Building 'B' Rooms Ready For Occupancy Sept. 27

The university's first men's dorm will be ready for occupancy Saturday, September 27, E. B. Brown, director of the university student housing bureau announced today.

Men with rooms reserved in building "B" may start to move in at 8 a. m. Saturday. Brown emphasized that all rent must be paid before a man can occupy his room.

Residence hall for men, building "B" is the first of the three dorm buildings now under construction to be completed. It is designed to hold 68 men in two man rooms. Those are combination study and sleeping rooms.

All space in this dorm was assigned last spring by a lottery among applicants for the space. Men slated for all three dorm buildings have been living temporarily in the Field House, at Huskerville or in private homes.

Basement Unfinished

Although the building will be ready for occupancy Saturday, Brown noted the game rooms and lounges in the basement will not be finished until later. Every effort will be made to complete the facilities within the next few weeks. Landscaping and beautification cannot be undertaken until the two buildings still under construction are completed.

Corner rooms in building "B" rent for $75 a semester per man. Inside rooms are $65. When completed, building "C" will have the same number and type accommodations as the one now opening.

The largest of the three, "A," when finished will house 136 men in four-man study rooms with dorm sleeping facilities similar to those in fraternity houses on the campus. These will rent for $50 a semester.

Vacancies in "A"

At the present time there are 80 vacancies in building "A" which cannot be completed before winter. These were caused by many of last spring's lottery winners finding other permanent residences this fall.

Applicants for the rooms will be taken again as soon as an opening date for building "A" can be estimated accurately. A number of spaces will be set aside for each class as in the spring and wherever necessary lotteries held to determine which applicants are granted rooms.

Butman to be Counsellor.

Henry Butman, graduate assistant in geology, will be the resident counsellor at the first dorm. Counsellors for the other two buildings will be appointed by T. J. Thompson, dean of men, as the buildings are completed and filled.

Each building will have a manager to handle the administration of dorm business. This will leave the resident counsellors free from detail so their time can be devoted to aiding the students with personal problems and helping the dorm residents organize recreational and social functions.

The proposed mens dormitory system calls for ten residence halls combined with central dining facilities. When fully completed this would care for nearly 1,000 students.

Applications for 'Daily' Reporters Still Accepted

Students interested in working as reporters on the Daily Nebraskan can still apply any afternoon this week at the Daily office, in the Union basement. Duke Novotny, editor, announced that all reporters will meet Monday at 3:00 p. m. in the office.

Regular reporters will be paid monthly on an inch-rate basis.

time during the week of Sept 29-Oct. 4, Dr. William F. Swindler, director of the school of journalism, reported Wednesday.

The meeting has been temporarily postponed pending the appointment of a new Publications Board by Chancellor Gustavson, but all filings for the post closed Wednesday evening.

ONE READY—Building "B" in the center of the university men's dorm system opens Saturday. Building "A," the large structure on the left in the architect's drawing, will not be completed before winter. Building "C," a duplicate of "B," is to be ready in the fall.

Ackerman Asks For Council Seat

Election of a new secretary was postponed one week by the student council at its first meeting of the year held in Room 316 of the Union, pending a further ruling by the AWS board in the case of Jo Ackerman, overpointed holdover member.

Special dispensation was requested of the board by Miss Ackerman, whose resignation from the council has been tentatively accepted.

The constitution requires four men and four women holdover members and there are no senior women eligible to replace Miss Ackerman, council president Harold Mozer explained.

Appointment.

Mozer appointed the necessary committees to complete the working organization of the council. Committee heads for the year are: Frank Loeffel, agricultural college junior, rally committee; Dale Ball, business administration junior, campus improvements; Arlis Swanson Patterson, senior holdover, budget; Bob Wenke, law junior, constitutions; Bill Palmer, senior at large, publicity; Betty Aasen, fine arts junior, handbook publication; Joan Fankhouser, senior at large, senior week; and co-operation. Elective committee heads picked last year from holdover members are Ned Raun, Judiciary, and Stanley Ahrends, elections.

Arrangements made during the summer for the student migration to the Missouri football game were outlined by Frank Loeffel, chairman of the rally committee.

Fall Election.

