

Ag Exec Board Yule Program Well Received

An appreciative audience of 500 students and faculty enthusiastically received the annual presentation of the Ag Exec Board Christmas program Wednesday evening.

From the effective candlelighting ceremony down to the singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus," general comments on the performance voiced complete approval.

Dr. C. Vin White, new pastor at the first Presbyterian church, delivered the Christmas message at intermission. Dr. White spoke on the subject, "What makes Jesus attractive?"

The Ag College Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Altina Tullis, presented four choruses from Handel's Messiah. Soloists were, Mavis Musgrave, Helen Oschner, and Neal Baxter, and Miriam Bratt was accompanist.

Mrs. Tullis' appearance was a credit to her courage as she has been confined to bed for the past two weeks following an accident on the icy streets. She sustained injuries to both knees and, as a result, was able to stand up for only a short time.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Alvin Petersen, Lutheran Student Pastor, and the benediction was given by the Rev. John Sheaff, Pastor at the Epworth Methodist church.

'Rag' Review Tells of Other Christmases

Christmas is Christmas—and The Daily Nebraskan front page looks pretty much the same year after year with its conventional rosy greetings and best wishes.

But the accompanying news which reflects campus interests and activities reveals just what one might expect: no two years are very much alike.

In 1939, student life was still somewhat on the "rah-rah" level, but the influence of the war raging in Europe was given indication by a cartoon of Santa Claus wearing a gas mask and helmet as he descended a chimney and a front page editorial which quoted the Bible and current news releases alternatively.

1941 and War.

In 1941, the war was no longer a thing "over there." Daily Editor Mary Kerrigan took an optimistic view by saying "... we can be thankful because we are alive and free. We still live in a country where we are free to strive for personal happiness and for the welfare of others." Lead stories gave information that "Students Entering CPT Must Prove Citizenship" and "Phys Ed Heads Ask Men 'Keep Fit for Defense.'"

Peace Conference.

The 1944 Christmas edition stuck pretty close to campus news, leading a "Coed Follies" story. However, Prof. David Feilman wrote a "Peace Conference Previews" to prepare students for that conference which put UN temporarily in the national spotlight. Les Glotfelty expressed the woes of the publications people in her famed "Les Said the Better," declaring that the "Cornhusker filched our paste, our copy paper, our reporters, our typewriters and even a story or two for the year-book."

1945.

The 1945 Christmas editorial summed things up for the semester, to-wit, "It's been a great semester—the men came back to school—the administration approved the new men's dorm (the one bright light in their otherwise misguided efforts)—the War Council disappeared—formals came back with the Mottor Board ball—UN won four football games—Biff Jones got the boot—the Board of Regents appeared briefly and then crawled back into its hole—the Awgwan continued to be obnoxious—the scholarship average was finally on its way up—it snowed—and Christmas vacation finally got within shooting distance."

In 1946, the Daily was once again editorially whooped up the Ag college bus system, with its usual results. A bold, black two-column headline said simply, "Farmer Fair Will Return"—with no thanks to General MacArthur. Changes for the coming semester, as reported by wise-cracking columnists in "All that's fit to print—AND THIS TOO" included, "A life-sized statue of Blue-car Bennie will be erected in front of the women's dorm."

1947—what the Christmas edition reflects, says, declares, condemns, indicates, or contends the reader must see for himself. One sure thing can be expected: The Daily Nebraska staff wishes you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Board of Control Member Tells Duties To Law Group

Mrs. Harold Prince, member of the State Board of Control, guest speaker at a luncheon of Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity, explained the duties and responsibilities of the board, informing the group of some of its future plans for improving the rehabilitation program in the various institutions over the state, as well as its house-keeping and custodial duties.

This program will include action about the crowded conditions in the Middle West mental hospitals and the facilities for the schools for the blind.

Mrs. Prince stated that the board is doing their best to improve conditions with the material they have to work with.

Living Facilities

Living facilities are available at the House of Hospitality for a student veteran with wife and one or more children. Contact City Housing Desk, 114 North 13 street, for information.
