Six track and field championships here Friday and Saturday will be the half-mile, mile, discus and high jump, according to Cornhusker Coach Ed Weir.

Bobby Ginn, Nebraska's indoor champion in both the mile and half-mile, will face a stout field in his pet event, the mile. Bobby has a mark of 4:18.6 this season.

Bob Bosworth, University of Missouri, has been timed in 4:21.1 and Hal Moore of the University of Kansas in 4:22.

Mel Sheehan of Missouri, wheeled the discus 163 feet 9 1/2 inches in a dual meet against the University of Kansas last week end. This betters the mark set by Edsel Wibbels of Nebraska in 1940 when he set a mark of 160 feet 5 1/4 inches.

880 Repeat

The half-mile likely will be a repeat of the great race staged by Harold Kopf of Nebraska and Richard Killough of Missouri. These two staged a whale of a stride-matching back stretch drive, Kopf finally winning in a photo-finish.

Ginn, who will be making his farewell tour of the Scarlet cinders, cannot be counted out of this race. Bobby has doubled the half and mile as late as the last indoor meet at Kansas City.

It will be a rough test for the Madison mite as the mile field will force him to go his best.

The top field of high jumpers in many seasons will be assembled for this event and a new record is likely.

High Jump Threats.

The co-holders of the present mark—Dwayne Feeken of Iowa State and Tom Scofield, Kansas, at 6 feet 4—are both entered. Each was hampered by injuries earlier in the season.

Scofield indicated he has recovered by tying for the Drake relays high jump championship.

Monte Kinder, University of Nebraska, won the Texas relays with a 6 foot 5 inch leap. His kangaroo efforts have been hampered lately by a bruise and callous on his take-off foot. It was lanced after the Missouri-Nebraska dual and his foot is feeling much better which is reflected in his trials this week.

Bill Lambeth, a University of Oklahoma freshman, also is a contender. He has done 6 feet 4.

Cooper Rusty

Don Cooper, Nebraska pole vaulter, has been nursing what was first diagnosed as appendicitis but later was ruled a stomach disorder. He has not worked out for more than a week.

Cooper's best mark is 13 feet 9 inches. The record is held by Harold Hunt, Nebraska, at 14 feet 5-8 inches, set in 1940.

The order of events for the two-day meet follow:

BOBBY GINN—Defending Big Six outdoor mile champion faces stiff competition in attempt to retain loop crown.

Bobby Ginn and the loop outdoor mile title Saturday at the nineteenth annual league thin clad conclave in Lincoln, he will be closing only his second season of competitive track. In that short span he has staked out a reputation as one of the circuit's top distance hands.

His first effort in Kansas silks was first place in the loop cross-country show at Norman in 1945. He followed this by a sixth place finish in the NCAA harrier trials.

Sickness again hampered the lean harrier last autumn knocking him out of most of the cross-country season. But he shifted into high at the loop indoor trials again pushing Ginn all the way before losing a lead on the last lap as the tiny Cornhusker rambled to a new record of 4:19.7.

Moore Ready For Bob Ginn

LAWRENCE, Kas.—Around Big Six cinders the boys who know track will tell you Hal Moore, KU's needle-thin distance plodder, is the conference's most dogged runner.

Moore, a former naval trainee from Muncie, Ind., isn't what the experts call a picture runner. But he is more interested in results. So far he's done pretty well.

Iowa State Golf Squad Needs Win To Share Crown

AMES, Iowa—Coach Jack McGuire and the Iowa State golf team figure they have the "easy" part out of the way—and hope to take care of the "hard" part Saturday and Monday.

Which is a wordy method of saying that the tough part of the Cyclone's Big Six golf schedule takes place at Missouri and Oklahoma.

Field House Wins IM Track Meet Instead of DU's

Intramural Director Lou Means has announced that the Field House has been named winner of the intramural track and field meet last week, replacing Delta Upsilon in the first place spot.

Revised standings show Field House with a total of 52 points at the close of the two-day meet. Delta Upsilon wound up its competition with 49 points.

No Activity Books
Student activity tickets will not be honored for the Big Six track and field championships at Memorial Stadium Friday and Saturday, according to word from Athletic Business Manager A. J. Lewandowski.
