Huskers Will Leave Tonite

BY CUB CLEM

With a cheering crowd of spirited backers at the station to see them off, the Huskers will leave Lincoln on their trip to their lair of the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame tonight at 7:30 p. m.

The rally preceding the train's departure will begin with the carrying of the victory bell through fraternity and sorority row at 6:30, for the purpose of getting out loyal Huskers to cheer the team before they leave.

The bell will lead the mob to the steps of the Union where the parade to the C.B.&Q. depot will begin. At the station, Yell King Martin Pesek has announced, Tom Novak, game captain against the Irish, and an unidentified celebrity will speak to the assembled throng. Pesek emphasized that the train will pull out promptly at 7:30 p. m., so if you want to see the festivities, don't be late!

Never before has student support of the team been so important, and tonight's rally will indicate just how loyal the U. N. student body can be to the Husker team. The spirit that enables a team to win must come from the outside as well as from within. There's little reason for the team to give its all when only indifference on the part of the students is given in return.

History of Series

A brief recap of past Nebraska-Notre Dame games would not be out of place here.

In 1915, two years after the passing combination of Knute Rockne to Gus Dorais electrified the nation's fans by upsetting Army, the series started with a close 20-19 victory for the Huskers. Following the inaugural, Notre Dame whipped Nebraska 20-6, but the Missouri Valley boys came back in 1917 to nose the Irish 7-0. In 1918 the two teams fought to a scoreless tie.

In 1919 and 1920, when George Gipp was performing for Rockne, Notre Dame took two straight by scores of 14-9 and 16-7. They repeated for their third in a row by taking the Husker's measure 7-0 in 1921.

Then, during the two formative years of Notre Dame's fabulous Four Horsemen, Nebraska downed the Green horde by almost identical scores of 14-6 and 14-7. But nobody could take the Irish in 1924, and Nebraska was no exception. They went down to a smashing 6-34 defeat.

In 1925, for the finale, the Huskers took revenge, and, led by All-American Ed Weir, soundly whipped Notre Dame, 17-0. Since then, no games between the two schools have been played.

Vienna-Born Musician Will Conduct Here

For a 34 year old, Lincoln Symphony Conductor Robert Fellner has done all right for himself! Trained under the great Austrian conductor Felix Weingartner in his native Vienna, Fellner has been engaged to conduct the Lincoln Symphony whose series opens Oct. 21.

Fellner received his conducting diploma from the National Academy of Music in 1936, and just one year later conducted the famous Vienna Konzert Orchestra and the Arbeiter Saengerbund, choral group. Coming to the United States in 1939, he had barely become acquainted with his new country when he was inducted into the army in March of 1941.

Serving with the Second Armored division from the European invasion until V-E day, he became an American citizen in 1943 while in the army. He was honorably discharged in December of 1945, and immediately resumed his musical studies in musicology.

He received his master of music degree from the Chicago Musical College. Continuing his studies with Dr. Hans Rosenfield, dean of the college, he had many opportunities in Chicago to prove his abilities as a musician and conductor. Guest directing a good deal, he was assistant conductor for the Chicago Parw district opera guild.

Fellner succeeds another Chicago musician in the Lincoln symphony post. Leo Kopp, of Grant Park and Civic Opera podiums, held the position last year. The orchestra reaches its majority this year, the 1947-48 season marking its 21st birthday.

Student season tickets are still available at the school of music office, only sales location for the university's allotment of student tickets. Student price of the season book is $5, whereas regular price is $9. The concert series, staged at the Stuart Theater, will be presented for season ticket holders only. No admissions for individual concerts will be sold.

Guest artists for the season include baritone Robert Merrill, Oct. 21; Metropolitan soprano Bidu Sayao, Nov. 25; pianist Rudolf Firkusny, Feb. 3; violinist Joseph Fuchs, Feb. 17; and audition winners, Mar. 23. The orchestra will appear alone Dec. 16.

their contributions, will be given small red feathers to wear. AUF campus solicitors will be identified by red badges which they will wear on their person.

"For assurance of a successful drive, we must have a sufficient number of student solicitors," Beth Noerenberg, AUF director, said. "More students who would like to work as solicitors or as team captains to be in charge of soliciting teams are what we need." Students interested in working on the AUF drive should contact Miss Noerenberg at 6-3731 or Bob Easter, head solicitor, at 2-7757. A meeting for team captains and students wishing to be team captains is being held tonight at 7:30 in the Union.

Reactivation Of Phalanx Announced

The oldest military fraternity in the United States is being reactivated on campus. Epsilon Morae chapter of Phalanx, national honorary and professional military fraternity, will hold an organizational meeting in parlor "B" of the Student Union on Thursday, October 16, at 7:30.

All interested candidate officers, either in R.O.T.C. or N.R.O.T.C. are urged to attend this meeting to get acquainted with the fraternity and to learn of future plans. Edward Zorinsky, Lieut. Comm. of Delta Morae chapter of Creighton University and now a student at the university is heading the reactivation and will preside over Thursday's meeting. Capt. J. A. Wolf, military instructor, is faculty advisor.

Advantages.

Offering many advantages to each member, including social affairs, a national magazine, and periodic conventions, the organization has its headquarters at Champaign, Illinois, at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Zorinsky announced that Epsilon Morae chapter will have its own rifle team which will compete in inter-chapter tournaments, and members of the team will be affiliated with the National Rifle Association. During the course of the year, many other activities are tentatively planned.

Purposes.

The exact purposes on Phalanx are to promote the interests of military training and to foster the spirit of fellowship among military men.

In order to select the most qualified men, the fraternity has a system of pledgeship. Following this pledgeship, the duration of which is determined by the chapter commander, those pledges making the grade become members of the active chapter.

The cadets selected for membership wear a black and gold fourregarre and a ribbon with a small gold eagle.

Chi Omegas Pledge 100% To AUF $13,200 Drive

Getting the jump on other campus organized houses, members of Chi Omega sorority are the first to make a pledge to support the All University Fund fall drive 100 percent, it was learned last night.

The number of dollars turned in will be double the number of members, thus giving the Chi Omegas credit for a two dollar per person support of the drive to raise $13,200 for the World Student Service Fund (WSSF) and the Community Chest.

Campus Solicitors

The fall drive will begin on Monday, Nov. 3, and will end on Nov. 8, the day of the Homecoming game.

Students living in organized houses will be solicited by their own house representatives to AUF. Since approximately two-thirds of the university students do not live in organized houses, AUF workers will be on campus during the day to solicit money from students between classes. An AUF booth will be open in the Union during the week of the drive.
