who has a tremendous job, but also a little common courtesy.

As usual, the higher officials of this highly esteemed "institution" refused to dismiss classes. Probably the only time classes will be dismissed is when the roofs come in on Soch and Pharmacy hall. Evidently the faculty's pep talk on loyalty last week didn't sink in. At least they could support Mr. Gustavson even though they won't back the student rallies. The least they could have done was to dismiss class.

All over the country, classes are dismissed for important convocations. Certainly this convocation about the A. U. F. was an important one. At a recent convention at one of the bigger schools, the University of Minnesota, classes were dismissed to hear a drama critic from New York speak. Attendance was required, and certainly the speaker was encouraged to look out into the sea of faces, instead of looking into 400 empty seats.

It's about time Nebraska took a few steps toward the so-called "higher education." What if some of the faculty members have to dismiss classes for an hour about once in a month? Probably the convocation would be more enlightening than the class skipped.

It's up to everyone on this campus, not just faculty, but everyone, to back not only our football team, but our institution itself. The next time a convocation is held, why not show up. You might learn something. The Crib could certainly cooperate by closing for an hour, so everyone won't be tempted to have a coke when they could have gone to the convo.

A Student.

Editor of the Daily Nebraskan:

As I sit in the Student Union Corn Crib drinking my daily cup of tea at 4:00, there appears to be a false note in that newly decorated "red room."

The juke-box blares everything from a Strauss Waltz to Spike Jones' corn. It would appear to me that a student cooperative eating place should have its music controlled by the governing board of the institution rather than by the nickel-filled pockets of plushy Cornhuskers.

Why not have a student board of music to select appropriate records for the Corn Crib and get rid of objectionable stuff that is more noise than Spike's music for high school gids?

Also, let's get rid of the nickel idea. Why pay for Corn Crib air-wive vibrations when they're free at the floor above in dspecific rooms at certain times, or in the ballroom at dances?

In other words, let's control the air waves in the crib and reorganize it into a restful place without commercial recordings that often insult the most liberal musician as well as abstract progressiver in the art. If a union is to be a socialized set up, let's get out unnecessary commercialism and disorganized noise.

Yours faithfully,
J. E. M'WHORTEN.
