

THE KU JAYHAWK is placed temporarily in front of the Union at the early evening rally Wednesday. The cheer leaders, Corn Cobs and Tassels have begun assembling a mass of students to spark the first of a series of rallies, culminating in the BHRH Friday night on the athletic field west of the Coliseum. The effigy can't last long, as you'll see.

BHRH Tonight Sets Off UN Homecoming Festivities

Homecoming festivities will get off to a fast start at the annual Homecoming rally tonight at 7 p. m. in front of the Union.

Ringling of the victory bell will summon ralliers at 7 p. m. and students, led by Cobs, Tassels and the Pep Band, will march east on R St., down 16th to Vine and from there to the football practice field west of the Coliseum.

Presentation of the five Pep Queen candidates will be made at the practice field. After the BHRH voting booths, manned by Mortar Boards and Innocents, will be open for an hour and a half, both in the Coliseum and the Union, while a general student election picks the 1947 Pep Queen.

Game Capt. Tom Novak will speak to assembled ralliers and the entire football team will attend the rally before traveling to Ashland for the night.

Hamilton's Work.

The Homecoming rally is sponsored completely by the Corn Cobs, under the direction of Special Rally Chairman Bob Hamilton.

Feature of Saturday morning will be the Homecoming parade. The full university band will lead the parade, followed by Phi Harris, '46 Pep Queen, then the Tassels and Corn Cobs, then a convertible carrying the Pep Queen candidates, next the Victory Bell, and then the floats themselves. Floats will assemble on the north walk by Burnett Hall at 10:20, and will march in the order they arrive.

Parade route is: Burnett Hall to R St., east to 15th, south to O St., west to 11th, north to R St., disbanding at 14th.

"Welcome Alums."

Special permission to hang a banner across O St. was granted by the city council Wednesday night. Bearing the words, "Welcome Alums," the banner will hang from north to south at 13th and O. Made by Corn Cobs and Tassels, the banner will be set up Friday noon.

Half-time festivities at the K. U.-Husker game will be presentation of the '47 Pep Queen by Dean of Faculties Carl W. Borgmann. Innocents, Mortar Boards, Corn Cobs, Tassels and the university band will be on the playing field at the presentation ceremonies.

An interesting tradition will be revived at Saturday's game. Hundreds of red-and-white hydrogen filled balloons will be released by Husker spectators when Nebraska scores its first touchdown. Balloons will be sold by Tassels Saturday morning and before the game.

Ticket Sales.

Ticket sales for the Homecoming dance will end Friday, according to Tassels President Harriet Quinn. Ticket booths will be open all day today in Sosh and the Union. The $3 per couple price will include dancing to George Olsen's band and special ceremonies for the new Pep Queen.

ROTC Ball Test Opens On Sunday

Do you want to be the lucky couple that will go to the Military Ball clad in a new tuxedo from Magees and a beautiful new evening gown fashioned by Hovland-Swanson?

It's easy!! The military department of the university is sponsoring a "guess the band contest," the winning couple to attend the Military Ball, Dec. 5, in a new getup offered by the two Lincoln stores. The object is to guess the name of the famous band that will play for the ball, and to guess the winning slogan. Clues as to the identity of both will be furnished in the Daily Nebraskan, Lincoln papers, and over the radio the week beginning Monday, Nov. 10.

Clues in Ads.

These clues will be offered in advertisements by Magees and Hovland-Swanson over the radio and in the papers. Each day there will be a five-word key phrase, and the object is to pick the key word in each of the five phrases, and to put them together into the correct slogan advertising the Military Ball.

In the case of duplicate entries, the entry postmarked earliest will be declared the winner. Entries should be addressed to the military department, "Guess the Band Contest," University of Nebraska.

Judges.

Judges for the contest will be Col. Howard John, PMS&T, head of the university ROTC department; Capt. John B. Sullivan, faculty director of the Military Ball; Cadet Capt. Thomas M. Brownlee, chairman of the publicity committee, and Cadet Capt. Albert J. McGill of the publicity committee.

Rules.

- Rules of the contest:
1. Everyone is eligible to compete except members and families of the Cadet Officers association, and the staff of the military department.
 2. Entries must be postmarked on or before midnight Sunday, Nov. 16, 1947. Earliest correct entry will win.
 3. Only one entry may be submitted by each couple.
 4. The decision of the judges will be final.

