With Your Help . . .

Further explanation of the editors note which accompanied the society column in print in Wednesday's issue is needed, considering the amount of comment that has been circulating in campus circles.

Students have long expressed their indignation over the society column that has from semester to semester appeared in the Rag. When the column was discontinued last year the wave of indignation immediately made a one hundred and eighty degree turn which boils down to the fact that you don't want it and at the same time you don't want to do without it.

In accordance with the above mentioned announcement, the column will be discontinued unless we feel this time that the majority of the students want it, or a similar column. If there is a worthy substitute such replacement will be made if a competent author who has the time and desire to cover the campus thoroughly, which we realize hasn't been done in the past or present. The decision is yours.

We want the student suggestions as to improvements which are within our power to change and those which some day may be changed. Your support can help us and in return we promise you the best possible publication and our unceasing effort to improve the material at hand.

Letterip

Editor Daily Nebraskan

We the undersigned, officers in the youth groups of our two major parties, and law students in this university, vigorously assert the need for the training of young people in the art of self-government. Politics is something tangible and vital; it exists outside of the political science classroom. "Practical" politics, as it has often been called, is the motivating force behind and within the framework of our cherished democratic form of government. The discouragement of it on the campus (and it has been discouraged) is simply the failure of ivory-towered professors and rah-rah minded students to come to grips with reality.

Last year the "Daily Nebraskan" had an editor who thought politics was something peculiar only to Greek letter factions. A political duel in the letters to the editor column by two of the undersigned was promptly squelched. Recently a member of the university Young Democrats was told that the paper could not print an anti-Wherry ad because the Nebraskan was an official organ of the state of Nebraska and therefore could not deprecate a state officer. As far as we have been able to determine, the student paper is just that—a student paper, not the official organ of anyone. We believe the denial to print this ad is an infringement upon our rights as projected by the first amendment of the federal constitution.

The price you pay for a hamburger is determined as much by politics as it is by economics. This is especially true today when government, through "practical politics, regulates our economic structure. Honest discussion, debate and a little good old fashioned mud slinging between the youth groups of our two major parties bring many important issues into the light. A probable two thirds of the students on our campus are of voting age. It is ludicrous to deny them political expression. Who pinned who, and what faction is trying to control the peanut politics on our campus is of trivial and esoteric interest. The philosophy of a class president whose sole duty is to plant a shaft of ivy is not conceivably as important as the philosophy of the man we send to Washington Nov. 12, 1948.

Last year the Young Democrats, at no mean expense, had some posters made which lampooned certain Republican congressmen. Yet certain university authorities prohibited their exhibition and even inferred to one of the undersigned that campus politics was of greater moment.

Soon the Young Republicans will have a going organization on this campus, and in an effort at getting down to issues, will want to exhibit posters of their own and place ads and letters in the "Daily Nebraskan." Will they also be denied this privilege? The answer will come from the student body and the university officials.

Don Morrow, Chairman, Lancaster Co.

and University Young Democrats

Roland Luedtke, Treasurer, Lancaster Co. Young Republicans

David Eells, Program Director, Lancaster Co. Young Republicans

Ed. note: While the Daily Nebraskan welcomes comment from the readers on matters of policy connected with political reporting and advertising, we feel that there are two statements in Messrs. Morrow, Luedtke and Eells' letter requiring clarification. 1) By definition and by act, The Daily Nebraskan is most emphatically the official organ of the University of Nebraska. 2) According to our policy, there is no agreement that requires or forces the Daily Nebraskan's Business Manager to accept advertising from a particular individual, organization or pressure group.

Kosmet Klub will meet at 5 p.m. in West Stadium to have Cornhusker picture taken. Members are requested to wear tux coats.

'Mademoiselle' Offers Coeds Editorial Work

The opportunity of going to New York to help publish a top fashion magazine and participate in discussions of current social problems should be of interest to any coed with ideas and an eye to the future.

Such an opportunity is being offered by Mademoiselle to college women who have an interest in fashions, merchandising, psychology, sociology and even child care. Candidates will be selected on the basis of letters submitted reporting on a new phase of local campus life—recent fads, courses, activities, organizations, and fashion trends. Candidate should send a snapshot of herself and complete personal data regarding her interests, major field of study, and any other pertinent information along with the letter which is to be mailed to the College Board Editor of Mademoiselle, New York City.

Candidates are advised to make no plans for the month of June in case they are selected to help Mademoiselle put out its August issue. Also they are urged to begin their reports immediately because the deadline has been set for November 1.

All track candidates must report for physical examinations in the Coliseum by Thursday at 4:00 p. m., Coach Ed Weir has announced.

ON BROADWAY

Where did Oscar Hammerstein, II, get the inspiration for writing 1000 published songs, including the hits for a dozen movies and lyrics for such shows as Oklahoma!, Carousel and Carmen Jones? His formula for success on Broadway: stay out of nightclubs and gossip columns... never raise your voice... don't keep any race horses, yachts, mistresses, pet lions or snakes... lead a "disgustingly normal" life!
