

Game . . .

The Sooner score came with five minutes remaining in the first half.

The kickoff to begin the second half gave the visitors another break as they grabbed a free ball on the Husker 28. Five plays later after Brewer, Thomas and Kreick had moved the ball down to the Nebraska two, Thomas scored on a line buck over center for the second Sooner touchdown. Wallace again kicked the point, giving the Oklahomans a 14-6 advantage.

However, the spirited Cornhuskers were not to be denied and after Cletus Fischer's return of the kickoff to the Nebraska 44 they marched straight down the field for their second score of the day. This time a pass from Dick Thomson to Alex Cochrane accounted for the score. The play covered 27 yards and was a good execution of the perfect pass play. Cochrane was a good five yards behind the sleeping Sooner defense and the pass was so placed that he didn't change his stride while making the catch. Patton's second attempt of the day brought the score up to 13 for the Huskers and 14 for the Sooners. The two scores in the second half came within the first five minutes of the third quarter with both teams playing a tight defensive game to the end.

For the Sooners, overlooking the one kick that was blocked in the first quarter, the punting of Darrel Royal stood out along with the steady defensive play of Center John Rapacz. Rapacz was credited with two interceptions of Husker passes during the game but was kept pretty well covered otherwise. Tom Novak's play throughout the game was sparkling as he crashed through the Sooner defense time and again to once again exhibit his jarring style of tackling. Tom came through with his usual tackle after the kickoff that has through the season brought Nebraska fans to their feet in amazement. Novak lived up to his reputation as being the hardest tackler of the day as he cut down the speedy Sooner backs from his line backing position with his hay-maker tackles besides making one pass interception and recovering a loose ball in mid-field during second quarter action.

A Nebraska pass was intercepted by Oklahoma on this play during the second-quarter action of Saturday's game. There was a penalty, however, and a no-play ruling by the officials.

Kansas, O.U. Share Big Six Crown

The University of Kansas and the University of Oklahoma earned the title of Big Six Co-champions Saturday as the Jayhawks downed Missouri, 20-14, and the Sooners squeezed past Nebraska 14-13.

Missouri's Tigers were in the lead, 14-13, at the end of the half and held the margin until one minute remained in the ball game. It was then that big Forrest Griffith drove into the line from the two-yard marker for the Jayhawks' winning tally. Missouri's last-minute pass attempts failed to bring the needed touchdown.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers gave Oklahoma's Sooners a scare in Lincoln's Memorial Stadium before succumbing, 14-13. The loss put Nebraska into fourth place behind Missouri. Iowa State follows the Huskers, and Kansas State remains last in the final loop standings.

Do you like Dancing?

Here's a dance nobody likes. Arthur Murray never taught it.

It's called the "All Day Squirm" and is performed by gents who wear undershorts with an unholy center seam that keeps them on the St. Vitus Varsity.

Moral: Switch to Arrow shorts and relax. Arrow shorts have no center seam, but do have plenty of room where it counts.
