

Production Tryouts Scheduled

Tryouts for an Experimental Theatre production "Return to Surigao," will be held today in Room 201 Temple, from 2 to 3:30 p. m.

A full-length drama, the play is written by Clarence Flick, speech department instructor. The plot is built around an idea he got while stationed in the Philippine islands during the war, from April to November of 1945.

Philippines

Set in a fishing village in the southern most island of the Philippine group, the plot tells the story of an American citizen residing in the islands who receives an army commission after his participation in guerilla warfare against the Japanese. During his stay in the islands he shares his household with a Philippino girl.

After an extended period in the United States, he returns to the islands with his American bride to learn that his Philippine companion has born him a son. The remainder of the play deals with his struggle to decide which of the women he loves most. His decision forms a surprise ending that Flick did not disclose.

Flick began work on the play three years ago, finishing it only

File for Ag Union Activities

The Activities Committee of the Ag Union Board has issued a call for students to serve as chairmen and workers on the newly organized worker system.

Interested students are asked to register for their respective groups Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Registration will be conducted from a booth in the Ag Union and the chairmen and committee workers will be chosen by the Activities committee from the registrants. In the spring the new board members will be chosen by the workers on the basis of ability, leadership, and total amount of work.

Applicants must be willing to put in at least three hours of work per week on their chosen committee. Present board members and their committees are: Harriet Moline, convocations and competitive games; Virgene Kovarik, music activities and dances; Neil Miller, hobby interest and general entertainment; and Lucille Manning, house rules, library, hospitality and publicity.

recently. The production in the Experimental Theater will entail complete sets. Any university student may enter the try-outs.

YWCA Group To Meet Friday

THE YMCA Co-wed Club for university student married couples will meet at the YM Lounge in the Temple Friday at 7:30 for a hay-rack ride and weiner roast.

Organized last year by YM Executive Director Gordon Lippitt, the group sponsored picnics every other week during the summer and has plans for a variety of parties this year. They will include among others a Christmas party, a box social in March and roller skating in April. There are now 61 members on the Co-wed Club role.

Any couple, of which either husband or wife is a UN student, is eligible for membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Munson and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Barker are in charge of Friday's party.