Fall election day for the junior and senior class presidents, was set for Nov. 18, the ninth Tuesday of the semester, as required by the amended by-laws.

Plans were laid for a complete investigation of the matter of Senior Week in time for the faculty to act before graduation in June.

"O" Street Dance Rally Set Oct. 3

Something new in football rally spirit will precede the Nebraska-Minnesota game to be played in Memorial Stadium Oct. 4.

A street dance sponsored by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Friday, October 3, at 8:30 p. m. in downtown Lincoln, it was announced Wednesday by Glenn Youssi, Jaycee chairman of the Fall Football Festival committee.

The dance will be held in two uptown blocks on 12th street between O and M streets. This is a change from the original plan which was to have the dance on O street.

Music will be furnished by the Gay Fiester who will play from bandstands especially constructed for the event.

The street will be closed after 5:30 p. m. in order to prepare the area for dancing. Plans are being made for the Junior Chamber of Commerce to assist the police department in handling the anticipated crowd.

Ducats On Sale For Ag Dance

Tickets are now on sale for the Farmer's Formal to be held on Ag campus in the College Activities building on Oct. 3.

Tickets are priced at $2 per couple and may be purchased at the Ag and city Unions, in the information room at Ag Hall, or from any Ag Executive Board member. Charles Brim and Ned Raun, publicity directors for the affair, are urging students to buy their tickets early to facilitate plans for the dance.

Morton Wells and his orchestra have been booked for the formal.

Yell King Issues Call For Student Support

In preparation for the Indiana game, Yell King Martin Pesek today issued six suggestions to students seated in the card section to assure better co-ordination in the traditional half-time card stunts.

(1) Cards should be in proper order and ready to flash as soon as the first half ends, since the flashes are prepared to coincide with the band formations.

(2) No one should leave their seats in the card section after ten minutes of the second quarter have been played.

Empty Seats

(3) If there are empty seats, all persons should move toward the center of the card section so that only the edges have to be filled. This will make it easier to fill vacant seats.

(4) Cards should be held with the long side horizontal and the short side vertical.

(5) Signal for raising the cards will be the chant: "One, two, three, UP!" The same signal will be used for lowering: "One, two, three, down!"

Don't Tear

(6) Since paper cannot be obtained as in pre-war years, students are asked not to destroy their cards. Later in the game, they will be passed to the aisles. Corn Cobs will collect them so that they may be re-used a later home games.

There will be a change in the order of card stunts. This should be kept in mind by all the students planning to sit in the card section. No. 1, a football with a red "N" will be No. 3. No. 2, the words "Hi Hoosier," will be No. 4. No. 3, the words "Bo plus Bernie," will be No. 1. No. 4, the word "Hoosiers," will be No. 5. No. 5, a red "N" will be No. 2.

The cheerleader will remind the section before each stunt which number is next. Close attention by these students will be necessary because there will be very little time between stunts.

All-University Church Night Set for Friday 8:00 p. m.

All-University Church Night, sponsored by the Religious Welfare Council, has been set for Friday, Sept. 26, and all other campus functions are suspended for that night.

The annual church night is set aside so that university students may become acquainted with student pastors and other students who will form their denominational groups.

The various student centers will be meeting places for the different groups, and scheduled programs will be held there or in one of the city churches.

Presby House, Meeting Spot.

Presbyterian students will meet at the "Presby House" at 333 North 14th street, and from there will go to the First Presbyterian Church at 17th and "F" streets for "skits, refreshments, games and an introduction to the various ministers and presidents of student groups.

The Temple at 20th and South streets will be the meeting place for all Jewish students, who will have a special service there at 8:00 p. m. Five men and women representing SDT, ZBT, SAM and independents will read the service. Rabbi Samuel H. Baron of the Temple will discuss "Are The Jews A Nation, Race, or Church?" The service will be followed by a reception and social hour sponsored by the sisterhood of the Temple.

Catholic, Methodist Meetings. Catholics will meet in Student Union parlors XYZ at 8:00.

All Methodist students are invited to attend a Circus Carnival at St. Paul Methodist Church, 12th and M streets, at 8:00 p. m.

Any student may attend one of these group meetings whether he has a regular religious affiliation or not.
