

Ag Yuletide Fete Presents Chorus in Messiah Excerpts Eighteenth Annual Musical Tonight

A students will gather in the Student Activities building Wednesday night for the continuance of an old tradition on Ag campus—the annual Exec Board Christmas program.

This will be the eighteenth yearly observance of the yuletide fete which features the Ag College chorus.

Dr. C. Vin White, new pastor at the First Presbyterian church will deliver the Christmas message at tonight's event. Dr. White comes to Lincoln from Dubuque, Iowa, where he was dean of the Presbyterian theological seminary there. His topic for the evening will be "What Makes Jesus Attractive?"

Candlelight Service.

Opening the program will be the impressive candlelighting service, performed this year by Marjorie Reynolds and Lillian Locke. Rev. Alvin Petersen of the Lutheran pastorage will give the invocation.

Myron Roberts will play an organ prelude of Christmas music while the audience is being seated.

Choral Numbers.

Mrs. Altinas Tullis, director of the Ag College Chorus, will direct the chorus in several well-known choruses from Handel's Messiah. She will also lead the audience in singing Christmas carols, as is the custom. Solo duties for the evening will be performed by Mavis Musgrave, Helen Ochsner and Neal Baxter. Miss Miriam Bratt is the accompanist.

The closing number on the program will be the choral presentation of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah. Rev. John Sheaff of Epworth Church will deliver the invocation.

Twenty Coeds To Get Awards At Annual Tea

A traditional Christmas tea, sponsored by the University Coed Counselors, will be held Thursday, Dec. 18 from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall, Publicity Chairman Jackie Wightman announced Tuesday.

All freshmen, new women students and coed counselor big sisters will attend, and other women students are urged to come also.

The annual tea will be climaxed at 4:30 when Mary Dye, president, awards recognition to 20 of the group's 130 members for outstanding achievements and co-operation during the first semester. These girls will be chosen on a basis of points earned under the organization's credit system.

Mrs. R. G. Gustavson, wife of the chancellor, Miss Marjorie Johnston, Dean of Women, and the organization's sponsors, Miss Mary Meilenz and Mrs. Elvera Christiansen will pour at the tea table.

Shirley Sabin, member of the coed counselor board, is in charge of arrangements for the event which climaxes the group's first semester activities.

YM-YW Groups Schedule

Joint Meet, Christmas Party

City Campus YWCA and YMCA will hold a joint meeting and annual Christmas party from 7:15 to 9 p. m. at Ellen Smith hall tonight.

Bill Reuter and Karl Quisenberry are in charge of games and general entertainment. Joyce Johnson is refreshments chairman.

Presidents of the two organizations are Shirley Schnittker and Ted Sorensen.

Huskers Win 65-38

Second Half Surge Chases Coyotes; 21 Nebraskans Play

BY RALPH STEWART
(Daily Nebraska Sports Editor)

Nebraska's high-stepping cagers, unleashing a devastating 42-point second half scoring attack, scuttled a spunky South Dakota university quintet Tuesday night on the Coliseum maples by a one-sided 65-38 count.

Off to a slow start, Coach Harry Good's sharpshooters moved into a 32-17 halftime margin after the Coyotes had narrowed a never-relinquished Nebraska lead to 12-10 and again to 14-12.

Registrations Up to 1,400 Valid Today

More than 1,000 upperclassmen had registered with the assignment committee as second day of registry closed, Dr. Floyd W. Hoover, assistant registrar, reported Tuesday afternoon.

Students holding appointment cards numbered from 1 to 1,199 should meet the assignment committee at once, Mrs. Ralph Bedell, in charge of the assignment committee, declared. The committee will register bearers of cards numbered from 1,200 to 1,400 Wednesday, she said.

"Students and faculty members are co-operating well," Mrs. Bedell commented in survey of the first two days of second-semester registration. Senior and junior students who registered the first two days were processed in less than 15 minutes each.

"This is the smoothest registration I've ever seen in four years at school," remarked one senior to Dr. Hoover as he came out of the assignment committee's room in the Love library.

A correction of the class schedule program was announced by Mrs. Bedell Tuesday. Students registering for Education 62 must allow for a laboratory at 4 p. m. Mondays, meeting in room 303, Teachers college.

Sections that closed during Tuesday's registration are: B. O. 161, Section I; Chem. E. 234, Lab. A; Econ. 211, Section I.

Bizad college continued registration of undergraduates Wednesday, and cancelled all scheduled classes in the college for the day.

Prof. Bullock's Condition Reported "Fair" Tuesday

The condition of T. T. Bullock, professor of economics and business law, was reported as "fair" by attendants at the Lincoln General hospital Tuesday.

Professor Bullock was taken to the hospital following a fall he suffered in the social sciences building Monday morning.

ROD COX TALLIES—Nebraska's forward, Rod Cox, watches the ball as it follows a perfect arch before swishing through the net for two Husker points. Waiting for a possible rebound are Huskers Claude Retherford (13) and Dick Schleiger. South Dakotans Tom Luby (30) and Harry Carleton stand helplessly by. Action came early in the second half as Coach Harry Good's charges surged ahead of the South Dakota Coyotes on their way to a decisive 65-38 win.

Advanced German Classes To Present Christmas Play

In the first performance since the beginning of the war, advanced German classes will present their annual sixteenth-century Christmas play today in the Temple.

The play, directed by Miss M. F. Lau, is a story of the Nativity, based on the mystery plays that were presented by monks and peasants at the Christmas season during the Middle Ages and early Renaissance times.

Besides the play, H. H. Diers will direct German Christmas carols and Prof. W. K. Pfeiler will deliver a scripture reading. The pageant is open to the public free of charge.

