It seems that Dirt Diggin's comments on conditions at the air base have brought several new issues to light. One of the more impressive is that for the last several days there has been no heat supplied to the houses of the families who live there.

This naturally means that in this chilly and rainy weather the children are becoming sick. Most of the families have babies or very young children and it is detrimental for all concerned when the heat to the houses or converted barracks is cut off. Further there has been no explanation to the families that live there.

Also, with two gyms in fairly decent shape there has been no attempt to form any recreational program at the air base. Certainly, something should be done so that Huskerville is given recreational facilities. They are an integral community and a part of the university. They pay rent to the university, and the facts should point the way to a recreational program.

The families at the air base deserve a break and we feel that they deserve more than no recreation and no heat in their houses. Sick babies are not conducive to study, nor do they leave us with pleasant thoughts that all is well at the air base.

Yesterday, the VA came forth with a new rule to the effect that no graduating GI could take any of his "leave." This means that the GI's graduating lose about $50 for the single men and $65 for the married veterans. This, in itself, is not the worst part of the situation. The non-graduating student does not lose this, but has it added to his GI Bill time. Why should we penalize the men that graduate?

Vets Eligibility Saturday Date For Leave Pay For 2nd Annual Radio Banquet Ruled on by VA

Two rulings of importance to all veterans under Public Law 346 (the G. I. bill) have just been released by the Central Office of the Veterans Administration in Washington, D. C.

Ruling No. 1.

Students under Public Law 346 who plan to attend summer school will not be paid subsistence through the nine-day interim period between the end of the second semester and the beginning of summer school unless they specifically ask for it. The Veterans Consultation Board had previously been informed by the Veterans Administration that the payment of subsistence through the interim period would be automatic, but under the more recent ruling such is not the case.

Therefore, all veterans under Public Law 346 who will attend summer school and who wish to have their subsistence continued through the interim period should report to the office of the Consultation Board, Room 101, Mechanics Arts hall, to fill out the proper government form. If a veteran asks for and receives this interim subsistence, his time entitlement will also be charged the corresponding amount which will in turn be deducted from his leave account.

Romulo Soldevilla will be toastmaster at the second annual radio banquet scheduled Saturday at 6 p. m. in Union parlors XYZ.

Sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio honorary, the banquet is the first since last year's inaugural banquet, at which over 75 people attended. Paul L. Bogen, director of radio and faculty sponsor of AER was featured speaker last year.

Entertainment.

Entertainment this year includes magician John Carson and skits presented by students of radio. Representatives of commercial radio stations in Lincoln and departmental heads have been invited to attend.

Mu chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho was established on the Nebraska campus in September 1946, and now its membership includes 21 actives, seven pledges and two associate members.

Ruling No. 2.

All veterans under Public Law 346 who are completing their courses through graduation ARE NOT ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE LEAVE SUBSISTENCE which has accrued to their credit. Such leave subsistence, however, may be collected if that veteran re-enters training at some later date following graduation.

All that Ella Lanchester, top-notch character actress now playing in "The Big Clock" at Paramount, ever asks of a screen role is that it be mixed up with the story. "I don't care if it's big or small," she says, "as long as it's plotty."
