

Fuenning Sets X-Ray Regulations

Two Units Now On City Campus

All students who have not done so, are required to obtain chest X-rays by 5 p. m. Sept. 26, according to Dr. S. I. Fuenning, director of the student health service.

Any student not reporting by that time will be called for a later appointment and will be required to have an X-ray at his own expense.

Two X-ray units are in operation from 8-12 and 1-5 Monday through Friday and from 8-12 on Saturday. One unit is located in room 101 of Grant Memorial Hall and the other between Grant Memorial and University Hall. Students using the unit in Grant are asked to use the west entrance, Dr. Fuenning said.

Students may appear for X-rays at their own convenience but must do so by Sept. 26. Approximately 3,000 have not yet had their X-rays, Fuenning estimated.

Starting Friday, the following people may obtain X-rays without charge; faculty members and their immediate families, employees and immediate families and veterans' wives. This offer is on a voluntary basis.

A temporary program for financial aid to hospitalized students has been formed pending completion of the new student health service facilities. "Until the new building will be completed we will reimburse the students with $2.50 per hospital day for their hospital bill," Dr. Fuenning stated.

Daily Society Editor Filings Open Friday

Filings for the position of Society Editor on the Daily Nebraskan are open to all students interested in filling the position, it was announced Friday by Dake Novotny, editor.

Application blanks may be obtained at the School of Journalism and should be returned to that office by Wednesday, Sept. 24. The Publications Board will meet within the week to interview applicants for the position.

The former society editor, Totie Fiddock, has been appointed to fill the news editorship left vacant by Gene Jensen, who did not return to school.

Students interested in reporting for the Daily Nebraskan are asked to contact Dake Novotny, editor, or Jack Hill and George Miller, managing editors, at the Daily office in the Union at 1:30 p. m. every day.

Regular reporters will be paid monthly on an inch-rate basis.

1947-48 UN Budget Increased Greatly; Research to Benefit

The university budget for the 1947-48 fiscal year will greatly increase research work, especially in the fields of agriculture and chemistry.

The budget, which was adopted by the Board of Regents and was based on legislative appropriations, calls for $5,742,656. Of this, $2,756,474 is for teaching, $1,033,678 for research, $976,251 for public services, $698,118 maintenance, repair and building, and $287,132 for administration and general university expenses.

Budgets Increased.

All the individual budgets were increased over last year's figures. The College of Medicine received the highest amount, $809,293. Next in line are the College of NEW DORMS—Pictured are portions of two of the new dormitories for men located on a square near the corner of 15th and T streets. The building on the right is the dorm nearest completion and runs parallel with 15th street. Except for a few details on the interior, this building is ready for occupancy. The dorm shown at the left will not be finished until sometime in December and is the largest of the three. Not pictured is a dorm which will be completed next month. All three buildings face in to form a square.

Dates Set For Barb Pictures

Additional information on the official picture scheduled for the 1948 Cornhusker yearbook has been released by Joanne Ackerman, editor.

Individual pictures of unaffiliated students will be taken at the Warner-Medlin studio in the Federal Securities building from 9-5 any weekday. Appointments must be made in the Cornhusker office immediately by individual students desiring pictures in the 1948 annual, according to Nadine Anderson, managing editor.

Organization Pictures.

Sorority and fraternity pictures will be taken Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Friday evenings between 5 and 9. Appointments sheets will be sent to each organized house. Once appointments are made, pictures must be taken at the assigned time.

Proofs must be picked up three days after the sitting and returned to the studio again within the next three days. Each person must return his own proofs.

Prices for the pictures for the 1948 yearbook will be 50c lower than last year. Miss Anderson has pointed out. Prices to individual students now are: One picture, $2.50; two pictures, $3; and three pictures, $3. Students whose pictures will appear in both the organized house section and the class section should order two pictures. Only members of honorary societies should order three pictures.

Arts and Sciences, the Agricultural Extension Service, the physical plant, the Agriculture Experiment Station, and the College of Agriculture.

The current budget is over one million dollars more than last year's. The 1946-47 appropriation was $4,552,369, while in 1945-46 $3,384,090 was appropriated. Of the 1947-48 figure, approximately $3,300,000 is from state funds, about $700,000 is from federal funds, and nearly $1,750,000 in cash.

Regents Approve.

The Board of Regents also approved an estimate of the $1,805,700 in cash income to go to various self supporting operations of the university during the next fiscal year.

Special Permission

Senior AWS members who are authorized to sign special permissions are: Mims Weeth, Delta Gamma; Jean Compton, Pi Beta Phi; Tibby Curley, Alpha Chi Omega; Jean Chilquist, Terrace Hall; and Kathleen Nickolson, Delta Delta Delta.

Notre Dame Tour Tickets Available

Students may be sure of obtaining reservations for the "Cornhusker Tour" to the Oct. 18 Nebraska-Notre Dame game in South Bend, Indiana, until Oct. 1, according to Dake Novotny, Daily Nebraskan editor. After Oct. 1, the possibility of securing reservations will be scarce.

Reservations may be obtained at the Daily Nebraskan office now. However, no down payments will be accepted. The full fare must be paid at the time reservations are placed.

The $48.80 tour price includes round trip rail fare from Lincoln, game ticket, ticket to Chicago Bears-Detroit Lions in Chicago Sunday, overnight lodging, sight seeing trip in Chicago, luncheon on train and a 72 hour protection on a prepaid accident insurance policy. The round trip fare from Omaha is $46.27.