NOTICE TO VETERANS.

Representatives from the Nebraska Regional Office of the Veterans Administration will be on duty in the front (north) lobby of Loye Memorial Library on Wednesday, November 12, from 8:30 to 4:30, for the purpose of assisting any veteran who has not received his subsistence check by that date. Veterans reporting to the Library should have their C numbers in hand.

An official of the Veterans Administration has stated that subsistence checks should not be considered overdue until after the 5th of each month, because it requires several days to mail checks to the thousands of veterans on the subsistence rolls of several midwest states. This same official has also said, "The Veterans Administration is doing everything possible to guarantee that veterans in college get their subsistence checks."

Convo Moved Into Coliseum

Schuschnigg Expected

To Draw Record Attendance

Today's convocation featuring Dr. Kurt von Schuschnigg has been moved to the Coliseum, according to word from Karl Arndt, head of the university convocation committee. Schuschnigg's speech will begin at 11 a. m. and is expected to draw a capacity throng, the reason why it was switched from the Union ballroom.

Debate over the appropriateness of the choice of Schuschnigg as convocation speaker has been so lively that a special open forum at which the Austrian will answer questions fired at him by the audience has been arranged for 2 p. m. this afternoon in the Union ballroom.

National Controversy.

Interest in the Schuschnigg appearance has spread beyond the campus and engaged the attention of Nebraska newswriters and editorialists, and has been distributed by national wire news services.

Openly branded a fascist and an enemy of democracy by a group of distinguished faculty members, the ex-head of the Austrian state will be on the spot when he undertakes to defend his record at the question hour this afternoon. It is anticipated that no quarter will be given or asked when the meeting is thrown open to questions from the floor.

History Profs Assail Schuschnigg.

Controversy centering about Schuschnigg was touched off Wednesday by a letter to The Daily Nebraskan in which eight members of the department of history assailed his political record and expressed doubt that he could "speak with authority to a democratic audience, some of whom fought to destroy all that he has stood for."

The historians declared that the issue "is not one of free speech, but simply, since the number of convocation speakers is limited, of who is to be asked to speak to us."

"We believe," declared the historians, "that if nothing else, the lives of those men and women who were sacrificed in the last war has put an end to the debate between fascism and democracy."

Convo Committee Answers.

In defense of its invitation of Schuschnigg to speak, the convocations committee replied in a letter to The Daily Nebraskan Thursday that "it is and always has been the policy of the convocations committee to give the widest range to the freedom of speech."

Karl M. Arndt, chairman of the committee, asserted that "the invitation to Schuschnigg is entirely in keeping with the university's policy on convocations." Committee member G. W. Rosenlof, registrar, said that the committee "takes no stand on what the speaker says."

"Schuschnigg will not speak on communism, fascism or nazism as such," Rosenlof said. "In the interests of free speech he should be heard."

Dogpatch Declares Sadie Hawkins Hop November 15

Coeds have one more week to snag their dates for the Sadie Hawkins hop being sponsored by the Union Activities committee for the first time. This year the event will become an annual affair as it is on many other campuses thruout the country.

A costume dance, the event will feature awarding of prizes for the best Dogpatch character representation. The Union ballroom will be turned into a barn Saturday evening, Nov. 15 and Dave Haun will furnish music for dancing.

Couples may come dressed as any Dogpatch characters. Hillbilly atmosphere will be created by appropriate decorations and style of the band, according to Ed Trumble, dance committee chairman.

THE CROWD GROWS and the noise swells in this picture taken by an alert Daily Nebraskan photographer a few minutes after the first was taken. Here cheers and spirit in general approach the climax, revealed in next photo.

THE EFFIGY IS ABDUCTED by an eager group of Sig Chi's who proceed to hang it in front of their house. Other loyal Husker fans join in a general scuffle to win back the representation of the ill-fated trophy. The Jayhawk has not yet reached the end of its long, tortuous path, as can be seen in the next shot.

ATO GERALD JACUPKE, first string guard, says a few mourning words over the mortal remains of the unfortunate Jayhawker. The impromptu part of the rally culminated in this grisly death for the highly-touted bird from down south. May he rest in comparative peace.