Registration Data
Appointment cards 1,200-1,400 may report today.
Appointment cards 1-1,199 due today.

Music Majors to Have Annual Singfest Today

Music majors will gather around a colorful Christmas tree today at the school of music to join in the sixth annual Christmas singfest. These informal sings are sponsored each year by Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Westbrook.

After singing together many of the carols familiar during this season of the year, the students will be entertained with a program directed by Morris Hayes.

Sigma Tau Scholarship Awarded To Paul Murfin

That Paul Murfin, electrical engineering senior, has been named recipient of the Sigma Tau senior scholarship award, presented annually by Alpha chapter of Sigma Tau, was announced Tuesday night at the Sigma Tau initiation banquet held at the Ag campus Foods and Nutrition building. Dean Roy M. Green made the presentation of the award.

Murfin is a member of Sigma Tau, and holds the presidencies of the Engineers' Exec Board and A.I.E.E., student engineering organizations. The scholarship is awarded to a senior in the upper ten per cent of his class on the basis of scholarship, sociability, practicality and need.

Social Engineer.
The principle address at the banquet was given by Dr. James M. Reinhardt of the University department of sociology on the topic "The Social Engineer."

In his talk, Dr. Reinhardt mentioned some of the problems and difficulties associated with the development of a reliable social order, and the relationship of these problems to the engineer.

The speaker pointed out that the engineer is a controller of institutions. In order to control institutions he must be able to deal with man, the basis for all institutions. The very nature of our society, which is more or less unscientific, makes this a difficult task for the engineer. Keys were presented to forty-five new initiates in Sigma Tau by Verne Hedge, charter member of the fraternity. Mr. Hedge's presentation has been a tradition with the local chapter for many years.

The initiates were welcomed into membership by Carl Leonard chapter president. The response was given by pledge president, John Manion. Paul A. Owen, Lincoln engineer, served as toastmaster.

Initiates.

Those initiated were: Fred H. Bailey, jr., Walter A. Bergstrasser, James A. Biba, Weston D. Birdsall, Dick P. Bresse, Richard V. Clements, Eldon E. Clapham, Don B. Crandall, Cecil J. Doubt, George R. Flebbe, George Fox, Robert L. Gessner, Raymond H. Heller, Floyd H. Henson, Paul H. Henson, Inge R. Asaksen, Warren H. Jensen, Edward G. Kaiser, Charles C. Kellogg, Calvin J. Kin, Otto A. Kral, Wilbur L. Kroger, Frank C. Kuska, Wilbur E. Lehnert, Jack S. Manion, Howard W. Mastalir, Donald O. McCarthy, Laciann Ohman, George A. Olive, Burman F. Olson, Orvin H. Olson, Charles L. Patton, John D. Peck, Frederick L. Pelton, Irvin L. Reis, Richard E. Rosenbaum, Wayne B. Swift, Leo H. Soderholm, Donald H. Temme, Charles R. Tomek, Robert W. Watson, Jack D. White, Jack L. Wilkins, Joe L. Wilson.

The Husker starting combine stepped into a five point advantage before the South Dakota club could ring the bucket after five minutes of playing time had elapsed. Coach Rube Hoy's five went through another five-minute scoring drouth while the Huskers hiked their total to an even dozen.

Reserves Take Over.

With ten minutes of the first half gone, Coach Good inserted a fresh Scarlet five. Sparked by Guard Neil Mosser, the new crew boosted the Husker tally to 23-16 at the intermission.

The Nebraska starting five received little more than a good warm-up in the second half. While South Dakota failed to find the scoring range, the Huskers racked up 12 points within six minutes before Good relieved them with his second team combination.

Mosser, Whitehead Shine.

Mosser and Sophomore Bus Whitehead paced the second five for an eight minute session when a third Husker quintet trotted on the floor. Good wound up by clearing his bench of 21 men. Fourteen of them broke into the scoring column.

The Huskers had little trouble in gaining their initial win of the season with the South Dakotans, recent victor over Creighton university. Although displaying shady passing tactics at times, Nebraska showed considerable promise for the future.

High Husker scoring honors were divided among a trio of second line performers. Mosser connected for four fielders for eight points while Forward Paul Sheffels hit three field goals and converted two free tosses. Whitehead potted two tip-in shots and added four charity shots.

Starters Claude Retherford, Rod Cox and Dick Schleiger tallied seven, seven, and six, respectively, for the Huskers.

Luby Paces Coyotes.

Theater Play Rates Repeat Performance

"Return To Surigao." Experimental Theater production directed and written by Clarence Flick, is scheduled for a repeat performance in the Temple studio theater tonight at 7:30 p. m.

The play, written by Flick after his return from service overseas, was presented on the stage for the first time Dec. 3 at an invitational performance for a selected audience. On Dec. 4 the play was presented at a second performance open to the public.

Testing Grounds.

The experimental theater serves as a testing ground for plays which are being produced for the first time. Since its first performance the original script of "Return To Surigao" has been revised, one interlude added in the middle of the second act, and another character added to the cast, according to author Flick.

Homer Hauppman, in the role of the padre, will be the only addition to the cast. The original production staff will be in charge of tonight's performance, and the same scenery and costumes used.

Cast.

David Innis, D. Ann Richardson, Jane MacCuaig, Betty Laird, Abe Katz, and Rex Coslor will be remembered for their appearance in the first presentation of the play. Others in the original cast are Herb Spence, Gordon Winter, Russ Kruger, Stephen Hershman, Jack Asbyll, and James Hartman.

There will be no admission charge for tonight's performance.