Leaving Lincoln at 8:30 p. m. Oct. 17, the train will arrive on the Notre Dame campus at noon the next day within walking distance of the stadium. Immediately following the game, special trains will leave for Chicago where overnight lodging will be provided.

After Sunday's special events, trains will leave Chicago at 8:30 p. m. arriving in Omaha at 7:15 a. m. and Lincoln at 8:15 a. m.

Eight Thousand Now Registered

Reports from Dr. G. W. Rosenlof's office Thursday afternoon show registration well over 8,000, with returns on the College of Medicine, the School of Nursing, and the graduate school still not in.

Also not included were about 500 students who registered Thursday, and an unknown number of late registrants coming up this week-end.

Regents Name New Professors Create Two Extra Posts To Meet Special Demand

BY SAM WARREN.

Heading the list of 298 new appointments to faculty and administrative positions, made by the Board of Regents at its September meeting, were the names of 22 men and women ranking as visiting, associate, and full professors. Two positions, created to meet specific demands, will be filled by professors already members of the faculty.

Receiving the majority of the new teaching personnel are the colleges of agriculture and medicine, with eight and seven of the 22 appointments, respectively. Lloyd W. Hurlburt, for nine years a faculty member before his three-year naval service, becomes full professor and chairman of the department of agricultural engineering, succeeding E. E. Brackett. Coming to the college of medicine as full professor of military science and tactics and as resident in orthopedics is Col. R. W. Beal.

Gallery Director

Dwight Kirsch, formerly chairman of the department of art, has been named to the new post of Director of University Art Galleries. He will continue as full professor of art. Duard W. Laging, who completed his doctorate this year at the University of Minnesota where he instructed from 1940 to 1945, will assume the chairmanship of the department, ranking as full professor.

"Mr. Laging's appointment will provide a much-needed relief of departmental administrative duties for Mr. Kirsch who has not only been department chairman but director of the art galleries and art teacher as well," commented Dr. Arthur Westbrook, director of the school of fine arts.

"The university's art collection has grown so large that this project alone requires the full time of one man. Since much of this outstanding collection has been assembled under Mr. Kirsch's direction," said Dr. Westbrook, "it will now be possible for him to devote more time to its future development."

An art educator rather than a professional painter, Mr. Laging hopes to develop a comprehensive art education program in the public schools of the state. Last spring the Belgian-American Educational Foundation granted Laging an advanced fellowship for a year's study abroad of Flemish art. The fellowship was declined, however, in favor of the department chairmanship.

Summer School Post

Second of the new posts created is that of assistant dean of Summer school, which Dr. Frank E. Sorenson will assume with the rank of associate professor. Dr. Sorenson has been associate professor of secondary education and school administration.

Eugene N. Anderson, former assistant chief of the State department's Division of Cultural Co-operation, has joined the faculty as professor of European history. Since 1936 Anderson has held a similar position at American University, Washington, D.C. Prior to his joining the Washington faculty, he taught at the University of Chicago, where he received his Ph. D.

With the addition of Leonard L. Jermain, associate professor of radio journalism, and Ernest B. Beisner, instructor in agriculture-Swindler announces that the school of journalism now offer instruction in all major fields of journalistic work.

Oregon Journalist

Jermain developed the courses in radio journalism while a faculty member of Oregon School of Journalism. A free-lance feature writer since his release from Pacific military service, he was for three years, a staff writer

"Unionizer" Dance Begins At 9 Tonight

The first in a new series of "unionizers" will be held Friday evening at 9:00 p. m. in the ballroom of the Student Union, Dwane Lake, Student Union director has announced.

Entertainment for the evening will include dancing to the music of the Smith-Warren orchestra and a series of movie shorts to be shown in union parlors XYZ. This is part of a plan for weekly parties to foster hospitality and student mixers.

Juke Box Saturday.

A juke box dance will cover the union entertainment for Saturday night. The regular Coffee Hour on Sunday at 5:00 p. m. will be held as usual, followed by a movie, "Molly and Me," in the ballroom at 7:30 p. m.

The Freshman Reception has been postponed until the beginning of the second semester, but an open house for freshmen has been tentatively scheduled for the early part of October.

Temporary Classroom Sites Named

The office of admissions revealed Thursday the names and locations of the nine new temporary classroom buildings that were erected this summer in various places on the city campus. Many students have been confused by the names of the buildings on their IBM cards and this should clear the air.

The office was unable to say which classes would be held in each of the buildings.

The locations and designations follow:

- "A" on Mall, 2nd bldg. north of Social Sciences.
- "B" on Mall, 2nd bldg. north of Teacher's College.
- "C" north of Navy Hall and south of Brace lab.
- "D" on Mall, 1st bldg. north of Teachers' College.
- "G" east of Bancroft Hall, on NW corner of 15th and U.
- "H" east of Bancroft Hall, on SW corner of 15th and Vine.
- "J" east side of 15th, south of Vine east of Bancroft Hall.
- "K" east side of 15th, north of U, east of Bancroft Hall.
- "L" on Mall, 1st bldg. north of Social Sciences.

There was no explanation as to why letters E, F, and I were omitted and as to what classes would be held in the various buildings.
